Vitamins Saved In Poultry Feeds

Washington (Science Service) – A chemical called EMQ can now save both A and D vitamins in poultry feed. This chemical was developed at USDA's Western Utilization Research and Development Division, Albany, Calif., and the Food and Drug Administration has given approval for its use as an additive to dehydrated alfalfa meal. Carotene, the compound responsible for vitamin A, is stabilized by EMQ so that only 30,000,000 units are lost by oxidation instead of the 100,000,000 units lost when it is not used. EMQ also preserves the compound xanthophyll and vitamin D, both important for livestock, it is reported in Agricultural Reserch (Oct.).

TRUE CONFECTION

New Haven, Conn.—(UPI)—After asking for "Mrs.Adorable," a telephone caller was connected with Mrs. Grace Darling. The caller said, "I knew it was something sweet."

Five million people out of China's 650 million have learned the new phonetic alphabet designed to aid in speaking Mandarin and reading and writing the Chinese language.

Two Accidents Reported To Police This Morning

Two accidents were reported to Oregon state police yesterday morning.

At 6:30 a.m. a car operated by Robert Watson Bear, 22, of Myrtle Creek, failed to make the curve near Neil creek, south of Ashland, striking a tree on the right shoulder of the road.

According to police, Bear and his passenger, Alben Delion Montgomery, 19, of Myrtle Creek, were both thrown from the car but were not injured. The vehicle was demolished.

Police reported that apparently Bear went to sleep while driving.

The second accident, also investigated by state police in cooperation with Medford city police, occurred at the intersection of Stewart ave. and Park st. about 8 a.m.

Police said a vehicle operated by Roberta Darleen Clement, 17, of route 4, box 358F, Medford, hit a car operated by Donald Warner Mann, 18, of 1425 Stewart ave., which was stopped in a line of traffic. The Mann vehicle was then pushed into a coupe operated by Leslie Elmore, 53, of 936 Winchester ave.

Police said the Mann vehicle had a damaged rear bumper and trunk. The Clement vehicle, which had to be towed from the scene, was heavily damaged in the front.

State police notified Roberta Clement that a complaint would be filed against her in district court for following too close.

Weapons Display Draws Big Crowds

Bristow, Okla. – (UPI) – Guns hold an unusual fascination for people, as the Bristow National Gun Show proves every year.

More than 20,000 visited the 1958 show. They saw more than 10,000 guns valued at $2 million displayed by about 200 dealers from 36 states. This year's exhibit, featured collections from some 250 dealers in 40 states.

The Bristow show was founded six years ago and since then it has become the largest gun show to be held outside Chicago.

Two Bristow sportsmen, Jim Weaver and Ted Herman, started it. The first one was held in an old school building with 30 entries.

The only charges connected with the show are for table rentals to the gun dealers who exhibit their collections. No admission is charged.

The displays include both modern and antique guns, ranging in value from $10 to $5,000. About 90 per cent of the weapons are in firing condition.

Dupree Poe Asks for Own Law Library

Salem – (UPI) – Dupre Poe, long time inmate at the state penitentiary, has asked the courts for a private law library of his own. The request was temporarily turned down by Circuit Judge Val Sloper, who said Poe could try again.

The 97-year-old Parliament Building at Oslo, Norway, has been completely renovated and redecorated since 1956.

Father Devises Way To Fool Son

Cleveland, Ohio –(UPI)– Two-year-old Keith Christian, like most children his age, likes to unscrew bottle caps.

But Keith can't get anywhere with the pill bottles in the medicine chest at his home. He can't bite, flip or unscrew the covers because they are protected with a foolproof cap designed by his father.

Kenneth Christian, a barber by profession, is an inventor on the side. The patent on the safety cap is pending in Washington and he has a plastic manufacturer lined up to make it.
