High Living Told In Communist Party

Los Angeles — (UPI) — Mrs. Adele K. Silva, Oakland, Calif., told congressional probes Thursday that "high living" made up part of her Communist party activity.

Mrs. Silva, 45, said she worked as an FBI undercover agent in a Communist front group covering the Beverly Hills - Hollywood - Wilshire area.

She told members of the House un-American activities subcommittee that cocktail parties, expensive shows and "high living" were part of her program as a Communist.

"I was instructed to play on the sympathies of minority races to get them to join the party," she said.

Agency Promises More Effort in Space Exploration

Washington — (UPI) — The nation's space agency promised a "considerable" speed-up in outer space exploration today, and indicated it will ask Congress for more money early next year.

Richard E. Horner, associate director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, made the statements at a news conference called to discuss the transfer of the Army's space team, headed by Dr. Warner von Braun, to NASA.

Order Discussed

Horner and Dr. Herbert F. York, Defense Department director of research and engineering, discussed President Eisenhower's order to put the Huntsville, Ala., team under the civilian agency's control.

York said flatly that in his opinion this "should have been done a year ago."

The Army resisted NASA's efforts a year ago to take over the famed team, which put America's first satellites in orbit around the earth and around the sun.

While Horner and York predicted a speed-up in the space effort, they made it clear that development of the nation's largest super-boosted rocket will continue for another four or five months under divided authority of NASA and the Defense Department.

That is because the plan must go to Congress in January and goes into effect only if Congress does not veto it within 60 days.

Horner said it was "almost obvious that we are considering a supplemental" appropriation. He said Congress authorized $30 million more for NASA than it actually approved in the last session and NASA might ask for that much.

Russia Putting Pressure on France To Schedule Early Summit Conference

By ALBIN KREBS, UPI Correspondent

The Soviet Union lined up with the United States and Britain today in putting pressure on France for a summit conference as soon as possible.

In an "authorized" statement, the official Soviet Tass news agency in Moscow said the Kremlin's view on a summit session is unchanged and feels that the earlier one is called "the better it will be for the cause of peace."

The Tass statement said it was issued to correct "conflicting reports" in the western press about the Soviet position on the summit.

In effect, it put Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in accord with the reported position of President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who prefer an early summit, and against French President Charles de Gaulle, who wants to wait until spring.

Authorized French sources in Paris indicated today that France no longer is thinking in terms of a western summit conference in the immediate future.

Want Early Meeting

This appeared to indicate a major difference from the view expressed by Eisenhower that a western summit should take place at an early date. The President was understood to have suggested one for the end of October or early November in letters sent to Paris, London and Bonn.

Khrushchev was believed ready to make a flying visit to see de Gaulle in Paris to try to persuade the French leader in person about the need for an early summit.

Authoritative British sources in London said today that Macmillan fully supports Eisenhower's belief that an early western summit now has become urgently necessary.

So far the French government has not admitted Khrushchev was coming to Paris but most doubts were laid to rest by leaks from government circles about an "imminent Khrushchev visit."

UPI correspondent Arthur Higbee reported from Paris today that it was agreed in diplomatic circles Khrushchev was due there within a month.

UPI correspondent Henry Shapiro reported from Moscow that de Gaulle's surprise rejection of a winter summit meeting may have been based largely on his desire to meet Khrushchev on the same footing as other Western leaders.

Final Link

A de Gaulle - Khrushchev conference would complete a chain of personal meetings between Western leaders and Khrushchev, Macmillan visited Khrushchev in Moscow last spring and was followed by the Khrushchev-Eisenhower Camp David talks.

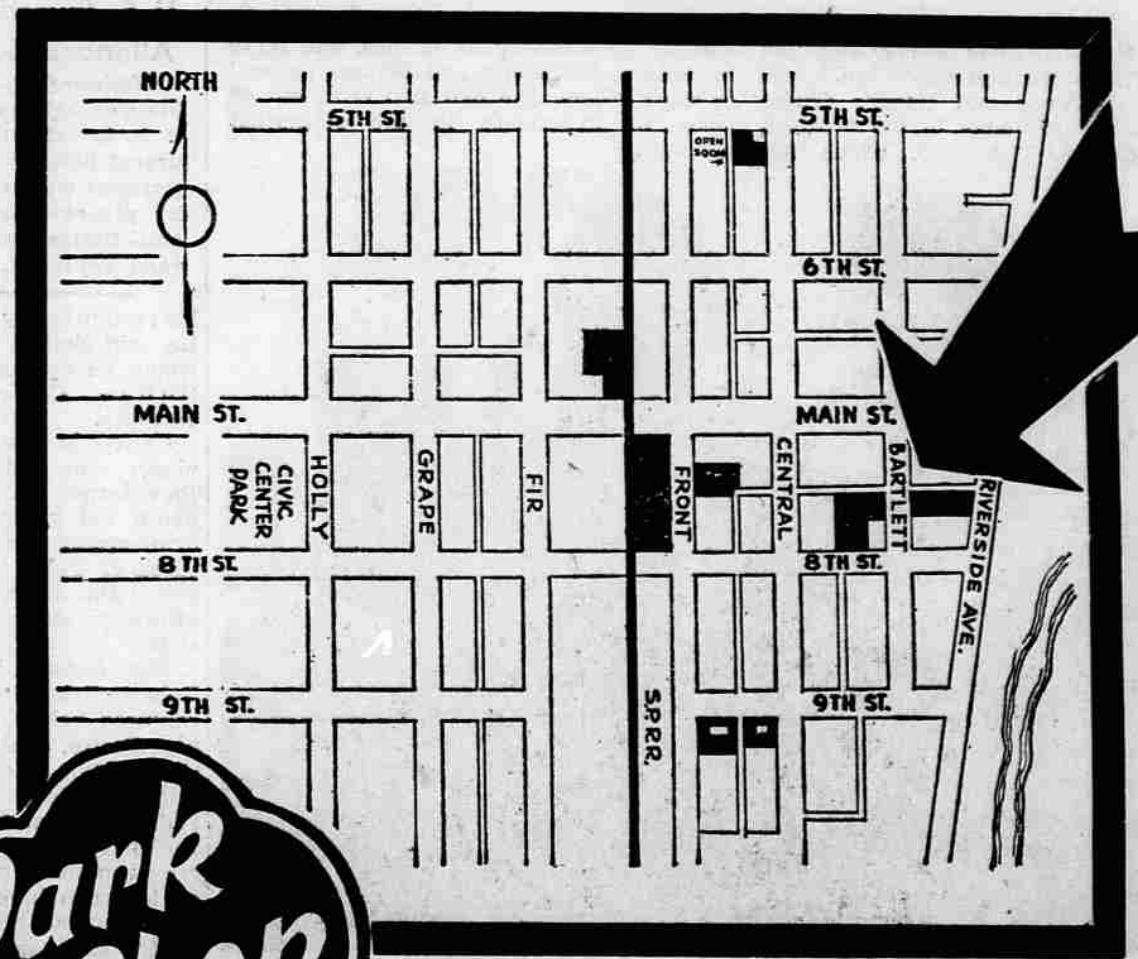

Diplomatic observers in Moscow thought it would be difficult for de Gaulle's Western allies to press him to change his mind on when the summit should be held. But Khrushchev, being an "outsider," might be just the person to apply such pressure.

Girl, 14, Tells of Kidnap, Rape by Drunken Ex-Convict

Lyndonville, Vt. — (UPI) — A missing Maine baby sitter turned up 150 miles from home today and told police a drunken ex-convict kidnaped her and raped her repeatedly over a five-day period.

The ex-convict, Rodney Austin, 44, Newcastle, Maine, left her at his brother's home here at 1 a.m. and fled in his car, vowing he would not be taken alive, the 14-year-old girl told police.

Search for Austin, who served time for murderous assault, covered all of northern Vermont near the Canadian border.

This town is about 150 miles from the girl's home in Maine.

The girl, Sharon Simmons, told a hair-raising tale of being dragged from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil A. Halliwell, Damariscotta Mills, Maine, late Saturday.

Sharon told Maine Police Detective Camille Carrier at the Vermont State Police barracks in nearby St. Johnsbury that Austin vowed he would not be captured alive.

She said he told her he was going to an abandoned camp at Lake Carmi where he had a gun "stashed away."

"If they want me they can come and get me, but they're not going to take me alive," she quoted Austin.

Carrier said, "There is no doubt in my mind that she left the Halliwell house against her will." He pointed out that she left behind her hat and coat and the three Halliwell children. The parents returned at 1 a.m. Sunday and found she was gone. Sharon said Austin banged on the Halliwell's door.

"Very Drunk" "He was very drunk," Sharon said, "and I started to shut the door. Then he shoved the door open and entered the house."

From the house he dragged her to his car and they drove to a clearing where he undressed her and raped her twice.

She told Carrier she passed out after he dragged her back in his car and the next thing she knew she was in Berlin, N.H., where he stopped for gasoline.

After this, she said, she remembered almost nothing.

Chessman Busy Preparing Petition

San Quentin, Calif. — (UPI) — Cary Chessman pounded a typewriter today in his death row cell four floors above an eight-sided apple green gas chamber that was to have ended his life at 10 o'clock this morning.

Instead of preparing to die, the twice-condemned Los Angeles kidnap-rapester worked furiously to complete cutting stencils for a 235 page petition to the U.S. Supreme court.

He has until Nov. 3 to file the petition asking a review of his case, starting with his trial and conviction in 1948 as the infamous "red light bandit" who prowled lovers' lanes in the Los Angeles area. Chessman was convicted on 17 felony counts, including robbery, theft, sex offenses and kidnaping.

$50 Fine Meted in Hatfield Collision

Portland — (UPI) — Glenn Arthur Lovens, 40, driver of a car which struck the rear of Gov. Mark Hatfield's limousine here Oct. 11, was fined $50 in Municipal court Thursday. He was found guilty of being drunk on the street.

Neither Lovens nor the governor appeared in court. Hatfield and his wife were shaken up in the accident.

Nyssa Man Dies Following Collision

Nyssa — (UPI) — A 76-year-old Nyssa man died here Thursday after his car hit the rear of a grain truck parked near the center of the town. He was Lloyd Thomas Marshal. A passenger, Dorothy Smith, of Nyssa, had head and chest injuries.
