The luncheon marked the 40th anniversary of the club and prematurely celebrated Mrs. Eisenhower's 83rd birthday, which falls on November 14. (UPI Telephone)

Chapter Hears Program on India

East Indian pottery and plaques with bazaar items decorated the William Riggert home at 78 Winema Way, Monday evening for the educational program of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority meeting.

India was the country studied during the session. Mrs. William E. Cox, Miss DeMaris Glutsch and Mrs. Albert Lange spoke on the economics, agriculture and cities of the country. Mrs. Riggert demonstrated yogi positions which the native people use for relaxation and concentration.

Following the program each person draped herself in the native style with materials on hand.

Mrs. Robert Shangle and Mrs. Davis Young served tea with a rice dessert. Hostesses for the occasion wore Indian saris and jewelry.

Previous to the educational program the group met at the home of Mrs. Shangle for the business meeting.

New PTA Unit Slates Meeting

Griffin Creek Parent-Teacher association, formerly the Griffin Creek Mothers' club, will meet Thursday, November 5, at 7:30 p.m. at the school cafeteria.

The original charter will be signed and a discussion held on the by-laws, which will be voted on. Speaker will be Russell Acheson, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of transportation and building maintenance.

The meetings will now be held on Thursday, it was announced, to avoid conflict with church activities.

Refreshments will be served by the fifth grade.

World Day Program Announced

A full program has been planned for World Community day to be observed Friday, November 6, at First Christian church beginning at 11 a.m. A film strip on the United Nations will be followed by election of officers and presentation of 1960 budget for the Council of Church Women, sponsoring group for the day's observance.

Luncheon is to be served in the social rooms of the church at 12:30 p.m. Church groups attending are requested to bring hot dishes, salad or dessert. Mrs. Grover Corum will speak on the topic "The Refugee Year" during the luncheon hour.

Mrs. L. B. Pierce, general chairman, announces that the worship service will begin promptly at 1:30 p.m. and will open with installation of officers by the Rev. Thomas McCamant.

The theme "Full Partners for Peace" will be used for the afternoon's program. Women of Zion Lutheran church are to present a skit and the Rev. C. J. Young will give the devotions.

Mrs. O. J. Acker, Aberdeen, Wash., an active member of the Council of Churches and a recent delegate to the Denver Convocation as well as having been a delegate to the recent conference in Geneva, will be the speaker. Adding interest will be the travel pictures which she will show during her talk.

Those attending are reminded to bring children's clothing and layettes for children in disaster areas; these are to be presented at the altar at the close of the program. Also to be remembered with a special offering will be those in need in Ghana, and the South Sea Islands.

A nursery for small children will be provided.

Chrysanthemum Display Planned For Garden Club

Medford Garden club will meet Thursday, November 4, at 1:30 p.m. at the county courthouse. Mrs. LeRoy Cline, horticulture chairman, has asked members to take specimens of chrysanthemums, which is the flower of the month, to the meeting.

At a meeting for valley garden club members held recently at the courthouse, Claude Mills, Portland, horticulturist with Miller Products company, showed colored slides on bulbs and spring shrubs.

He mentioned bulbs to plant with the view of having color in the garden over a longer period of time.

Among the 70 members attending were representatives from Talent, Central Point, Howard, Rogue River, Ashland, Eagle Point, Roxy, Laurel, Crater, Jacksonville, Phoenix and the Medford Garden club.

Also speaking at the meeting were Leonard Howell, Kogap Lumber company, who told of bark mulch, and Robert Miksche of Monarch Seed and Feed.

At the close of the meeting a tea was held. Focusing were Mrs. R. T. Nichol, director of the Siskiyou district of the Oregon Federation of Garden clubs, and Mrs. C. O. Long, Talent, assistant district director.

Mrs. Dayton D. DePue was chairman of the tea assisted by Mrs. Harry Buckmaster, Mrs. Elton Arnsperger and Mrs. Ellen Waldron.

An arrangement of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums and black holders with orange tapers centered the serving table.

Queen Elizabeth Prepares For Birth of Third Child

By MARGARET SAVILLE
United Press International
London—(UPI)—Queen Elizabeth, looking rested and relaxed after her summer and fall sojourn in Scotland, has returned to London with the Duke of Edinburgh, determined not to allow her pregnancy to keep her from her private state duties.

The couple arrived at Euston station after an overnight ride in the royal train from Perth, and drove at once to Buckingham palace. They had spent the week end at Drumkillo House in Perthshire, home of Lord Elphinstone, the Queen's cousin.

Canine Newcomers
Queen Elizabeth waved gaily to a small crowd waiting to see her drive from the station. She wore a loose-fitting coat of pale blue.

The Duke led two newcomers to the royal canine family—a pair of young-looking Labrador.

The Queen will undertake no public engagements pending the birth of her child, but will carry out normal state business and receive official visitors in audience. Palace sources said the Queen, among other things, had wanted to return to London from Balmoral to congratulate Princess Alexandra on the success of her trip to Australia and the Far East.

Queen Elizabeth also will have an unofficial meeting with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to discuss the Conservative party victory and the new Macmillan cabinet.

But the queen, who is expecting her third child early next year, will undertake no public engagements.

Anxious To Be Active
Court circles said that while Queen Elizabeth is anxious to remain as active as possible before the birth, she is already preparing for the actual birth and care of the infant.

So far there has been no announcement of a new government to care for the child. Helen Lightbody, who cared for the Queen's two other children, Prince Charles and Princess Ann, left the royal service in 1956.

The sources said Queen Elizabeth intends to stay in London, but probably will pay occasional week end visits to Windsor castle, about 30 miles west of the capital. She will travel about the city privately, calling on friends, and even doing her personal Christmas shopping.

She may also attend the theatre. But there will be no royal performances, and no publicized visits. Instead, the Queen will slip quietly into the royal box before the curtain rises, and slip out immediately after the final curtain.

No Parliament
The Queen did not open parliament Tuesday. The speech from the throne was read by the Lord Chancellor and there was none of the traditional pomp.

Christmas, one of the favorite seasons for the closely-knit royal family, will find the Queen at Sandringham, another royal residence, about 100 miles northeast of London in Norfolk.

She will be the hostess at the usual family house party. Only close relatives and one or two intimate friends spend the holiday with the royal family.

The Queen will return to Buckingham palace for the birth, expected about the end of January or the beginning of February.

There is a fully-equipped operating room at the palace.

Will Guard Health
All members of the royal family, including Prince Philip, will be isolated from the queen if they show signs of so much as a sniffle.

Doctors will take the maximum care to see that the Queen is not exposed to any illnesses. For the same reason, her medical advisers wish her to avoid all crowded places and her outdoor activities will be kept to a minimum.

But the Queen, always active, may prove a difficult ward. Court sources say she has made it clear she will not be molly-coddled, and intends to do her daily correspondence until shortly before the birth.

Mothersingers To Meet Tuesday In Central Point

Central Point—Mrs. Harvey Field has issued an invitation to all women interested in joining the newly organized District 6C Mothersingers to attend a meeting of the group Tuesday, November 2, at 9:30 a.m.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Marion Ayres, 45 North Ninth street, Central Point. Child care will be available at the home of Mrs. Lillian Wright, Fourth and Laurel streets.

Two organizational meetings have been held recently with 20 women showing an interest in forming the chorus group. Mrs. Field particularly stressed that this is not a group of professional singers, but women who sing for the fun of singing.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ullom, 448 Laurel street, Central Point, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary with a reception Sunday, November 8. The event will be at Berean Baptist church, White City, and the Ullom's neighbors and friends are invited to attend. Hours will be from 2 to 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Medford Student Sings With Choir

Salem—Members of the Willamette University choir were selected recently by Director Donald Gleckler.

Among those chosen was Miss Rosemary Doolen, daughter of Mrs. Horace M. Doolen, 612 West Second street, Medford. Miss Doolen is a freshman majoring in music.

Federal law forbids the portrait of any living person to appear on a U.S. postage stamp.

Biennial Plants To Be Club Topic

Mrs. Arthur Straus will present a program on biennial plants at a meeting of Crater Garden club at 7:30 p.m. November 5 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frieson, 2120 Table Rock road. Mrs. Carroll Stevenson will discuss types of roses.

The club which meets in the evening, is especially for couples who are interested in the horticulture division of garden club work.
