

Rockefeller Gives Program to Pursue In Soviet Dealings

Los Angeles — (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York today set forth a six-point program he said the United States should pursue in its dealings with Soviet Russia.

In a speech prepared for delivery at a lunch meeting with the Los Angeles World Affairs Council, Rockefeller discussed foreign policy and U.S.-Soviet relations.

He presented these "principles of policy":

— We cannot confuse tactical improvement in diplomatic table-manners with a serious political settlement.

— We cannot be weak or timid about our principles or pursue their own destinies in freedom.

— We cannot weaken our national security in the mere hope that the Soviet Union may soon reduce its own political ambition.

On the positive side, Rockefeller said the United States can and should:

— Be ever ready to welcome and to encourage any Soviet steps that move in the direction of a just peace.

— Be imaginative and flexible in devising proposals for a stable world, including assurances and guarantees to all nations, including the Soviet Union, against armed attack.

— Stand ready, even while Soviet policy continues committed to a notion of peace that does not seem just, to negotiate about measures to slow and to discipline the race in arms.

Rockefeller said the Soviets had offered "some rather peculiar terms" for relaxing tensions, including recognition of the status quo in eastern Europe.

"We cannot stand for self-determination in Asia and Africa, as we do and must, while denying it in Europe," he said. "Whatever reassurances we may give the Soviets against military measures, they cannot ask us to protect them from the moral and political consequences of their own acts of oppression."

Major Changes in Labor Laws To Become Effective on Friday

Washington — (UPI) — Six major changes in U.S. labor laws sharply curtailing unions' rights to picket and conduct boycotts against employers go into effect Friday.

Attorneys for organized labor, business groups and government agencies differ widely on the precise impact of the changes in the Taft-Hartley Act.

But they do agree that it will be years before the courts and administrative rulings spell out exactly what a union can and cannot do under the new statute.

"The new amendments occupy less than five printed pages but... seldom has legislation packed so many apparently close and difficult questions into such a small amount of type," one member of the National Labor Relations Board said recently.

Unions did win some concessions in the new law they have generally condemned as anti-labor. The building trades will benefit by revisions to permit greater union control over hiring. All unions won a point in another section authorizing discharged strikers to vote in representation elections, within limits.

But most of the changes appear certain to hamper union activity. The major revisions include:

State Flag To Be Flown at Navy Base

Oregon youths, taking basic training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif., will soon be represented by an Oregon state flag, the Navy recruiting station in Portland has announced.

The flag will be flown at those occasions when Oregon boys are active participants. One of these occasions will be the Recruit Brigade Review, which signifies the successful completion of a nine-week course at the center.

Greyhound Drivers Receive Awards

Three Greyhound bus drivers from this area recently were awarded Safe Driving Certificates, personal gifts of jewelry, and shoulder insignia for their years of service to the company with an unblemished safety record.

They are William F. Morrison of Central Point, 750,000 miles and 15 years of driving; Benjamin C. Clark, 1540 Stratford way, Medford, 10 years and 500,000 miles; and Edo E. Bartolomei of 236 South Central ave., Medford, 10 years and 500,000 miles.

Stan A. Ossman, director of safety for Greyhound's western division, presented awards.

All unions won a point in another section authorizing discharged strikers to vote in representation elections, within limits.

But most of the changes appear certain to hamper union activity. The major revisions include:

— Abolition of the so-called "no-man's land" by allowing state courts and agencies to handle labor-management disputes where the NLRB declines to assert jurisdiction.

— Broadening the present ban on secondary boycotts and outlawing "hot cargo" clauses whereby an employer agrees to stop doing business with another firm having union troubles.

— Banning picketing for recognition or in organizing drives at plants by unions not certified as bargaining agents for the workers, except under limited conditions.

— Right To Vote — Permitting unions in the garment and construction industries to protect union standards by making contracts which restrict subcontracting despite the general ban on secondary boycotts.

— Giving replaced economic strikers the right to vote in NLRB elections if they are held within one year after the strike began.

— Allowing pre-hire contracts, hiring halls and agreements providing a worker must join a union within a week after he's hired in the construction industry.

Other parts of the new law dealing with reports on trusteeships, bonding and regulations barring ex-convicts from holding union office already have gone into effect.

Requirements of reports on union finances and democratic procedures become effective Dec. 13.
