

Brazilians Offer To Die in Place of Caryl Chessman

Los Angeles (UPI) — Forty Brazilians have offered to die in the place of convict-author Caryl Chessman and some 2,600,000 other Brazilians have signed petitions asking for the condemned man's release, according to Brazilian industrialist Giacomo Franco. "The Chessman case has attracted more attention and interest in Brazil than any other event in the last five years," said Franco. The millionaire industrialist said at a news conference Sunday that California Gov. Edmund G. Brown's refusal to grant Chessman clemency is hurting America's reputation in Brazil.

Franco said he visited Chessman in San Quentin's Death Row last week and told him that if he is freed he would be welcomed in Brazil where he could "become a leader in the fight against crime."

Scheduled to Die

Chessman was scheduled to die last week after Brown refused to set aside his death penalty, but acceptance of an appeal in his case by the U.S. Supreme Court has indefinitely postponed his execution date.

It was the seventh time in more than 11 years that Chessman has escaped the carrying out of a death sentence by prison officials. He was convicted of 17 felony counts in Los Angeles in 1948. The counts included kidnaping, robbery and sexual offenses.

Franco said he placed the petitions from Brazil before Brown and told the governor that Chessman has become a "national symbol" in his country in the fight against the death penalty.

Capital punishment does not exist in Brazil, Franco explained, but there currently are efforts to have it placed in the law books.

KATIE TO RACE

London — (UPI) — Katie Moss, wife of racing driver Stirling Moss, was to compete in her first race today. She was to drive a 50-mile-an-hour go-kart, a small trolley vehicle powered by a lawn mower or industrial engine. The race was to be held at the Brands Hatch track.

NO TRACK FOR LOCO

Hultsfred, Sweden — (UPI) — Railway workers Friday had to re-lay two miles of track they had torn up when they were informed they had left a locomotive stranded in an abandoned station yard.
