Roosevelt School

By Randy Dawson and Max Guiley
Highlighting the week of activities at Roosevelt school last week was the first Student Body meeting Friday afternoon. The students had the opportunity to meet their new principal, Robert Sage. Mr. Sage introduced the officers of the Student Body who were elected September 25. The officers are: Michael Farthing, president; Martha Anderson, vice president; Susan Ingram, secretary; and Douglas Lowrey, treasurer. Sandra Vowell was elected yell leader and Patricia Clark is the yell princess. The meeting was adjourned by the president, Mike Farthing.

Mrs. Eleanor Hamilton and Mrs. Marian Montgomery, the fifth and sixth grades music teachers, have 159 students in their combined chorus.

The Roosevelt sixth grade drama club has been organized and 30 members enrolled. Officers elected are Carol Hjorton, president; Henry Muller, vice president; Sandra Vowell, secretary; John Schuchard, treasurer. The group is working on two plays to be used for several school programs later in the year.

Student Safety Patrol is under the leadership of Robert Wobbe. There are 18 members with Randy Dawson acting as captain and Larry Krieger as lieutenant.

Mr. Bartlett directs the band. Mrs. Audrey Bartlett teaches orchestra. Mrs. Esther Robinson teaches conversational Spanish and Mrs. Gladys Pock teaches Bible History to students who choose these various activities.

Individual pictures were taken on Thursday, Oct. 8 by Mr. Giunz, photographer.

McLoughlin Junior High

Lindsay Darnelle won the election for president of the McLoughlin Student Body association in a general election Friday, climaxing a week of campaigning. Lindsay is the first girl to win this coveted honor in several years. Her opponent was Frank Van Pelt. Ronald Calkins was elected vice president in the primary election since he was running unopposed. Brian Porter also won the nomination for treasurer in the primary garnering a needed majority of the votes. His opponent was Linda Metsoff.

Margaret Bolen won the election for secretary in a close contest with Martha Bulard in the general election. The election was conducted as a regular election with polling places set up in the library. The history department under the direction of Larry Brunette was in charge.

4 Groups Urged For Flu Vaccine

Washington - (UPI) - Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney has urged four groups of people in particular to get influenza vaccinations before the flu season starts.

Burney said Sunday that the predominant type of flu this fall and winter probably will be the Asian strain rather than "influenza B" which was the major troublemaker last year.

The Public Health Service, he said, didn't anticipate any big flu epidemics but vaccinations should be obtained from family physicians for persons in the following groups:

- Those for whom the onset of influenza might represent an added health risk, such as individuals with cardiovascular or pulmonary conditions, persons over 55 with a chronic illness of any type, and pregnant women.
- Persons responsible for care of the sick.
- Persons who provide essential public services, such as policemen, firemen, and transportation and communications workers.
- Persons working for industries and stores which want to keep a low absenteeism rate.

GULPI
Long Beach, Calif. - (UPI) - Henry A. Burns, 29, can tell you there are times when a hiccup isn't funny at all. Burns is a "sword" swallower. He was performing his act Friday night with two 21-inch neon tubes when he hiccuped, shattering one of the glass tubes. Doctors at Seaside hospital said the amusement park sword swallower suffered a lacerated throat but was improving.

La Jolla, Calif. - (UPI) - Funeral services for Helen A. Stephan, wife of former Colorado Lt. Gov. George Stephan, were held here Saturday.

Junior Quill members, Paula Harper, Douglas Mann, Sue Williams, Jerry Braun, Sarah Mathews, Dianne Pickens, Susie Lind, Andrea Smith, Vicki Ingram, Dixie Taylor, Jack Smeltz, Dawn Sybrant, Sandra Hager, Jack Barr, and Linda Mattson, are working to get the first edition of the school paper out this week.

Elizabeth (Peppy) Clark was elected president of the McLoughlin Booster club last week. Serving with her will be Vivian Little, secretary, and Dixie Taylor, treasurer. Boosters is made up of ninth grade girls who march with the band and form a cheering section at sports events. Miss Ruth Adkins and Glen Allison are the advisors. New uniforms have been purchased and girls wore them at their first public appearance at the Sept. 30 football game.

Elections for seventh grade song queen and yell queens were held last week at a seventh grade assembly. Candidates carried signs with their own names and led the students, in a yell showing their abilities for the position. Nancy Withers was elected Song Queen, with Paula Lowrey, Fredeana Wilkins, and Toni Einhouse. Shireen Prough was named alternate. Larry Brunette is the class adviser.

Instruction on how to make change will be given to girls who plan to work in the candy booth this year. This is considered good and practical use of arithmetic. Only girls with a grade of B or higher in arithmetic will be eligible to work in the booth. The girls will earn points toward activity letters.

McLoughlin's eighth grade Bulldogs trounced over Central Point Thursday evening on the Central Point field by a score of 20 to 7. Dale Bates and Jack Burg are the coaches.

Jackson School

By William Bennett and David Doolen
The correct way to give the pledge of allegiance to the flag was discussed and drilled on at an assembly last week.

Booklets with the yells, student body officers, cheer leaders, players names, and rules governing discipline were completed last week. Our team's name is Jackson Indians. Mrs. Precia Medley helped students prepare the booklet.

The cheer leaders have new attractive costumes of green and yellow. The Pep club is getting under way and has had a few meetings. The cheer leaders are Bonita Denyer, Cheryl Gardner, Joyce Letzow and Mary Alexander.

Mrs. Lucille Stroh and Mrs. Margaret Nesheim are in charge of the Pep club and the cheer leaders.

The first appearance of the Pep club was at the Jefferson Jackson game Friday.

Mrs. Margaret Nesheim says we usually hear about the bad things, but the good things are not repeated. The other day money was forgotten on a desk. During the time it was on the desk, the Pep club was in for a practice, the fifth and sixth grade chorus, and two different classes came and went, not one cent was taken.

In geography the sixth grade is studying Canada and the history of its people. The fifth graders are studying the early explorations of America.

In arithmetic the sixth grade has been reviewing addition, subtraction and division. Fractions have been explained.

The fifth graders are working on long division.

There's a good slogan on the board in the reading room as we are trying to live up to. "Be sure the brain is running before putting the mouth in gear." New slogans are up each week in Mrs. Precia Medley's room.

Starting Monday, Oct. 12, during the noon hour the fourth grade boys will play their first intramural flag football game. The boys have been working hard all week, under the direction of their sixth grade coaches.

The coaches are Mrs. Baker's room, Bobby Longan and Dee Forbes; Mrs. French's room, Down Grimes and James Douglas; Mrs. Thompson's room, John Pruitt and Ken Curtis. Don Perry, our school coach, is helping the boys get organized.

The girls in each fourth grade room are forming yell squads to cheer their teams on to victory. They are being helped by sixth grade girls under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Nesheim.

ANTIQUE SALE—Antiques collected by D. Omer Tobias, formerly of Piqua, Ohio, convicted of stealing from his employer, were put on sale at an auction in New York in an effort to regain money which was swindled. William G. Keener, left, of Columbus, Ohio, curator of the Ohio Historical Society, and Paul Brunner, Dayton, Ohio, peruse a catalog before the auction. (UPI Telephoto)

Collector Misses Auction of His Valuable Antiques

By DOC QUIGG
UPI Correspondent

New York (UPI) - The auctioneer's voice droned its moneyed cadences into the heavy-curtained, air-conditioned sedateness of the imposing Parke-Bernet Galleries, and the bidding was brisk.

Outside, a decorous blue-lettered sign its proper format signifying prestige-told of the artworks being offered:

"D. Omer Tobias collection part one, china, glass, furniture, exhibition from Oct. 3. Sale Oct. 8, 9, and 10 at 1:45 p.m."

Attendants in green uniforms placed the American antiques one by one on a black velvet setting on the stage. The auctioneer at his rostrum, frequently exclaiming "what a lovely piece," rattled his spiel of figures bid and asked.

Tobias in Penitentiary
Buyers well acquainted with the D. Omer Tobias collection thronged the auction room, quietly raising arms and flicking eyebrows to indicate their bids. D. Omer himself would have loved to attend, and it's a pity he could not be there. He was in the Ohio State Penitentiary for embezzling $383,000 with which to establish the D. Omer Tobias collection of antiques.

Tobias, 58, a subdued, slight, white-haired bachelor, was known to other collectors in Ohio as a frugal man who hesitated to spend a dime outside his collecting. Sometimes, on trips, he curtailed his baggage to a toothbrush wrapped in a newspaper.

Was Export Clerk
Perhaps because of his quiet ways, he got the nickname of Sampson, which his friends shortened to "Sampsie." He worked for 30 years as an export clerk for the Hobart Manufacturing Co., of Troy, Ohio. The embezzlement occurred during the last three years. Although he was convicted of taking $383,000 from the company by check doctoring, the company recovered around $10,000 in stop-payment checks.

Sampsie now is keeping books for the penitentiary. He is eligible for parole in another year. The Tobias "Americana" collection is being sold by order of the receiver, Charles V. Lind, of Troy, in an effort to give the company back its money, or part of it.

Bonneville Slide Delays Trains

Portland - (UPI) - Heavy rain caused a landslide that blocked the Union Pacific railroad main line near Bonneville early Sunday. Trains were delayed for three hours.

The slide was 25 feet long and some five feet deep when discovered by crews of the westbound Portland Rose passenger train at 5:45 a.m. The line was reopened at 8:40 a.m.

Other trains delayed were the City of Portland and the eastbound mail train. Nearly two inches of rain fell in the Portland area Saturday night and early Sunday.

YOUNG MOTHER

Turin, Italy - (UPI) - Fourteen-year-old Maria Grazia Marra gave birth to a seven pound boy Saturday in the Santans hospital. The mother, who married a 21-year-old laborer last year when she was 13, and child were reported well.

Atlanta - (UPI) - Navy Cmdr. A. W. Chapin of Palm Beach, Fla., has been named national president of the Naval Reserve association.

Plane Landed With Wheels Up

Chicago - (UPI) - Passengers of a stricken Trans-Canada Air Lines Viscount today praised the crew for bringing the giant turboprop aircraft in for a safe belly landing after the plane's wheels failed to lower.

The Vickers-made airliner with 35 passengers and a crew of four skidded several thousand feet down a foam-coated runway at the Glenview Naval Air Station Sunday. No one was injured in the dramatic landing.

The plane was approaching Midway Airport on a flight from Toronto to Chicago when the pilot, Capt. Cy Thompson, 39, Toronto, radioed he was unable to lower the plane's wheels.

The airport control tower suggested he circle until he had used up fuel and then land at Glenview which was not as crowded as Midway and where foam could be laid

Library Club Sets Workshop Wednesday

A library workshop for school librarians will be featured at the first meeting of the Jackson County Library club, Wednesday, Oct. 14 at 4 p. m. at the Crater High school library.

Frederick Brewster, Portland, will conduct the workshop, during which time he will exhibit library materials and demonstrate their use.

Mrs. Helen Roadbeck, Crater High school librarian, will be hostess to the group.

ASSAULT WITH PLANE

Midland, Mich. - (UPI) - Douglas Hysell, 44, was held today on charges of felonious assault with an airplane. Police said Hysell, of Selding, Mich., swooped so low over the area Saturday that he drove motorists from the highways and terrorized hundreds of residents.

The airport control tower down to lessen the chances of fire. All available ambulances were rushed to the air station and were standing by when the plane landed.
