Eagle Point School

Mrs. Julie Johnston's first grade students made turkeys for Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Vera L. Selby, first grade teacher in Eagle Point school, returned to school Nov. 16. During her absence, Mrs. James Collier and Mrs. Thomas Van Etten substituted for her.

Mrs. Selby's students made the 50-star flags for Veterans Day.

Mrs. Elsie Turner's second grade is making a film on a typical community village. They have completed the box in which their film is to be shown and the community village is completed.

Students are working on construction of a bookworm. Each time they read a book they add another segment. They are also struggling with their insect cage, in which they have a cocoon and some butterflies.

A storekeeper gave Mrs. Turner's students a totem pole made out of paper which they put together and is now on display in the room.

Scott Charters, a student in Mrs. Turner's room, brought a bouquet of pheasant feathers and colored leaves.

Mrs. Emily Gregg's second grade pupils made paper-mache pumpkins for Halloween. They also have completed science booklets on animals.

Mrs. Maxine Berryman's girls physical education classes are now playing volleyball and newcomb. The seventh and eighth grades are playing volleyball and the fifth and sixth grade girls are playing newcomb.

Rick Wolgamott's boys physical education classes are now working on Oregon motor fitness tests which are jump reach, potato race and chin ups.

Mike Charley, Sandra Charters, Vivian Sinclair and Margaret Nelms help one hour a week in the library. The students are all in Darrell Copeland's room in the Eagle Point Grade school.

There may be as many as 300 or 400 different compounds in tobacco smoke, according to chemists of the U.S.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Antelope Clothing Club
On November 21, the Antelope Clothing 4-H club meeting was held at the home of Jo Anna Mallory. The purpose of the meeting was to work on the club's community project, which is making stuffed toys for Medford hospitals.

Paulette Anderson and Lola Ackerman made a stuffed fawn from turquoise wool plaid with rust colored ears and white embroidery.

Alice Woolfolk, Florence Woolfolk and Jo Anna Mallory chose to make a stuffed camel out of white cotton with black and brown polka dots and black embroidery.

Karen Jossy chose a stuffed horse of red embossed cotton with embroidery and French knots.

Jennifer Nevin and Elaine Meyer's stuffed bear was of printed flannel. Judy Hill made a stuffed donkey of white cotton with black and rust colored polka dots with contrasting black embroidery.

A stuffed elephant on printed cotton was the project of Gloria Meyer and Liz Flint. Donna Geren chose pink and white checked cotton for a stuffed lion.

Diana Barton's stuffed giraffe was red and white striped pillow ticking.

The slumber party that was to be held Nov. 20 at Jo Anna Mallory's was cancelled. The date for the slumber party was reset for Dec. 4, at Jo Anna Mallory's house.

The first regular clothing workshop of the year will be held Dec. 5 at the home of Jennifer Nevin.
