

United Nations Program Given For Local Guild

At the November meeting of Ruth Esther Wesleyan Service guild the president, Miss Voda Brower, reported on the Western Jurisdiction guild week end which she attended in Portland in October.

She stated that the theme of the talks and work shops was "The Light Upon the Mountains" and told of various devices used by the speakers to lift aims and thoughts of Guilders to the light above. Miss Brower said the most impressive portion of the conference was the communion service led jointly by Dr. Gertrude Boyd Crane and Miss Lillian Johnson. Miss Johnson is the national secretary of Wesleyan Service guilds.

Miss Annette Gray, program leader, developed the theme "Humanitarian aspects of the United Nations" by giving brief, informative summaries of two books, each written by men connected with UNICEF.

The first, "Half the World's Children" by Spurgeon M. Keeney, covered the author's experiences in an area extending from Korea to Afghanistan to the Fiji Islands, where he incredible problems for child-betterment exist.

The second book, "To Plow With Hope" by Donald K. Ferris, deals with reasons why half the world's children go to bed hungry every night and what can and should be done about it. He paints a "chilling picture" of the menacing shadow of famine which hangs over the eastern world's ever-increasing millions. He states also that the U.S. spends $40 for defense to every $1 spent to create and increase good will among our Eastern neighbors, which is by far this country's best defense.

Miss Janie Smith led devotions taking for her theme, "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him who . . . bringeth good tidings."

Mrs. Beatrice Dixon, Mrs. Leonard Vermeulen, Mrs. W. J. Worth, and Mrs. S. H. Gay served desserts representative of many U. N. countries. Mexico, Holland, France, England, China, Japan, Denmark, Sweden, Indonesia and two South American countries were represented. The delicately embroidered tablecloth had been brought from China 50 years ago by Mrs. Worth's father.

Four guests were welcomed by the group. These were Mrs. W. C. Newton, Mrs. Emma Craig, Mrs. Frank Walker and Mrs. Ellen G. Smith.

Baking Institute Gives Tips on Turkey Stuffing

By JEANNE LESEM United Press International
New York—Fancy stuffing for the Thanksgiving turkey can be made quickly and easily by combining packaged bread stuffing with other convenience foods.

The American Institute of Baking in Chicago has worked out a dozen variations on this theme, using everything from canned condensed soup to frozen cranberry relish.

But first, a couple of shopping tips:
—Buy one eight-ounce package of ready-to-use bread stuffing for a five to six pound bird; two packages for a 10 to 12 pound bird; three if the turkey weighs 15 to 18 pounds; and four for a 20 to 24-pound gobbler.

—Read the manufacturer's label, to determine if the mix is seasoned or plain. If it's unseasoned, add salt and pepper, plus marjoram, sage, thyme, poultry seasoning, onion or celery, or a combination of several, to taste.

—Here are the recipes, each using one 8-ounce package of seasoned bread stuffing. In multiplying the recipes for larger birds, increase added ingredients proportionately.

—Basic stuffing: follow the manufacturer's direction for adding melted butter or margarine and liquid. In the fancier recipes, skip package directions and blend the dry mix with additional ingredients as listed.

—Applesauce stuffing: add 1/3 cup of melted butter or margarine, 1 cup of thick applesauce, 1 teaspoon of ground cinnamon and 3 tablespoons of brown sugar.

—Bacon-parsley stuffing: add 1/4 cup of melted butter or margarine, 3 strips of crisp cooked bacon, crumbled, 3 tablespoons each of bacon drippings and chopped parsley and 1 cup of water.

—Cheese stuffing: add 1/4 cup each of melted butter or margarine and water and chopped parsley, and 1 cup of grated sharp cheese.

—Cranberry-orange stuffing: add 1/3 cup of melted butter or margarine, 1 cup of thawed frozen or fresh cranberry-orange relish, 1/2 teaspoon of salt, 1/4 teaspoon of nutmeg and 1 tablespoon of sugar.

—Giblet-celery stuffing: add 1/4 cup each of water and melted butter or margarine, 3/4 cup of cooked, chopped giblets and 2/3 cups of chopped celery.

—Mushroom stuffing: add 1 cup of sliced mushrooms sauteed in 1/4 cup of melted butter or margarine, 1/2 cup of chopped celery and 1/4 cup of water.

—Orange stuffing: add 1/4 cup each of orange juice and melted butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon of grated orange rind, 1 cup of orange sections, peeled and seeded, and 1/2 cup of chopped celery.

—Oyster stuffing: add 1/3 cup of melted butter or margarine, 1 cup each of drained oysters, milk and chopped celery and 2 eggs, slightly beaten.

—Sausage stuffing: add 1 cup of cooked sausage meat (1 pound raw), 2 tablespoons of chopped onion, 1/2 cup of chopped celery and 2 tablespoons of water.

—Spicy apple stuffing: add 1/2 cup of melted butter or margarine, 2 cups of coarsely chopped unpeeled apples, 1/2 teaspoon each of ground allspice, salt and ground cinnamon, 1 tablespoon of minced onion, 1/2 cup of chopped celery, 1 egg, slightly beaten, 1/4 cup of water and 1 teaspoon of lemon juice.

—Celery-nut stuffing: add 1 (10 1/2-ounce) can of condensed cream of celery soup, and 1/3 cup of unsalted nuts, either pecans, walnuts, almonds or peanuts.

Housekeeping Experts Classify Their Clients

By GAY PAULEY UPI Women's Editor
New York—Modern woman comes in for more scrutiny from more sources than cells under a microscope.

The experts analyze our psyche, categorize our spending habits, get exercised about our health, and criticize our care of kids.

They probe, prod, preach, and placate. They measure our girth, decry the rate of birth, joke about our bird brains, laugh at our hats and measure our contribution to society from the "dogood" clubwoman to the scientist.

All this must have started the day we won suffrage. But whatever the reason, nothing seems to halt the chain reaction of prying into why woman is what she is.

Now comes another examination of us, as housekeeping types. The experts in this case belong to a firm which claims to be the nation's largest home-care organization. Since the firm cleans one million homes a year, it figures its men are authorities on cleaning types.

Here is how they see us:
—The lady chatterer. The telephone is her passion and housework is apt to be a matter of pick up and sweep under. She theorizes that a little disorder gives the home a "lived-in" look.

—The "kaffeeklatscher." Her frequent beverage breaks and snacks.
—The live wire. She whirls out for the day, chic and soignée, off to a round of meetings, just plain gadding, or shopping. When the dirt piles up at home, she calls in the professionals.

—The angry young homemaker. To her, the demands of house and children compete constantly with the need for intellectual stimulation. She is apt to curl up with a copy of "Doctor Zhivago" on the theory that hubby prefers a companion to a clean home.

—The dream girl. She escapes from laundry baskets and leaky faucets through the television screen.
—The perfectionist. She "protects" her carpets with throw rugs, hides her furniture under plastic covers, empties ash-trays frantically, and designates some rooms off-limits to dogs and children.

Organization Woman
The pros didn't include her, but there also is another type—the "organization" woman. She's the list-maker, and more likely than not, she is one of the 22 million women who hold jobs outside the home and has to chart her daily course, if she's to accomplish everything.

She is the woman who has a lot of things to do today, one to do this week, and one for long range which probably includes addressing Christmas cards, figuring out 1960's budget, and planning her spring wardrobe.

PTA Speaker Explains How To Budget Time

"Living Within 24 Hours" was the subject of Mrs. Elmer Ness when she spoke for a meeting of Washington Parent-Teacher association Nov. 20. She was introduced by the program chairman, Mrs. Thomas Antley.

Mrs. Ness stated that many persons do not have time to do what they really want to do because they do not plan their work. She advised listeners to make three lists for "I have to do," "ought to do," and "hope to do," and work for a goal. Mrs. Ness used visual aids to show how lives are divided into definite cycles.

The meeting was held in the school cafeteria. Presentation of the flag was made by Den 5; Mrs. Ernest Ferguson is den mother. The P.T.A. prayer was read by Mrs. Donald Hickey, Camp Fire Girls, with Mrs. T. H. Garrity as their leader, assisted with the baby sitting.

Mrs. Victor Seeburger announced that the association now has 297 members. A decorated suggestion box was placed in the back of the room for suggestions as to how we could improve the meetings. Mrs. Edward Evans stated that suggestions will also be accepted for a fund raising project during April.

The newly purchased coffee urn and sugar and creamers were in use for the event. Mothers of children in the fifth grade grade provided refreshments with Mrs. Donald Hickey and Mrs. Roy Rolfs pouring. Room count was won by Mrs. Robert Huff.

Mrs. Ella Elle explained the use of the relief map which was on display. She stated that it would be of great benefit to both teachers and students. Miss Laura York showed how the use of the nature study chart will help the students in their study of science. Both the nature study charts and the relief map were purchased recently by the association.

Mrs. Fred Sears, health chairman, reported that 1,286 polio shots were given in Medford under the sponsorship of the Jaycees recently. The second series of shots will be given December 12. She stressed the need to have both children and adults take the shots.

Montague Woman Honored at Shower

Montague—Mrs. Richard Hockaday was honored at a layette shower given November 20 at the home of Mrs. Joyce S. Skeahan, with Mrs. Dale Freshour, Hornbrook, as co-hostess. Mrs. Hockaday's daughter, Carol Marie, was born November 10.

A coffee table was decorated with pink flowers and a miniature stork.
The 22 guests were from Montague, Hornbrook and vicinity. Among them was Mrs. Hockaday's mother, Mrs. Aage Peterson, Montague.

Actor Leaving For Convention In California

Ashland—Philip Hanson will leave Wednesday for Palo Alto, Calif., where he will attend a convention of the Western division of the Speech and Drama Instructors' association. Mr. Hanson will attend convention sessions and will be on the program.

From California Mr. Hanson, an actor, will go to Pocatello, Ida., where he will play Hamlet in a production at Idaho State college. The play, directed by Dr. Hal Todd, will be produced Dec. 11-12-13, and 17-18-19. The remainder of the cast will be college students and Pocatello townspeople. Dr. Todd is known locally through having directed plays for the Oregon Shakespearean festival.

While in Idaho Mr. Hanson will also give performances of his current one-man show, "Kings and Clowns." The actor has been appearing at high schools and colleges for the past several weeks and recently was booked at Washington State university, Pullman, where he studied and later was on the faculty, and at North Central High school, Spokane.

Following the Spokane appearance Ed Costello of the Spokesman-Review wrote of the performance in considerable detail and praised the actors presentations of the various Shakespearean characters portrayed in the "Kings and Clowns" program. The actor reports that he is already at work on a new program.
