Objection to Place Of Engine Voiced By Area Residents

The three McAndrews rd. residents who objected to the locomotive's placement were Mrs. Lawrence Anderson, Mrs. Earl Pitcock, and Mrs. Charles Clark.

The women, who said they represented the residents in the neighborhood, not only mentioned the lack of view due to the engine's location, but stressed the noise from the children playing on it.

Commission members explained that a fence is to be erected next week along McAndrews rd. near the locomotive to keep children, who play on the engine, from running toward and into the road.

Dislike Location

The women asked if the locomotive could be moved farther into the park. They said that the residents of the area did not object to the engine, but did not like where it was.

The commission decided to refer the matter to the city council.

The commission approved, on the recommendation of Haworth, that a sprinkler system be installed in Union park as well as seeding the area. The group pledged their help to the project.

The possibility of having 13th st. vacated in the park area was dropped temporarily until more definite plans were known regarding the Washington school playground.

Saturday Program

Haworth announced that barring any unforseen changes, the Saturday recreation program of the department would go into effect Saturday, Nov. 21, in the majority of the elementary school gymnasiums. He said that the program would include both individual and competitive athletics.

The teen-age dance program for the fall was postponed pending a meeting with YMCA officials.

Colored slides showing the moving of the locomotive from the Southern Pacific tracks at McAndrews rd. to Jackson st. park were shown.

The next meeting of the commission will be Dec. 7 when a joint session of the city and county park groups meet with representatives of the bureau of land management, forest service, state highway department, and other interested persons in the county courthouse.

Object of the meeting will be to see what other groups are doing in the area, Russ Jamison, commission chairman, reported.

Indictments in Elkins Case Dropped

Portland – (UPI) – The district attorneys' office moved Tuesday to dismiss indictments against six men who had been charged along with James B. Elkins, local night-life figure, with burglary conspiracy.

Elkins last week won a judgment of acquittal after Circuit Judge Eugene Oppenheimer said there was not enough evidence to link him with the charge. Julian Herndon, deputy district attorney, moved for dismissal of the charges against the others.

S. F. Philharmonic Misses Engagement

San Francisco – (UPI) – The Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra, directed by Herbert Von Karajan, started its American and Canadian tour on a sour note here Tuesday night.

The group's instruments and 47 of its musicians were delayed in Honolulu when a plane developed mechanical difficulties and its San Francisco concert was cancelled.

FCC Plans Sweeping New Investigation Of TV Practices

Washington–(UPI) – The Federal Communications commission set in motion today a sweeping new investigation which could bring a crackdown on rigged TV quiz shows, offensive commercials and other broadcast practices "contrary to the public interest."

The commission will survey just what powers it has to police radio and TV programming. It said Tuesday the inquiry might lead to proposals for new legislation by Congress.

To Look at Licenses

The FCC also will take a hard new look at its policies on granting radio and television station licenses to make sure they are "adequate in view of the changed and changing conditions in the broadcast industry."

The commission said this phase of the investigation would involve development of "more detailed and precise standards for the guidance of broadcasters in the exercise of their responsibility."

The agency will hire additional staff members and otherwise expediate the inquiry, which stemmed from the recent congressional investigation of rigged quiz programs.

This is the fourth investigation of radio-TV practices. In addition to the congressional hearings, which next will consider alleged bribes to disc jockeys, the Federal Trade commission has started a crackdown on false and misleading commercials and the Justice Department is looking into the legal questions involved in rigged quiz programs and other fraudulent practices.

Stocks Continue To Be Mixed In Light Trading

New York –(UPI)– Stocks continued mixed in light trading today.

For most of Wall Street it was a holiday with banks closed for Veterans Day and no dealings done in foreign exchanges. Some of the commodity markets and many financial district offices also were closed.

Brokers said disappointment over the market's failure to make any headway on Monday resulted in further liquidation Tuesday. However, they point out, the list suffered more from a lack of support than any substantial selling pressure.

Trend Evident Again

This trend was evident again in today's session. Like Tuesday the electronics got a good deal of the play with gains running to more than 3 in Motorola, 2 or more in Ampex and Litton, and 1 or better in Texas Instruments, Beckman, General Time and IBM.

Steels and motors were trendless for the most part. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem eased, Youngstown firmed. In the autos, Ford and GM gave up fractions, Chrysler was unchanged and Studebaker rose around a half.

Rails firmed on average with gains of a half or more in Southern Railway and Southern Pacific.

Prisoner Watches Inmate Hang Self

San Fernando, Calif. – (UPI) – Police reported today a city jail prisoner sat idly by and watched his jailmate hang himself.

"If that's what he wants to do it's up to him," police quoted Gregory J. Rivera, 28.

Rivera watched Tuesday while William L. Ortiz, 52, cut up his mattress into strips, tied them to the cell door and hanged himself, police said.

Both men were serving 10-day jail sentences imposed for plain drunk arrests.

Police, who said the two men apparently did not know each other before being jailed together, planned to discuss the case with the city attorney to see if Rivera could be prosecuted for not trying to prevent the suicide.

Ft. Leonard Wood Fires Controlled

Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.–(UPI)– More than 500 acres were destroyed by a chain of five forest fires here Tuesday night.

High winds which fanned the flames died down late in the night and the fires, which at one time threatened trailer courts and businesses, were brought under control.

At one time five fires were one on the grounds of Ft. Leonard Wood, were quickly extinguished.

"MY HOUSE KEEPS WARM AND KEEPS CLEAN... ALWAYS JUST RIGHT," says

Mrs. Vincenzo DeChiara of Roseburg.

The DeChiara family, of course, uses modern

ELECTRIC HEAT!

The DeChiaras, a family of 14, came here from Naples, Italy, seven years ago. Mr. DeChiara is an automobile mechanic; Mrs. DeChiara, according to family and friends, is the best cook of old-style Italian dishes in town! (All of 'em prepared on modern electric appliances, of course.)

In addition to its cleanliness and warmth, the DeChiaras also like the economy of their baseboard electric heating system. So will you—when you go electric.
