Student body officers now working on Homecoming are President Ronnie Baker; Vice President Othar Richey; Secretary Joyce Hunter; and Treasurer Frances Kievet.
Since Oct. 1 the class officers have been working with the student council, but now are most concerned with Homecoming. For the seniors the officers were President Gary Charris; Vice President Jack Hoffbuh; Secretary Don Learn; Treasurer Eldon Mitchell.
Sophomores: President Darlyn Popow; Vice President Kenneth Bayless; Secretary Marjorie Broad; Treasurer Steve Kessler.
Freshmen: President Ricky Meehey; Vice President Butch Bowman; Secretary Darlene Coffman; Treasurer Richard Bolz.

This season the Pep club has royal blue vests with white blouses, and white paddle pushers. The girls will sit in the bleachers at the games, shaking their pom poms, while keeping time with the yell leaders.
For the first time this year, a majorette group has been formed. This group consists of Sidney Yarnell, Joyce Stockstill, Frances Kievet, and Nancy Stewart. Nancy has a blue corduroy outfit and the other girls have white satin outfits. To go with the outfits they are having lighted batons.

The Phoenix Pep club had three meetings before school began this year to discuss the year's schedule. The officers elected for the year are Barbara Gysin, president; Joyce Stockstill, vice president; Frances Stout, secretary; Darlyn Popow, treasurer; and Joyce Stockstill, publicity manager.
One of Joyce's duties is working up posters to advertise the games.
The Phoenix Pep club is deep into the year's schedule with flag team and half time activities. Mrs. Helen Thomas is adviser of the group.

The new FFA officers are planning an active year. The officers are Bill Rasmussen, president; John Whiteside, vice president; Ernie Bolz, treasurer; Jim Martin, secretary; Mike Lowery, secretary.

Junior class rings arrived recently. They were ordered last spring by sophomores so that they would have them their junior year.
There were 21 rings ordered in the following sizes: miniature, standard girls, standard boys, and college. The total price on all the rings was $425.70. There was a choice of gold or silver, but most chose gold. Some juniors who are new this year plan to order them now and will receive them in May.

The senior pictures were taken by the Kennell-Elis picture company, Oct. 1, in the projection room at school. Representing the company was George Flink of Eugene. The proofs were received by the seniors Oct. 14.

The junior class is carrying on the traditional practice of raising money for the Junior-Senior prom. This year they are having a junior refreshment stand which operates at the games and dances.
Mrs. Mildred James, Jack Dube, Mrs. Mary Offutt, Mrs. Thomas, and Mrs. Audrey Lytle are the teachers who are sponsoring the stand and helping the students.

The Camera club is meeting weekly with 11 members. Officers Bill Oldham, president, and James Scott, program chairman, are sharing responsibilities.
The Camera club is planning outdoor activities, among them field trips, picture taking, and picture production.

Members of FHA are working hard for new members for the chapter. The officers for the club were elected at the end of school last year. They are Linda Prince, president; Peggy Smith, vice-president; Shearon Poole, secretary; and Jackie Howard, treasurer. There will be more officers elected later in the year.

Bryan Longie returned from Portland where he was in Good Samaritan hospital. He had an operation on his leg. He is improving very well. He came back on Columbus day. He is in Mrs. Hulda Fisher's third grade.

Kay Breedin is president of Mrs. Elva Edler's fourth grade room. There are four new people in the room. They are Cynthia Smith, Glen Inlow, Glenda Westwood and Mike Dye. Mike Dye was here in the first grade and went away and came back this year.

Mrs. Edler's room made pictures with charcoal.
When anyone has a birthday they all sing happy birthday to them. Mrs. Edler has the lost and found department in her room.

In social studies in William H. Colley's sixth grade room we have been making maps of Canada and studying about the important people of Canada.

In science we are studying about sound, what makes sound, and how we hear sound.
In physical education we are doing exercises for conditioning and testing of students on different exercises, marching and coordination for purpose of grading.

Howard School Mustangs squeaked by Lincoln varsity Oct. 8. This was the first game of the season for both teams. It was played on a wet soggy day at Hawthorne park.
Lloyd Zacharias ran down the right side line for a 60-yard touchdown play to open the second half. Then Ernie Cannon went right through the middle for the extra point.

In the third quarter, Lincoln was on their own two yard line. When the ball was snapped, Ricky Frohreich rushed through the line and knocked the ball carrier down in the end zone for a safety and two points. The final score was Howard 9, Lincoln 0.

After the game there was a scrimmage for those who hadn't played in the regular game.

The school cafeteria operates from 11:15 a.m. until 12:15 p.m. serving students and teachers. At dismissal time milk and cookies are served to the first three grades.

The cafeteria staff consists of Zella Adams, head cook; Dee Wilburn, assistant cook; Lucille Myers, helper. Student helpers are Susan Tugate, Starlene McCauley, Carol Newman, Lana Carpenter and Beth Appleton.

Howard Griffin Mustangs defeated Griffin Creek 18-0 at Jackson school, Oct. 15.

The first touchdown of the game was made by Lloyd Zacharias, who dashed down the left side line for a 40-yard run. In the second quarter, Howard was on Griffin Creek's four-yard line when Jack Hurt went through the line for another touchdown.

Howard's final scoring was made by Jack Hurt who raced around right end for a 30-yard run.
There was only one extra point made but it was cancelled because of a backfield in motion penalty.

Jackson School

An interesting and informational display of UN material is on the main hall bulletin board. Students in Dave Wisely's home room made flags to represent all the countries that are in the UN program. In the center is a large picture of the UN emblem.

Art has been a topic of discussion at Jackson school. An exhibit of art work done by teachers during the art shop by Mrs. California Winters has been viewed by many people. Some outstanding work was on display.

Six weeks' exams have been keeping students and teachers busier than usual. Wednesday, Oct. 28, the report cards will be sent home.

Halloween treats in Jackson school library are new and interesting books. New books are on display in a display case decorated with witches and goblins.

Group conferences for parents having children in the first grades are being held. The conferences are used instead of report cards for the first six weeks.

The Halloween mural on the bulletin board in Mrs. Angela Thompson's room was sketched by Cheryl Erickson and members of the class did the painting.

Students in grade four held a contest in arithmetic, learning multiplication. The contest ended Friday.

Mrs. Angela Thompson's pupils were happy to have their parents attend PTA. They helped the class win the room prize for the intermediates grades. They intend to buy more plastic letters for their bulletin boards.

Jackson school pupils observed UN Day Friday, Oct. 23.

An interesting program in observance of United Nations Day was given by the sixth grade students in Dave Wisely's home room.

The students and teachers of Jackson school enjoyed Galen Miller Harvey, a piano entertainer. Harvey is a member of the National School Assemblies and is known from coast to coast as "Happy" Harvey.

The student body paid for this entertainment with part of the money given to them by the PTA after the April Frolic.

Following the custom of many years, the life and history of Frances E. Willard was discussed in all classes at Jackson school on Friday.

Hedrick Junior High

The eighth grade football team played its last home game on Thursday afternoon against Crater. They lost 20 to 33.

Seventh grade boys' physical examinations were given on Thursday.

Majorettes have been practicing new routines all week. They will have new uniforms this year.

Approximately 60 Hedrick students from Jerry McDougall's speech classes attended a debate held in the Little Theater. Doug Clever and Dean Goddard from the Medford High school were on the affirmative for "Resolved: That section 14 B of the Taft-Hartley Act be repealed."

On the negative side were Carolyn Mencke and Elaine Jennings, also from the high school. Speech students started their first debates last week and felt that hearing good debaters will help them accomplish more.

Hedrick's library had an interesting display of dolls from many nations. This is in recognition of United Nations Day.

The hall display cases have an exhibit of seventh grade outdoor paintings in water colors.

The Oregon Motor Fitness tests which are given twice each year in all Oregon schools are being given in the physical education classes. The tests are given in grades seven through 12.

Junior Red Cross council members met with those from other schools at the Red Cross building Tuesday. They brought back pins and membership cards which will be distributed to home rooms this week. Members attending were Sharon Chipman, seventh grade; Tanya Trowbridge, eighth grade; and Rilla Den Herder, ninth grade.

The history department of Hedrick Junior High paid tribute to Francis E. Willard Friday, as one of the pioneer leaders in social reforms. Her contributions in such reforms were discussed and the significance of her leadership is taught as an appreciation.

The United Nations was discussed in terms of organization and duty. Problems which have confronted the various agencies will be discussed. Americans who have served on the UN were recognized.

Future Homemakers of America had a fashion show sponsored by Mann's department store during their weekly meeting. Doris Caldwell, from Mann's did the commentary and answered questions. Girls modeling were Meredith Jensen, Cheryl Carver, Cynthia Barnett, and Marcella Willoughby. The Hedrick FHA and McLoughlin's will attend the district meeting to be held in Grants Pass.

Stingers are strong this year at Hedrick! One hundred and eighty-five to be exact. The Stinger drill team has 60 members. Drill team practice is held during lunch hour. Results of elections were Frances Bessonette, president; Pat Nelson, vice-president; Sue Sneed, sergeant at arms; Julie Wray, secretary-treasurer; Ann Richardson, historian; Janie Stinson, reporter; Martha Dixon, eighth grade leader; and Nancy Edwards, seventh grade leader.

Mrs. Frank Bash, local American Field Service president, announced Friday the names of the six MHS finalists for the summer-exchange program sponsored by the AFS.

Those selected were Nancy Hinman, Deanne Taylor, Mary Kay Harris, Martha Simpson, Dick Ragsdale, and Jim Frake.

Applicants are to complete by Thursday additional application blanks to be sent to the final screening committee at the AFS headquarters in New York.

The Crater staff has warned seniors that only five days remain for buying picture coupons. The coupons must be presented to the photographic studio before having pictures taken. Also, each senior must have one in order to have his picture appear in the yearbook.

Claude Haggard, safety director at the California Oregon Power company, will be principal speaker at the monthly science club meeting Monday in the auditorium. He will lecture and conduct a demonstration on electrical safety.

More than 70 upperclassmen took the preliminary college board exam Saturday. The test, which began at 8:30 a.m. and lasted two hours, is a test designed to acquaint students with the makeup and content of the college board exams. Many scholarships are based upon the college board exams.

The Girls league, headed by president Linda Slessler, held its first meeting of the year Wednesday. Linda introduced to the rest of the officers as well as the representatives of each class.

The main program featured two vocal solos by Shirley Satterfield, a new senior from Grants Pass. Carolyn Mencke showed some of her pictures from her Finnish trip this summer.

Tickets for "Dino," the all-school play, will go on sale Oct. 26. General admission will be $1, with student tickets 50 cents, and reserved seats $1.50. Tickets will be available at the high school and from members of the cast.

Judi Budge, Joyce Crow, Joanne Evans, JoAnn Kiebler, Carolyn Kieff, Deanna Kunkel, Sheryl Lewis, Barbara Meyers, Willajo Mills, Anita Ritchey, Mavis Strom, and Inez Viers represented MHS at the Future Homemakers of America convention in Grants Pass Oct. 24. Claudine Kratzberg, advisor, and Ruth Hockersmith, sewing instructor, accompanied the girls.

Medford delegates presented a skit on how to sell cookies as a fund-raising project. The skit was divided into three parts - taking orders, baking the cookies, and delivering.

Bill Moffat, Harvard alumnus, met with 15 seniors, interested in the college last Wednesday.

In order to point out Harvard's characteristics, typical life, structure, and procedures in general, Moffat presented a 45-minute recording made by the Harvard staff. A discussion period followed regarding admittance, study, and other data concerning Harvard and its feminine complement, Radcliffe.

Those attending were Jim Spoerl, Matt Rode, Henry Olson, Lauren Stayton, Doug Kliever, Robert Hamilton, Jim Lacy, John Lacy, Gary Cummings, Dean Goddard, John Frohnmayer, Ray Konopasek, John Shaw, Dave Ryn, and Margaret Medlin.

Junior class rings arrived last Wednesday. The rings, ordered last spring, are being sold in room 241. Marvin Kautz, class counselor, and Suzy Thompson and Linda Hess, juniors, head the sales committee.

Beginning this year, makeup time can only be made on Saturday mornings from 8 a.m. to noon. In previous years, time was made up several periods, 3:15 to 4 p.m., but classes are scheduled during that period this year. Students who have makeup time against them at the end of the quarter will receive a failing grade in all nine-weeks' exams.

Carolyn Mencke, senior, will answer questions concerning her recent trip under the auspices of the America Field Service on MHS's next radio presentation, according to DeVere Taylor who is in charge of all radio presentations.

Recording date for the program is Oct. 28, and it is to be released at 6:30 p.m. Oct. 31.

Four MHS students visited Hedrick Junior high last Monday to present an exhibition debate for freshmen debaters there.

Carolyn Mencke and Elaine Jennings argued the negative position, while Dean Goddard and Doug Kliever upheld the affirmative viewpoint. Subject of the discussion was the 1959-60 Oregon state high school debate topic: "Resolved, that Section 14-B of the National Labor Relations Act should be repealed."

A record hop was held in the boys gym after the game Friday. Decorations for the dance, sponsored by the Pep club, consisted of paper records placed on the walls.

Jim Frake, junior, represented Medford High Saturday at the sixth annual convention of Oregon high school broadcasting in Eugene.

Sponsoring the day-long conference was the University of Oregon school of journalism, the department of speech, and the Oregon Association of Broadcasters.

Highlighting the affair were panel discussions and several speakers, one of whom was Gary Johnson of station KMED.

ford-Eureka game Friday night, the rally squad conducted a pep assembly for all MHS students in the afternoon.

A skit illustrating the progress that rally squads have made from "caveman to beatnik" was featured at the rally. Paul Evensen of the coaching staff made a spirited speech pointing toward the impending conflict.

Formal installation and initiation of the Future Teachers of America officers and members was held in the cafeteria at 7 p.m. Oct. 20.

Officers installed by John Mast, advisor, were Jean Pleisch, president; Mary Kay Harris, secretary; Jeannine James, treasurer; Julie Faught, librarian; and Nancy Van Valzah, historian.

The new members were formally initiated by the new officers. Afterwards, orders were placed for FTA pins, and refreshments were served.

Medford High was represented by four students and two advisors at the annual Oregon high school press conference in Eugene Oct. 16 and 17.

Representing Hi-Times were feature editor, Margaret Tizekzer; sports editor, Joe Railton; and advisor, Vern Wolthoff. Attending from the Crater staff were co-editors Jeannine James and Lauren Stayton, accompanied by advisor, Elizabeth Settle.

Principal speaker for the conference was Robert W. Lucas, managing editor of the Denver Post, who spoke at the banquet the first night on "A Journalist's Sentimental Journey."

Luncheon addresses on "Where Are the Big Ideas?" and "I Wonder Where the Glamor Went?" were given by Bill Wilson, account executive, Cole and Weber, Portland, and Prof. John L. Hulteng, respectively.

Thespian Troupe 358, Medford High's newest club, held initiation of charter members and installation of officers in the auditorium Oct. 20 at 7:30 p.m.

Charter members were initiated by a reading of the purposes and ideals of the organization. Officers were installed by Lenore Zapell, advisor. The list of duties and responsibilities for each office was read aloud, and each new officer repeated his respective duties.

The charter was then presented to the group and signed.

In Mrs. Mary Carlson's second grade we are decorating for Halloween. We made funny cats with fans for bodies.

Ralph Wiese did an experiment for us to show that the surface of water has tension and could float a pin.

We have been learning new games in our physical education class.

In social studies we are studying about our "Neighborhood Helpers." We saw a film and had stories about how fireman helps us.

The two first grade rooms are planning a reading demonstration for the parents of first grade children. It will be held Nov. 3 at 1 p.m. Parents will first meet in the gymnasium.

The fifth and sixth grade classes have been seeing films of Australia, New Zealand, the Fiji and other places that Mrs. Florence Connors visited last summer.

The two six grade rooms met together in James Hennebeck's room for social studies. Mr. Hennebeck's class showed Mrs. Dena DeKorte's class their projects on the provinces of Canada. Mrs. DeKorte's room gave Mr. Hennebeck's room a quiz on the historical men of Canada they have been studying.

There were 10 students chosen out of Mr. Hennebeck's sixth grade to give speeches for the United Nations Day. There were four students chosen to make posters for the halls and library. The United Nations flag and posters were taken from room to room and the children gave their informative talks.

The last of September we elected officers for the Oak Grove School student body. They were president, Dick Howsley; vice president, Dale Metzger; secretary, Lynn Taylor; and treasurer, James Westertield. They will remain as student body officers for the rest of the school year.

Work of Priest Is Subject of Program

The work of a Belgian Dominican priest in setting up European Villages for refugees will be told in tonight's telecast of Armstrong Circle theater, it was announced today.

The program shown here at 10 o'clock, is a part of the current World Refugee Year to call attention to the plight of thousands of persons in refugee camps in various parts of the world.

Father Pire's work is of particular interest to Medford Zonta club members since Zonta International has pledged support of the project for the coming year. Father Pire has established a series of "villages" in which the refugees are being established, and has also been responsible for thousands of refugees being placed in private homes.
