Enrollments in Ashland Stabilize

Ashland—Enrollments in Ashland schools have stabilized for the present school year, according to Superintendent Stanley Jobe.

The number of students enrolled as of Oct. 20, he said, was 2,541, compared to 2,480 on a comparable date last year, an increase of about 2 1/2 per cent.

Over a 10-year period between 1949 and 1959, school enrollment increased from 1,655 to 2,541, Jobe noted, and averaged 4.5 per cent per year during that time.

Jobe said there still are crowded conditions at the junior high and senior high schools. The new junior high will relieve this condition in both areas since the ninth grade, now attending the high school, will transfer into the new building.

Present crowded conditions at Bellview elementary school will be relieved upon completion of six classrooms and a new kitchen.

Jobe said completion of rooms at Walker and Bellview and the new junior high school will put the system abreast of present enrollment. Some work is needed in improvement of the science and vocational facilities of the high school program, he noted.

Classes—Conversational English classes, designed for foreign-born residents, will begin at 7:30 o'clock tonight in room 250 at Medford High school. No tuition is charged and the courses are for persons who wish to gain use of the fundamentals of the English language.

Radar-TV Yields Traffic Controller

Virginia Beach, Va. (Science Service)—A marriage of television and radar has produced, as offspring, a way of keeping tabs on airplanes flying around airports.

At the Naval Air Station here, the new Sparrad system was installed to meet air traffic control problems of the jet age. The system has two elements: 1. a radar which scans the skies for spotting planes and 2. a television camera which photographs a map of the area. An attendant moves little plastic models over the map by hand to indicate plane positions.

The radar picture is superimposed over the television picture and the result is shown on a TV screen. Result: A picture showing a map of the area with markers showing where each plane is supposed to be, plus radar blips showing where each airplane actually is.

Floods Threaten Mexican States; Death Toll High

Mexico City—UPI—Storm-triggered floods threatened in four Mexican Gulf Coast states today while rescue and relief efforts were intensified on the cyclone-battered Pacific coast.

Latest reports placed the death toll in Tuesday's cyclone at 76 in the Manzanillo area alone. Navy department reports placed the number of injured at 710.

Town Wiped Out
The cyclone cut a crescent-shaped bath of death and destruction 150 miles wide and 400 miles long in three Pacific Coast states. The Navy Department reported the entire town of Cuyutlan in Colima, with a population of 800, was wiped out.

A new storm lashed the Gulf Coast Wednesday night, swelling rivers to flood stage. The storm threatened large areas of Vera Cruz, Campeche, Tabasco and Yucatan states which were still digging out from storms and floods 10 days ago.

The navy closed the port of Vera Cruz and flashed storm warnings to shipping in the coast as far as the Yucatan Peninsula.

President Adolfo Lopez Mateos took personal charge of the rescue and relief efforts on the Pacific Coast. He mobilized all government departments for the operation.

A 25-truck relief convoy left Mexico City Wednesday for the West Coast area. Two Mexican navy destroyers from Acapulco and four helicopters from Vera Cruz were also ordered to bring relief to the thousands left homeless by the cyclone and accompanying floods.

Clues Lacking in Search for Judge
Chicago—UPI—Police were without a solid lead today as they tried to find some trace of Judge W. Lynn Parkinson of the U.S. Court of Appeals, missing more than two days.

A door-to-door search of the near North Side neighborhood in which the judge was last seen Monday turned up nothing to indicate the whereabouts of the distinguished jurist.

Detectives questioned dozens of persons, stopping at gift stores, barber shops, restaurants and cocktail lounges where Parkinson might have stopped.

The Lake Michigan shoreline nearby was also searched but no clue was found.

The judge left the appeals courthouse Monday afternoon, complaining he was not feeling well and had a pain in the back of the head. His family felt this might indicate his disappearance was caused by an amnesia attack.

Wallops Island, Va. Balloon Sent High Over Ocean

Wallops Island, Va.—UPI—American scientists late Wednesday rocketed a 10-foot aluminum-coated balloon to an altitude of 240 miles over the Atlantic Ocean.

The launching touched off "flying saucer" reports from Boston to Florida.

The balloon was launched by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in a series of experiments the government hopes will lead to placing a similar balloon in orbit around the earth.

The space agency said the experiment achieved its aim of testing the vehicle's ejection and inflation machinery. Data on its performance was radioed back to earth. The balloon was not meant to go into orbit.

The two-stage launching rocket, producing 130,000 pounds of thrust, produced a bright vapor trail in the evening sky which contributed to the wide visibility.
