

Auction to Benefit Jackson St. Park

The Crater Lions Club of Medford will install the wading pool at the Jackson st. park as a club project for their annual television auction.

Murry Dumas, auction chairman, announced that the event will be held sometime in late January or early February. Approximate cost of the pool is $3,000.

Russ Jamison, city parks and recreation commission chairman, explained that the wading pool had not been included in the park plans for bids. Although the wading pool is part of the total plan for Jackson park, public funds were not available.

Robert Haworth, parks and recreation director, said that a plaque will be erected at the wading pool in honor of the Crater Lions club for their cooperation in the city parks and recreation program.

Other installations at the site will include swimming and diving pools, baseball diamond, softball and football facilities, playground equipment and the locomotive recently moved to the site.
