Army, Air Force Conflict Among Leading Attractions

By JOE SARGIS
United Press International
Top-ranked Louisiana State's showdown with Mississippi, Army's first ever game against the Air Force academy, the annual Navy-Notre Dame tussle and a trio of Big Ten contests top this week's college football program—the most attractive of the season.

Also vying for fan interest are such pairings as Texas Christian-Baylor and Texas Southern Methodist in the Southwest, Southern California-California and Washington-UCLA in the Far West, and Pittsburgh-Syracuse and a full slate of Ivy League games in the East.

LSU and Mississippi, two of the 10 remaining major unbeaten and untied teams, both won during the week end to make this Saturday's meeting at Baton Rouge the South's game of the year. The Bayou Tigers (6-0) scored a somewhat unimpressive 9-0 victory over Florida to run the nation's longest winning streak to 18 in a row, while Ole Miss, ranked fifth, crushed Arkansas, 28-0, for its sixth straight.

Army's tattered legions, regrouped to beat Colorado State, 25-6, to run their season record to 3-2, while the Air Force, whose victory streak was snapped at 15 straight a week ago, ripped UCLA Friday night, 20-7. That gave the Falcons a 4-1 record in their second season of "big time" action.

A crowd of 70,000 is expected to watch the service academy struggle in Yankee Stadium. The game, sold out for weeks, also will feature the colorful marching of West Point's entire Cadet Corps and a representative group from the Air Force.

Forty-Five Teams Still Undefeated

New York (UPI)—Forty-five teams, including 10 major schools today were listed on college football's perfect-record honor roll.

Oregon and Pennsylvania were knocked off the list during the week end, leaving LSU, Penn State, Yale, Texas, Mississippi, Syracuse, Southern California, Northwestern, Arizona State and North Texas State as the only major college survivors.

Yale emerged as the only unscored upon team—major or minor—when Florida A&M surrendered its first touchdown of the season in whipping Bethune-Cookman, 68-6.

Huron (S.D.) college stood out among the small college perfect-record teams, outscoring its first seven opponents, 332-7.

the 33rd in their series which first got underway in 1927. The Irish hold a decided edge, 25-6, while one game—in 1945—wound up in a tie. Both teams this year are a bit under par (for them), with Navy sporting a 2-3-1 record and Notre Dame 2-3. The Midshipman battled to a 22-22 tie with Pennsylvania during the week end, while the Irish dropped a 30-24 decision to second-ranked Northwestern.

The Big Ten lineup, which will produce one of the Rose Bowl teams, has Wisconsin (2-1) pitted against Michigan (1-2), Michigan State (2-1) against Ohio State (1-2) and Purdue (2-1) against Illinois (2-1). Northwestern, the conference leader with a 3-0 record, plays Indiana (1-2).

Pigott Victor In Foggy Run

Monterey, Calif. (UPI)—Pat Pigott guided his Lotus XV through a dense fog Sunday to capture the featured Lejon Trophy race at the 10th annual Pebble Beach-Laguna Seca sports car races.

Pigott, Bellingham, Wash., won the 35-lap affair averaging 81.66 miles per hour. A low hanging fog that completely covered the four back turns allowed the crowd of 23,500 sometimes only the outlines of the speeding autos.

The feature race was run at 1:30 p.m. instead of 4 p.m. as scheduled and some races were run with headlights on.

Washington Holds Inside Track in Rose Bowl Quest

By HAL WOOD

University of Washington (5-1) took the inside track in the race for the Rose Bowl today and coach Jim Owens couldn't have been happier.

But the wailing was long and loud from the loser's sections over what might have been in West Coast college football ranks over the week end.

Stanford (1-5), leading 20-12 at the half, lost in the last quarter to Southern California, 30-28.

California (1-5), leading 20-16 with four minutes to go, succumbed to the passing expertise of Don Kasso and Oregon State (2-4) 24-20.

Oregon (5-1), in front 12-0 at the intermission, dropped a 13-12 thriller to the Huskies of Washington.

College of Pacific (1-4), a 21-14 loser, was stopped on the Cincinnati one-foot line by the game-ending gun.

Stanford's Greatest Heights
And so it went Saturday—with Stanford rising to its greatest heights of the season only to lose to unbeaten USC; Oregon getting knocked out of the undefeated ranks; and California dropping its fifth in the row the hard way.

Stanford had been expected to be slaughtered by USC, and the odds-makers favored the Trojans by 18 points.

"That was ridiculous," said Coach Don Clark of the winners. "That Stanford club, if it gets everything going for it, could beat anybody."

The Indians have won only one game all season—over lowly College of Pacific. But they were "up" for this one. "I couldn't have been prouder of my boys if they had won," said coach Jack Curtice of the Indians after the game. "Isn't that Dick Norman somethin'?"

Norman completed 16 out of 32 passes for 207 yards to run the Trojans wild. He was a hero in defeat.

Mistakes Hurt Ducks In Scuffle

Eugene (UPI)—The Monday morning quarterbacks were having a field day today over Oregon's 13-12 loss to Washington but Coach Len Casanova's immediate concern was with fullback Dave Powell's injured shoulder and the Idaho game next Saturday at Moscow.

Oregon just about "out-everythinged" Washington except on the scoreboard before 36,327 in Multnomah Stadium Saturday. But the Huskies, behind Bob Schloredt's inspired play, made breaks and George Fleming's conversion pay off to win.

Powell suffered a banged-up shoulder in the second half, but the word from trainer Bob Officer today was that he would be ready Saturday.

Idaho has been a doormat all season but the Vandals led Washington State 3-0 at the half and Casanova said they're capable of upsetting the Webfoots.

"Deserved to Win"
As for last Saturday's game, Casanova said, "we made some errors we hadn't made earlier but we were playing the toughest team we've met and I thought the players gave it everything they had and deserved to win."

As for Dave Gross' pass in the fourth period when the Husky 14 on the ground, Casanova said, "you can't second guess all the time." That pass was intercepted by Schloredt in the end zone and spelled finish to Webfoot hopes.

But the Oregon coach did admit the Webfoots kept themselves in the hole and "made too many mistakes."

One of these was by halfback Dave Grayson who stepped out of bounds on his own two yard line while trying to run back the second half kickoff. A few minutes later Gross broke away for a long run that would have taken the Webfoots out of the hole but it was nullified by a clipping penalty.

Both Now 5-1
Oregon now is 5-1 for the season, as is Washington. But the Huskies hold the edge in the Rose Bowl race because of their win over the Webfoots.

Oregon led 12-0 in the second period Saturday. The Webfoots drove 78 yards on the ground to score the first time they got the ball. Powell made it from a yard out. But a bad pass from center spoiled the extra point try. The Ducks got their other touchdown on a 12-yard pass from Gross to Greg Altenhofen. A two-point conversion pass failed.

But up at Portland, Bob Schloredt, the all-around star of the Washington Huskies, was a hero in victory. He scored one touchdown, set up another and intercepted an Oregon pass behind the goal line to save the day for the Huskies.

Washington now has won five of its first six games—losing only to Southern California in a thriller—and plays UCLA, Oregon State, California and Washington State in that order, to finish out the season.

USC (5-0), not eligible for the Rose Bowl because of an NCAA probation, tangles with California on Saturday. Washington meets UCLA.

Bears Lose Close One
The Golden Bears had a game just about tucked away Saturday. Then, with Oregon State trailing by four points and 3:51 remaining of the game, Kasso unleashed a 31-yard pass to end Amos Marsh.

Marsh took the catch over his shoulder in the end zone for the Beaver triumph.

"What do you have to do to win a game?" asked coach Pete Elliott of Cal after the loss. "Our boys played their hearts out."

SPORTS

Don Kasso In Stride

Corvallis (UPI)—Oregon State, with sophomore tailback Don Kasso at last "coming of age" today began serious drills for Saturday's Homecoming game with Washington State.

Kasso was the man of the hour for the Beavers in their come-from-behind 24-20 win over California at Berkeley last Saturday. Engineering a 73-yard last-quarter scoring drive, Kasso, playing in his home town, spiraled a 31-yard scoring pass to end Amos Marsh to give the Beavers their fifth straight win over the Bears.

Coach Tommy Prothro, beaming and sweat-drenched after the see-saw battle admitted that Kasso "played like I know he can play."

"Kasso has been awfully nervous all fall," Prothro reminded. "I hated to throw him in early. When it got late, we had to go with a boy who could either win it or lose it for us."

Paris (UPI)—Police have arrested 203 Algerian nationalists in the Paris area during the past four weeks, interior ministry officials said Saturday. A number of high-ranking rebel officials were among those seized.

STONE PROTECTION

London (UPI)—The Holy Trinity Church of Mile End, a tough district on London's East Side, is having bullet-proof windows installed. "Stone throwing has reached such proportions that anything less tough would be money down the drain," the vicar said.

STOLEN LICENSE

Los Angeles (UPI)—Virginia Lee Vaught, 26, and Dick Graser, 27, were issued a new marriage license Friday and planned to be married Saturday. They originally planned their wedding for earlier in the week, but someone stole the marriage license from the bride-to-be's car.

MAIL TRIBUNE, Medford, Or. 7

VANDAL OUT
Moscow, Idaho (UPI)—Veteran tackle Jim Prestel will be out of the University of Idaho football lineup the remainder of the season. Prestel, a 245-pound senior, suffered a broken foot in Saturday's 27-5 loss to Washington State.
