

Airplane Crash Claims Rights Vary

New York — (UPI) — If you are killed in an auto accident, your heirs might collect as much as $200,000 or even more in damages.

But if you lose your life in almost any international airplane crash, the most your survivors could claim from the airline is $8,300.

Lee Kreindler, a New York lawyer specializing in airplane damage cases, pointed to this disparity in urging the ceiling be removed from the liability of airlines operating on international routes.

The United States subscribes to the Warsaw Convention, a treaty which puts a $8,300 limit on how much an airline can be forced to pay in a damage suit stemming from an international incident.

"Many experienced lawyers," Kreindler said, "feel that the principle of limiting damages for personal injury and death... is a totally abhorrent principle and should be abolished from our law."

Ike Reconvenes Steel Fact-Finders

Washington — (UPI) — President Eisenhower reconvened his special fact-finding board Wednesday to help achieve a settlement of the steel dispute and prevent renewal of the strike.

Under provisions of the Taft-Hartley Law, the board will participate in union-management talks for a 60-day period dating from Nov. 7, when the Supreme Court upheld the injunction sending steelworkers back to their jobs.

There were no immediate plans for board members to meet but federal mediators said they would be summoned to assist in seeking a peaceful solution to the steel dispute in the near future.

Local Man Sentenced In District Court

Joseph George Matthey, 53, of 1234 Court st., was sentenced in district court Monday to 7½ months in the county jail for petty larceny.

He had pleaded guilty to the charges. The charge was reduced from robbery by force and violence, not with a dangerous weapon and not being armed, according to court records.

Matthey and John Lewis Cox, 41, Crater hotel, were arrested by Medford police last June following an incident on Front st. Cox was given a similar sentence previously.
