

WHERE'S MOMMIE?—Michael, 1 1/2, and Lisa Wayne 2 1/2, are shown at the Youth Guidance Center in San Francisco after their mother, Mrs. Valerie Ann Wayne, 24, was arrested in their apartment, along with a man, in a dope raid. Mrs. Wayne was booked for probation violation and possession of narcotics equipment. (UPI Telephoto)

President To Visit Largest Palace in Stop at Vatican

By United Press International. President Eisenhower, when in Rome, will do as the Romans do—"abroad" to the world's largest church and the world's largest palace in the world's smallest state. Eisenhower's nation has no official representation in the Vatican State's 108.7 acres. Neither does Russia. But it was not an American who asked, "how many divisions does the Pope have?" It was Stalin.

LIVES UP TO NAME
London (UPI)—Five-foot-three inch Joe Sampson, 23, of Karachi, Pakistan, and his five-foot-eight friend, Patricia Allen, 16, cancelled their elopement Saturday night after arguing for 15 days over who should be boss. "With a name like mine," Sampson said, "I have something to live up to. When I marry I must be master."

Two-Skirt Dress

But on this tiny spot of earth, the artistic genius of the centuries has been lavished. Michelangelo's Sistine Chapel is there; he designed the dome of Christendom's largest church, St. Peter's Basilica, every inch of the interiors of some rooms bear the handiwork of Raphael, Bernini, Fra Angelico and dozens of others. The immense cobblestoned square of St. Peter's is one of the world's great squares—the limits of the state bulge to take it in. Even a Bar. The Vatican has its own postal system, newspaper and bar—the last for visitors. It used to have a jail, but it closed five years ago for lack of customers. The Vatican's greatest treasure is its spiritual authority, vested in the Pope and the hierarchy of the world-wide church, laying down its dogma, adjudicating its disputes, running its missions, training its priests and guiding its faithful. With the age-old ecclesiastical robes of the church hierarchy and the ancient, brilliant uniforms of the Swiss guards, the Papal guards of honor, the Noble guards and Papal gendarmes, ceremonies such as papal coronations, audiences, Holy Year observances and religious services are among the most colorful of the world knows.
