

Apple Fortunetelling Garna Silke

Each player in turn cuts an apple in two and counts the seeds. Four seeds or less foretell an early marriage; five, an inheritance; six, a sea voyage; seven, great fame; eight, any wish will be granted; and nine or more, great wealth. The players, of course, choose their apples from a bowl.

Who Are We?

Nat Bradford

Players face each other in pairs, holding hands. At the word "Go!" from the one who is It, the couples swing around in a circle. It, after a few swings, calls out "Freeze!" and the couples freeze, assuming positions and expressions of a real or a storybook character.

It walks around and tries to guess whom they look like in the positions they assume. (If one wiggles, he has to be It next time.) Can It guess Napoleon? Little Jack Horner? Jack and Jill? Alice (with stretched neck) in Wonderland? You think of others! Three or more can play this game.
