

Here's Chance To Obtain Buffalo for Yard or Meal

Washington—UPI—Attention suburbanites: If you consider beagles are boring, parakeets passe and other conventional pets old hat, how about an honest to goodness buffalo to liven things up around your ranch-style home? For the men who have everything, Rep. Thomas J. Lane (D-Mass.) suggests a live buffalo or elk to roam the backyard.

Animals Available

Lane says the animals are now available from national wildlife refuges at reasonable prices.

For example, you can buy one of the big game bison for $140 to add a little realism to games of cowboys and Indians. Lane says the Fish and Wild Life Service is offering 303 buffalo and 91 elk as surplus animals.

Lane also has a solution for city dwellers who might have a tough time fitting one of the animals into an apartment. He says apartment dwellers may want to buy a burly buffalo for the kitchen range.

Frozen Meat

He says frozen buffalo meat will enable home owners to have "a good supply of meat on hand for the cold winter ahead."

A butchered, dressed and quartered buffalo carcass ranges from $165 to $200. Butchered elk goes for $100 to $130.

According to Lane, buffalo meat is tender but he has a warning for those who want to buy buffalos on the hoof. He says they "are wild animals of uncertain temperament and should not be trusted."

10 Rockets To Be Launched in Week Next Month

Washington—UPI—The United States will launch 10 rockets in a single week next month as part of an international effort to get new information about earth's atmosphere, radiations from the sun and tiny meteors in nearby space.

The program was announced Thursday by the National Academy of Sciences in a report on the U.S. program for International Geophysical Cooperation — 1959, known as IGC-59.

IGC-59 is a world research program which took up where the International Geophysical Year left off. Under the IGY program, 66 nations worked together to learn more about the earth, sun, and space.

The academy said the period of Nov. 16-22 has been designated international rocket week. A spokesman said it was not yet known whether Russia would participate, although it was assumed other nations also would be firing research rockets during the week.

The week's launchings, the academy said, "should produce valuable data on the world's upper atmosphere during a given time period."

ISSUE LUNIK STAMP

Moscow—UPI—A stamp honoring Russia's Lunik III went on sale Wednesday at the central post office, the Tass news agency reported.

Stevenson Given Good Win Chance

Salem—UPI—Adlai Stevenson has a good chance of winning the Democratic nomination for president and going on to win the presidential election in 1960, Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) told a news conference here Thursday.

Neuberger said the former Illinois governor's chances were "improving" because of his stature in the foreign relations field and his lack of involvement in domestic political squabbles.

A stalemate at the Democratic convention in Los Angeles might easily turn the nomination towards Stevenson or Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), Neuberger said. He added that without any disrespect to Symington, he preferred Stevenson.

ASK NAZI'S TRIAL

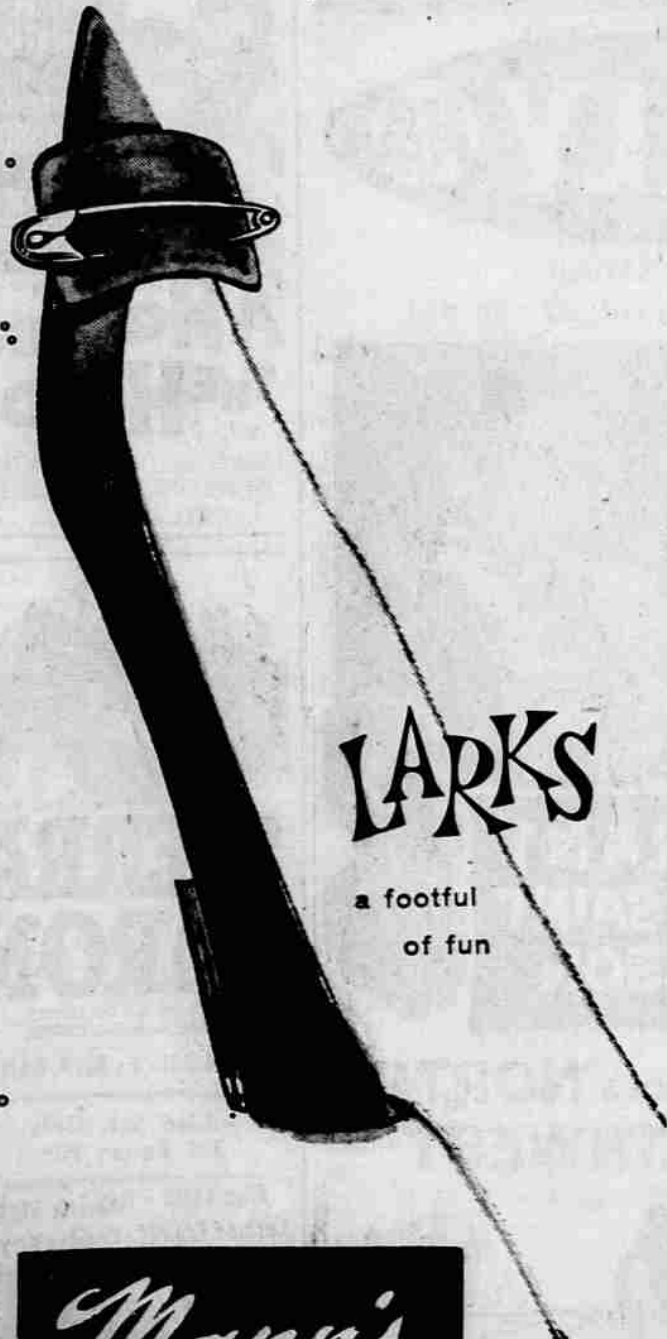

Jerusalem—UPI—The Israeli government has asked the West German and British governments to help bring Nazi master executioner Adolf Eichmann to justice. Eichmann, said to have helped mastermind Adolf Hitler's program to annihilate European Jews, was last reported working as an oil expert in the British-protected Persian Gulf shiekdom of Kuwait.

DISCUSS ISSUES

Tokyo—UPI—Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio conferred today with Foreign Minister Aichihiro Fujiyama of Japan on political issues in a follow up to economic discussions Wednesday.
