

Teaching Aids Topic For PTA

Audio-visual aids used in Medford schools were described by Oliver Erickson, reading clinic teacher, at a meeting of Lincoln Parent-Teacher association Nov. 12.

The program followed an open house in the classrooms, where teachers greeted parents and others interested. Work done by the children and books and teaching aids were displayed in observance of American Education Week.

To demonstrate the tape recorder, Mr. Erickson recorded two numbers sung by a group of parents and teachers, and then played the numbers back to the audience.

He discussed reading, stating that 80 per cent of the children are successful readers. Mr. Erickson declared that the responsibility for valuable experiences in reading readiness lay with the parents. He urged parents to find the reasons behind a child's abnormal behavior and to work for better understanding of children.

Audio-visual aids discussed were the Keystone Telebinocular, the Tachistoscope, the Controlled Reader and film strips. Lincoln school owns many film strips that have been purchased by the PTA.

Mrs. Max Weston, president, conducted a short business meeting. She thanked Mrs. Marvin L. Kesner, chairman, and Mrs. Mark Lawrence for their work on the hospitality committee and Mrs. Jackson Ammons, room mother chairman, for table decorations. Refreshments were prepared by Mrs. Albert W. Gandt, Mrs. Ernest W. Hurt and Mrs. Bessie Burchfield, and served by Mrs. Isabelle Miller and Mrs. George A. Ortiz.

Regional Study Of Columbia Printed Again

The regional study of the water resources of the Columbia Basin, "The Great River of the West," recently published by the League of Women Voters of Oregon, Washington, Montana, and Idaho has gone into a second printing. Mrs. J. S. Benjamin, Eugene, chairman of the League's 4-state Columbia Basin Committee has announced. The new printing brings the total published to 9,000 copies.

"We feel that the fast sales of the booklet are, in a large measure, due to the need for factual, non-partisan information on the complex problems pertaining to the water resources of the Columbia Basin," Mrs. Benjamin said. The 32-page illustrated booklet came out in late September.

It deals with water use, control, and abuse in the Columbia Basin. It describes existing patterns of allocating benefits, responsibilities and costs for water resources development by local, state, federal, and international agencies. Five choices for achieving regional development of the basin are presented. A 7-color map of the present basin development supplements the text.

League members in the states of Oregon, Washington, Montana, and Idaho have been using the booklet as background material for their participation in the nationwide effort on the part of the League to support those national water policies and practices which promote coordinated administration, equitable financing, and regional or river basin planning. "Now is the time to buy and read," said Mrs. Robert Scofield, publications chairman for the Medford League. "Just after the first of the year consensus will be taken on questions regarding the Columbia Basin."

Copies will be available at the next general meeting scheduled for December 5 at the Country Club. In addition, any interested person may call Mrs. Scofield, SPing 2-6470.

Sugary dishes should be soaked in hot soapy water. Use cold soapy water for dishes in which egg, fish or dough have been cooked or prepared. Warm water with soap is best for greasy dishes, pots and pans.

Thanksgiving Ceremony to Aid CARE

A candlelight ceremony for CARE will mark the Thanksgiving meeting of Travel Study club, of the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs.

Mrs. Clay M. Lee, president of the club, will light the first candle in a special Thanksgiving program observance. This is dedicated to sending CARE "self help" to people around the world.

The candle-lighting ceremony will be held at the club's meeting Tuesday November 24, at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. John L. Mansfield, 1615 Crater Lake avenue as part of national "We Count Our Blessings" program which will originate at the General Federation of Women's Clubs headquarters in Washington, D. C. Each participating member will make a contribution to the current General Federation CARE campaign, which seeks to provide tools and equipment to help people help themselves. Throughout the nation, 16,000 Federated clubs are participating by holding similar Thanksgiving observances during November.

"We believe that the best way to give thanks for America's blessings is to give help, and hope, to others,"

Mrs. Lee said. "Above all, by helping people to help themselves, we feel we are bringing closer the time when they, too, will enjoy plenty, when our children, and theirs, can live together in friendship and peace. The candle-lighting program has been planned primarily for our members, but we will warmly welcome the support of anyone who may wish to join us by making a Thanksgiving contribution to the CARE campaign."

Mrs. Edith Swartsley will give a program on Alaska, before the candlelight ceremony.

Travel Study club's campaign to collect funds for CARE opened Tuesday afternoon with a tea at Girls Community club. Since the Federation funds are being sent this year to Greece, a number of southern Oregon residents who are natives of Greece, or are of Greek descent, were guests. Also present was Mayor John Snider.

Speaking briefly were Mrs. Murray Gardiner, Mrs. Don Waldron, Mrs. Don P. McNeil, and A. Davis, all Medford, and Theodore Avgeris, Colestin, Mrs. Gardiner and Mrs. Waldron are daughters of Greek fathers; Mr. Davis and Mr. Avgeris both are natives of Greece.

It was said that the Greeks are a peaceful, hard-working people but that the country is poor in natural resources. Mr. Davis pointed out that because of its smallness and strategic location, Greece has been invaded and despoiled many times. All stressed that the Greeks are extremely grateful for aid from other countries.

Pouring at the tea were Mrs. J. D. Brummond, Mrs. Carl Peterson, Ashland, Federation district chairman; Mrs. Clay M. Lee, club president; Mrs. William E. Boone, Mrs. Marvin Nelson and Mrs. Edith Swartsley.

The tea table centerpiece was of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums and wheat stalks.

The club has CARE collection boxes placed in several stores in which contributions may be placed through December 3.
