

KITTY BECOMES JAILBIRD — This kitty is a jailbird. George, the unwanted lion cub, spent the night in jail because his owner, Ted Moore, had "had enough" of the playful animal, and the zoo was closed. George is nine months old, weighs 55 pounds, is friendly and housebroken. —(UPI Telephoto)

Variety of Books Makes Good Gifts

Look to books if you are having difficulty in deciding about a sure-to-please gift in a price range of from 25 cents to as high as you want to go. Paper back books are the answer to less than a $1 gift and to what to include in stockings. These range from Westerns through "how-to-do's" to classics. Better than giving a book of fiction, which you can't be sure the recipient hasn't read, give them a book along the reference lines... a good dictionary, atlas, thesaurus, etc. Of course, fiction is most enjoyable and makes a grand gift if you choose wisely. Select books that are "hot off the press" and you can be pretty sure that they won't have been read.

National Parks Publication To Start on Dec. 1

Washington, D.C. — The national parks, national monuments, and national wildlife refuges of the U.S. will be the subject of a monthly newspaper, National Wildlands News, the first issue of which is due Dec. 1.

According to its first editorial, the paper intends to "build an informed public" to defend national sanctuaries from pressures seeking to commercialize or in any way harmfully use them, and to preserve them for the uses for which they have been established.

The paper's editors are assisted by a group of staff reporters strategically located around the country.

The editor, Devereux Butcher, says the national parks and other areas never have been in such great danger of despoliation as they are in today. Interests of many kinds, he says, threaten their sanctuary status, and some of these dangers arise from ambitious, local communities which regard the areas merely as a means for attracting more tourist dollars.

This the communities attempt to do by forcing the hand of Congress or the Department of the Interior to authorize their use for non-conforming attractions, such as ski lifts, tramways, yachting, and similar resort-type facilities. The areas also are under recurring pressure, he says, from the proponents of big dams, lumbering, mining, livestock grazing and similar interests.

Already, says Mr. Butcher, resort developments have crept in to an alarming degree, a fact that but few people realize; but, he adds, if the people, the owners of these wonderful areas, become fully aware that we are well on the way to losing this heritage of scenic and scientific gems, little time will be lost in setting things right.

Information about the paper may be had by writing to National Wildlands News, 2607 Connecticut ave., Washington 8, D.C., or to Box 5892, Tucson, Arizona.

Feature a partridge pear tree in your home this Christmas. Plant a suitable branch from a tree in your yard in a decorative container. Spray the branch gold. Attach green plastic leaves and golden pearls to the branches. Add an imitation partridge, which you can purchase. This creates a real conversation piece!
