Missionary to Speak at Assembly

Ashland—The Rev. Forrest C. Travaille, Presbyterian Missionary on furlough from Thailand, will speak Wednesday, Nov. 4, at 10 a.m., in the Southern Oregon college Churchill auditorium.

Mr. Travaille is director of a cooperative farm at Chiangrai, where unused land obtained for the government is being farmed by 50 families selected by the church. Using borrowed funds for machinery and other necessary equipment, it is hoped that within five years the farms will pay for themselves.

First arriving in Thailand in 1938, Mr. Travaille began his missionary work as an evangelist with emphasis on the training of lay leaders. He has been working on rural projects since the end of World War II. Also on the Wednesday program is the appearance of the SOC choir under the direction of Oscar C. Bjorli.

Dance Set Monday Is Postponed by Group

A dance scheduled Monday, Nov. 2, by the Medford Barracks, Veterans of World War I, has been postponed until Thursday, Nov. 5, it was announced Saturday.

The dance will be held at Walker's Dreamland on East Main st., with proceeds from the event going for the hospital fund of the organization, especially for the annual Christmas gift program for veterans at the Camp White Domiciliary.

Camp Rilea Route Along Coast Urged

Salem—UPI—Oregon State Highway Engineer W. C. Williams has recommended that the State Highway Commission adopt the proposed Camp Rilea route for relocation of the Oregon Coast highway between Seaside and Astoria. He said he felt that the Camp Rilea route would be more beneficial than other proposed ones. Cost is estimated at $4,908,884.

Cattlemen Not Liable for Tax

John Day—UPI—Circuit Judge E. H. Howell has ruled here that cattlemen in Oregon are not liable for taxation under a state statute in their use of federal land for cattle grazing.

The case involved six Eastern Oregon cattlemen who filed a test case of a 1947 state law against the State Tax Commission. The law was put into effect last April.

Judge Howell said the state statute in question was constitutional, however. The cattlemen in their suit contended it was unconstitutional. The judge's 18-page opinion said that the plaintiffs' interest in federal land they use under the Taylor Act is not a lease, it is a license to use. By that virtue, he said, it is not a taxable interest.

A Tax Commission spokesman said it had not been decided whether to appeal the decision.

Private Pilots' School Is Planned

Stan Lacy of the Medford station of the weather bureau will be guest speaker at the meteorology session.
