Snider Proposes State Office To Deal With City Problems

Portland—(UPI)—Tillamook Mayor Loren McKinley was to be installed today as president of the League of Oregon Cities as the annual meeting of mayors, city managers and other municipal officials ended here. McKinley succeeds Springfield Mayor Edward Harms Jr.

Tuesday the slate included discussion of traffic and parking, community development, housing, law enforcement and commercial center developments.

The chief FBI agent in Portland, Joseph Thornton, urged delegates to put more life into police recruitment programs. He said potential policemen must be made to see the "advantages in the law enforcement field."

Traffic Amendments—Vern Hill, head of the State Department of Motor Vehicles, discussed with delegates a trio of traffic law amendments to be submitted to the 1961 Legislature. They include a fixed maximum speed on highways but at the same time retaining the basic rule law; changing the chemical test regulation to permit verbal or implied consent for tests for alcohol in the blood in cases of drunken driving, and "probable cause" arrest authority for traffic policemen. At present, the law states the violation must be witnessed. Four resolutions were scheduled for action today. These included one by the mayor of Medford asking the State Highway commission to establish an office to deal with city problems from throughout the state. Mayor John Snider told delegates Tuesday that there is some dissatisfaction among officials "with highway decisions which result in no progress of interest to their cities."

Snider urged a smoother coordinating system between the department and cities as a way to work out many current "troublesome problems."

Another resolution calls for larger shares of Oregon Liquor Control commission revenues for cities. The OLCC now parcels out 10 per cent to cities but the League wants 15 per cent.

Legislation in 1962 to affirm the League's backing of annexation as a desirable way of dealing with fringe area problems is provided in a third resolution. The fourth resolution asks that timber sale money on federal lands be allocated to cities within the 18 counties which now take a cut of O&C land benefits.

Principle speaker scheduled for the League's banquet was Don Hummel, mayor of Tucson, Ariz.

Entered—A chain lock was torn loose from the front door of the house at 329 North Bartlett st., sometime Tuesday morning, Ethel May McCord, of that address, told city police. The screen door on the utility room was also torn loose, city police said, but nothing was reported missing from the house.

Glass Broken—Two boys were lectured by police on breaking glass in the street and made to clean up the broken fruit jars on Narregan st. after the police received a complaint from residences in the area. The boys were returned to their home after the glass was cleaned up, police said.
