Two Injured in Highway 62 Crash

Two persons were injured in a two car collision Wednesday at the intersection of Crater Lake highway and Delta Waters rd., Medford police said.

Injured were Mary Jane McGoodwin, 35, and Sara Jane McGoodwin, 3 1/2, both of 1507 East Main st., Medford. Mrs. McGoodwin was treated for minor injuries. Her daughter suffered a bruised right shoulder and other injuries. They were taken to Rogue Valley hospital by Medford Ambulance Service, treated and later released.

The other driver, James Sorenson, 2985 Crater Lake highway, was cited by Medford police for not having an operator's license and failure to yield the right of way to oncoming traffic.

Sorenson was traveling east on Crater Lake highway and had pulled off onto the shoulder to let traffic pass. He told officers he made a left turn onto the highway to enter a driveway and did not see the car driven by Mrs. McGoodwin until too late.

GIVES POLARIS REPORT

Cape Canaveral, Fla. — (UPI) — Rear Adm. W. F. Raborn told the American Rocket Society Thursday night that at least 40 to 50 test shots are needed before the Polaris missile will be operational. Raborn said he believed the Polaris, a submarine launched ballistic missile, may be the key to discouraging surprise attacks.

AT CONFERENCE—Marion Parsons of Medford, right, was one of many Oregon high school students who attended recent two-day training conference of American Cancer Society's Oregon division in Portland, where plans were made to expand the teens-against-cancer organization. She talks with Mrs. Orin Moore of Madras, TACs advisor. The TACs originated in Madras.

TWO HORSE THIEVES in the Utah Territory years ago were caught by a posse representing law and order and promptly strung up. The gallows was constructed so that the bodies would hang over Great Salt Lake.

The noose loosened on the first prisoner and he went plummeting into the water. As they tied the rope around the neck of the second varmint, he implored, "Make sure this one's tight, fellers: I can't swim a stroke!"

A couple of hoboes were sunning themselves in New York's Bryant Park. One began a rambling reminiscence, oblivious of the fact that his companion had fallen fast asleep. "Ah, those were the days of my glory," he recalled. "That dollar to which I just referred, incidentally, was the first dollar I ever earned honestly. The other, if I remember correctly, was on June 14, 1952."

Validity of Parks Group Questioned By Lane Judge

The county judge of Linn county has questioned the validity of the several parks and recreation commissions in western Oregon counties.

Before a group of Linn county residents this week the judge said he could find no legal authority for establishing such a board until formation of a parking district including all or part of the county has been approved at a countywide election and then only after such an election has been petitioned by 95 per cent of the voters residing within the proposed district boundaries.

In commenting on the Linn county judge's stand, Judge Earl Miller said the Jackson county parks and recreation commission was set up in accordance with the one in Marion county.

He explained that the county's order for the establishing of the advisory committee was submitted to the district attorney. In the DA's opinion he stated that the county court had the authority for setting up advisory commissions at its own discretion under Oregon statute.

The nine members of the county commission receive no compensation except for travel expenses, stationery and a meeting location. Judge Miller stressed that the group had no authority but acts strictly as an advisory group to the county court.

Hmmmmmm. I reckon we'll have to talk about satellites today. We've launched a new one (Explorer VII) and it has some interesting points.

For example: Explorer VII, tossed into space from Cape Canaveral, carried an automatic gag to make sure it won't make a beeping nuisance of itself. This thoughtful little jigger is a timer developed by the Bulova Watch Company for the express purpose of felling the satellite exactly a year from now, to SHUT UP.

THIS morning's dispatches tell us that this will please space scientists the world over. The dispatches add: "If there is anything space scientists hate, it's a satellite that keeps talking LONG AFTER IT HAS ANYTHING NEW TO SAY."

OH, BOY! Wouldn't it be WONDERFUL if the same jigger could be attached to politicians? If that could be done, it might be worth all the money we're spending on space exploration.

THE reporters go on to tell us that Vanguard I, launched on March 17, 1958, may live 1,000 YEARS. They add: "It's yipping little voice, powered by the sun, may last nearly as long. Nobody has any idea how to squelch it. As one scientist says, 'all we can do is to listen AROUND it.'"

THERE are politicians like that. As a matter of fact, one of them comes from out this way. I suppose all we can do is to "listen around him."

CONTINUING with this space stuff, one of our B47 jet bombers fired a Bold missile the other day ACROSS THE PATH of our Explorer VI paddle-wheel satellite that is whizzing around somewhere out there in the outer void. It didn't HIT Explorer VI. It didn't even explode an atomic charge. But, presumably it could have done it. The dispatch adds: "The shot could lead to development of a r-launched missiles to knock down enemy satellites — and maybe enemy missiles."

HOW would it work? Imagine a duck swinging across fast and high. You turn loose at him with a fancy load of shot that cut across his bow and then homes on him — and WHAM! All you have to do after that is to find your duck in the tules. Ain't science wonderful?
