

Southern Oregon Has Seven Spots On OCC All-Star Gridiron Squad

Portland - (UPI) - Oregon collegiate conference champion Oregon Tech placed eight men on the 1959 all-conference football team chosen by vote of the coaches.

One Tech player, quarterback Roy Johnson, won a berth for the second straight year. In 1958 he was accorded the honor for his defensive work. This season, he was named to the offensive team in the signal calling position along with Southern Oregon's Jack Brown. Since the vote for the quarterback position between Brown and Johnson ended in a tie, the mentors decided to name 12 men to the offensive team. Eleven were chosen for the defensive team.

Wheeler Third Time
Tackle Bob Wheeler of Portland State won the honor for the third time. The 230-pound defensive giant from East Pittsburgh, Pa., won the honor as a freshman and a junior. Other repeaters this year were end Norman Hooper and middle guard Frank Wilson of Oregon Tech, and linebacker Phil Sward of Southern Oregon.

SOC placed five on the offensive team and two on the defensive unit. Portland State won five berths - three on offense and two on defense. Eastern Oregon placed one man on each team and Oregon College of Education won a spot on the defensive unit.

Six players were unanimous choices. Sward and halfback Ron Jolma of OCE won every vote for the defensive team. Ends Gordy Carrigan of SOC and Allen Leach of OTI, guard Dave Roberts of PSC and fullback Stan Glass, the OCC's leading rusher from Oregon Tech, were unanimous choices for the offensive team.

Utah State Tops Pilots

Portland - (UPI) - Utah State completed a three-state basketball sweep Friday night by defeating the University of Portland 74-67. The visitors used only five men throughout the game.

Led by springy-legged six-foot-three sharpshooters, Cornell Green and Tyler Wilbon, the Utah five battled neck-and-neck with the Pilots throughout the first half, pulling out a four-point lead in the last few minutes.

Portland tied the score quickly in the second half on two baskets by forward Jim Allenhofen, who was high-point man for the game with 26. He kept Portland in contention until Wilbon and Jerry Schofield hit a hot streak in which they sank seven straight field goals to give Utah State a 67-57 lead with four minutes to go.

Barnes and McCormack are the only freshmen to gain all-conference recognition. ## MEDFORD TRIBUNE SPORTS

Energies of Youth Should Be Carried Into World Affairs, Speaker Says at Grid Dinner

Gold Hill-The energies that introduced the players who went into making a good football team should be carried into adult community and world living, Dr. Elmo Stevenson, president of Southern Oregon college, advised the young people attending the annual banquet honoring crater high football players last week.

The banquet, sponsored by Central Point and Gold Hill Lions clubs, was held Tuesday at the Crater cafeteria.

Dr. Stevenson called upon the young people to exercise leadership in community and world affairs. He maintained that one of the advantages of having a healthy physique is to better exercise the use of a healthy brain. The college president told of the interest of the federal government in the youthful brain power of this country and of the use of the National Education Defense act to develop talents, skills, energies and brains.

Stevenson also spoke of the contribution to Southern Oregon college of a number of Crater graduates.

Special awards announced at the dinner were to Glen Cote, Jim Eldred, Gary Johnson and Harold Tvedell. Cote was presented the trophy for outstanding lineman Faber-Wisely award and for top downfield blocker by C. A. Meyer, superintendent of schools, and John Wisely, respectively. Fred Lester, Gold Hill Lions club president, handed the Lions' good sportsmanship trophy to Eldred and Gerry Wing made the businessmen's most valuable player award presentation to Johnson. Tvedell will get the tackling trophy.

Bill Abbott was master of ceremonies. Invocation was given by H. P. Jewett, past superintendent of school district No. 6. Others on the program included head coach Leonard Warren, who discussed the season, and assistant coach Ron Lamb, who introduced the players who gained all-conference recognition.

Fullmer Keeps Toga With Wide Decision

FULLMER LEADS - Gene Fullmer leans forward here with a lead right to the chest of challenger Spider Webb in their go for the middleweight boxing crown Friday night at Logan, Utah. Fullmer scored a unanimous decision. (UPI Telephoto)

Friday night, Gene-weighting 159 3/4 pounds to Webb's 157 3/4-used a counter attack of wild hooks to win impressively. The three ring officials favored Gene on a 10-point must basis as follows:

Referee Ken Shulsen, 147-141 judge Del Markham, 148-136, and judge Boyd Mattinson, 150-132.

Co-promoter Norman Rothschild estimated the crowd at 7,000 and the gate at $90,000. Many of the spectators in the large gymnasium booed the decision. Marv Jensen, Fullmer's manager, insisted the boos were student-admirers of Webb from Idaho State college at Pocatello, Webb, a former ISC student, trained at the college for Friday night's fight.

Writers Favor Fullmer
Because of the booring, the United Press International took a poll of 12 sports writers at the ringside. Eleven had Fullmer winning. Only one had Webb ahead. The UPI's scoresheet favored Fullmer, 146-140.

It was a rousing fight at times but occasionally dull. In the 10th there was scattered booring because Webb refused to lead into the champion, and Webb even motioned with his gloves for Gene to come in and fight.

But Fullmer, wearing the NBA crown, figured it was Webb's job to come and get the title if he wanted to. Gene used plunging and swarming tactics as counter-measures when Webb came in.

However, at times, Fullmer did take the lead and went swinging after the challenger with wild hooks that jolted and shook the Spider when they landed.
