Door Decorations Promote Yule Look

The real spirit of Christmas is in giving — so share part of the home's holiday mood with passers-by and neighbors. Give your entrance way a true Yule look!

Your doorway will sparkle a gay Christmas greeting if you capture the traditional mood with an ornament bedecked spray of evergreen, gaily tied-up with a bright red bow.

Plastic Wreaths

Fresh or plastic wreaths with berries, nuts and pine cones add that special holiday happy note to doorways, too.

Colorful variations are an oversize "candy-type" cane, tied with a big, big bow; a huge stocking — possibly filled with pretend gifts — or a miniature Christmas tree that can be made by mounting flat branches in a tree shape and decking them with baubles.

Santa Claus cut-outs can be made or purchased; easy to handle "snow" sprays lend interest to glass panels... cut-out snow-flakes can be mounted on the door.

Outline of Door

An outline of your door made with tree lights extends your greeting into the late hours. Evergreen trees on the lawn, low-placed shrubs and planter boxes at the front of the house — all lend themselves well to colorful night lighting!

And, friends and neighbors will enjoy the "warm hello" of your outdoor decor!

FOR THE BOWLER—The lady who bowls will appreciate a gift certificate for a ball and shoes. (Both must be fitted). A bowling bag containing the gift certificate makes a fine present.—Equipment by Marian Ladewig.

How long has it been since you took a look at the family photograph album? Cameras and equipment have come a long way since the early 1900's... and so have the results they produce!

Today almost every family owns and uses some kind of camera. That's why a gift along this line is almost certain to be used and appreciated. And if you know a "camera bug," your Christmas buying problems there are solved.

What to choose?—for the beginner there are any number of outfits already boxed, ready to give, that are not very expensive. Most of these include camera, flash attachment, batteries, bulbs, film, and some include slide projector and screen or viewer.

Other Good Gifts

Other good gifts for almost anyone would be an album, a professional-created film (if the recipient owns a movie projector), or the slides, which you can buy, of famous places, beautiful flowers, etc.

What you buy naturally depends on what the person already owns. Try to get a complete inventory of the items, take them to your local photo equipment shop and they will help with your selection.

Items to inquire about might be a 35mm camera which takes both prints and slides; wide angle and telephoto lenses; an exposure meter; carrying case; filter kits; and film.

The owner of a camera which takes slides would appreciate, if he doesn't already have, a slide viewer and slide file.

The amateur movie maker needs more equipment to do a thorough job; projector, screen, editing equipment, title kit and perhaps a tape recorder to make his movies "talkies."

If he seems to have everything, maybe your favorite photographer would enjoy going into editing, developing and printing. This extended hobby offers a wealth of equipment for your gift hunting.

Photography is a hobby that belongs to every age group; and fortunately, now it also belongs to every income group.

One thing to remember—if the person you are thinking of has one camera, that doesn't mean he wouldn't like to have another.

Wide Variety

There is a wide variety of cameras because each does one particular job especially well. The semi-professional photographer, even if he takes only slides or only movies, always owns more than one camera.

Color film and flash bulbs especially make good stocking gifts. And there are many more small items that are also small in price.

The lucky recipient of your photography gift will begin to enjoy it the minute the package is opened Christmas morning!
