GOLD HILL Fund Drive Reviewed

By MRS. CLYDE KELL
Gold Hill—Mrs. Ogden Kellogg, president of the Gold Hill Parent-Teacher association, and her committee listed two of many ways that $26 raised by Gold Hill youngsters for the annual United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund will help towards providing nutritional and medical programs aided by the fund.

She said that 55 million underprivileged mothers and children in more than 100 countries are receiving aid from UNICEF.

Mrs. Kellogg reported that each cent means five glasses of milk; each five cents means penicillin to free a child of yaws, a disfiguring tropical disease. Based on these figures, the $26 raised by local children on Halloween will either buy 13,000 glasses of milk for hungry children in various countries of the world; or enough penicillin to free 520 children of yaws.

This was the second year that the PTA had sponsored UNICEF in this area. The project originated nine years ago, when a group of youngsters in one Sunday school decided to promote a project at Halloween to share with less fortunate children, instead of asking for the usual handout. Officials reported that in some countries of the world, children had never tasted milk until they received aid from UNICEF.

Out of town chairman and children of the various sections of this community, who participated in the coin collection project on Halloween include Mrs. Lester Wakeman, Kanes Creek rd.; Billy Shoemaker, Darlene Shoemaker, Carol Rosencrans, Susan Rosencrans, Leslie Wakeman, Steven Wakeman, and David Johnson; Mrs. James Arnold, Lampman rd.; Janice Cznowskie, Joan Cznowskie, Jim Arnold, Donald Arnold, and Joe Alcense; Mrs. James Coward, Galls Creek rd.; Johnny Morris, Buddy Eckers, and Danny Estramado; Mrs. Arthur Boye, Highway 99 north, Bobby Boye, and Patty Boye; Mrs. Leonard Andrews, Upper river rd.; Linda Hilkey, Joanne Hilkey, and Charmaine Doherty; Mrs. Thelbert Wright, Sardine Creek rd.; Melinda Fluck, Robin Fluck, Tommy Kellogg, Danny Kellogg, Cindy Kellogg, Marlene Wright, Sharon Wright, Beverly Wright, Dickie Wright, Douglas McMahan, Steven McMahan, and Jeff McMahan.

Mrs. Kenneth Fluck and Ogden Kellogg Jr., assisted with the distribution and collection of the containers used for the project here. The Intermediate Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Gold Hill Community Methodist church cooperated with the UNICEF coin collection, assisting the PTA as one of its community service projects. Mrs. Kermit Bickle, leader of the youth group, was chairman for members of MYF and youngsters residing within the city limits who participated in the event.

A party was provided by the MYF for youngsters when they returned to the church with containers. Attending were Bobby Allison, Donald Molloy and his houseguest, Charles Loofborrow, of Gold Beach, Randy Turner, Bobby Turner, Mike Drake, Shirley Kell, Billy Jones, Marie Jones, Julie Stanton, Nancy Meister, Wayne Zander, Darrell Keiger and Sherman Keiger. Assisting Mrs. Bickle were Mrs. Sam Jones, Mrs. Lawrence Smith, and Mrs. Clyde Kell. Members of the Woman's Society of the church furnished cookies.

A number of occasions marked the observance of Halloween in this area.

A masquerade party, honoring teachers of the Hanby and Patrick Elementary schools here and Crater High school, Central Point, was held in the Odd Fellows hall. Seventy-five attended. Mrs. Daniel Stewart, general chairman, was mistress of ceremonies.

Mrs. John Bruce played the piano for the grand march as contestants were judged. Prizes were awarded for the best costumes. Judges were H. D. Force, Ferd Jones and Mrs. Floyd Taylor.

Judged best couple were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cameron for their gay 90s costumes; best woman, Mrs. Paul Molloy, attired as woman from Mars; funniest, Mrs. Donald Morrow, as a fat man; most original, Mrs. Jerry Herrington, as Sherlock Holmes, and Mrs. William Gossman, as Mr. Watson; miscellaneous, Mrs. Ogden Kellogg, as a school girl.

Teachers presented a skit, and other skits were given by some of the sponsoring groups, Amethyst Rebekah Friendship club, Lion's club, Past Noble Grands club, Amethyst Rebekah lodge, and Grange.

Special music was furnished by the trio of the Gold Hill Community Methodist church, Mrs. Paul Molloy, Mrs. C. Norman Gail, Mrs. Roy Eskew with Mrs. John Bruce as pianist. This group represented the health unit.

Other sponsoring groups are the Garden club, PTA and Odd Fellows.

Pupils of the Hanby and Patrick schools held their masquerade costume parade in the Hanby gymnasium, Oct. 30, and returned to class rooms where Halloween parties were held. Refreshments were arranged by room mothers.

The Halloween party for sixth graders and their parents was given Oct. 30. It was supervised by both teachers of that class, Allen Hill and Mrs. Mildred Black. Mothers in charge of refreshments were Mrs. Charles Rosencrans, Mrs. Rolland Rosencrans, Mrs. James Fisher, Mrs. Robbins, and Mrs. Clyde Kell.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hixson were hosts for a "neighborhood weeper roast" at their home on the Old Stage rd. Halloween. The annual event is to encourage children to remain in their own neighborhood.

Gathering this year, some in costumes, were Mr. and Mrs. Jess Plenner and children, Muri, Kenneth, Dennis and Leanne Plenner; Mary, Susie, Eva, and Marie Elbert; Mr. and Mrs. William Brewster and sons; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vail and sons, Douglas, Walter and Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schmidt, and Gregg; Mr. and Mrs. James Cornutt, and children, Susan, Dennis and Teddy; Barbara and Norman Schatz, Barbara Beck; and Judy Post, of Galls Creek rd.; Marilyn, David, and Lorraine Hixson.

Others who usually attend who were unable to this year were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Elbert, who were chaperones at St. Mary's homecoming in Medford that evening, their youngsters who accompanied them, Kathy, Geraldine and Kevin Elbert, and Mark Schmidt, attended a church party in Medford.

Back Stairs: Reporters in Operation

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
Washington—UPI—Backstairs at the White House.

The staff of President Eisenhower is well aware that during his forthcoming 20,000-mile trip to Asia and other points, some areas of the world will be exposed for the first time to one of the truly unusual aspects of democracy, American style, in operation—the White House reporters and photographers.

These men and women are specialists in their work and they do not always endeavor themselves to people in strange lands who simply cannot understand why a world leader of presidential stature would suffer himself to be questioned in public by commoners.

Eisenhower held an open press conference in Bonn, Germany, last August and the German reporters were highly reluctant to ask questions, even after the President stopped in the middle of the conference and invited the Germans to speak up. Only two or three of them did so, and then quite unasily.

On the forthcoming trip, Eisenhower may be moving so rapidly as to rule out press conferences along the way. He'll have more time in India than in any other place, but there is as yet no indication of a press conference in New Delhi.

The people of Asia—India, Pakistan and Afghanistan—may find it hard to understand when the Washington reporters who work with press secretary Jim Hagerty day in and day out question him rather penetratingly. In London last September, the British reporters—some of them, at any rate—commented in print on the cheek of the American reporters in addressing Hagerty to his face as "Jim."

Hagerty and a group of White House staff members are over in the Mediterranean area today, making a planning visit at every stop to be covered by the President on his trip. In every country visited thus far by the President, Hagerty always has seen to it that at least one carload of reporters travels within two or three car lengths of the President's limousine, particularly in processions.

In this way, the reporters in the "pool" car can hear and see crowd reaction to the President. Later they report to their colleagues who must proceed in other vehicles nearer the rear of the motorcade.

The British reporters last summer were utterly astonished by this arrangement. British officialdom from the Crown on down has a haughty attitude toward most newsmen and will not permit these men to clutter up their public appearances. French officials felt much the same way last summer until they saw the American system in operation. The British and French reporters loved the idea.

Even in the United States, many average American citizens take their daily newspapers for granted. They want their news fresh, accurate and up-to-date. But as spectators, they frequently have difficulty in understanding why a Washington reporter races to a telephone to transmit something the President said or did.

The loud American cry for telephones and telegraph wires will ring out from Rome to New Delhi next month and invariably, the local residents will wonder why the crazy Americans are in such a hurry.

All across America, millions of citizens will know within minutes by newspaper, radio or television, what the President saw, what he said and what he did. And they'll accept it as a matter of course. The news from Afghanistan might be a mite slow in getting out, however. There the long distance telephone to London operates only on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, and Eisenhower will be there on a Wednesday.
