

Hoffa Scheduled At Western Teamster Parley

San Francisco (UPI)—A special meeting of Western Conference officials resumed Thursday with top teamster James Hoffa scheduled to appear.

Local teamster leaders declined to comment on the reason for Hoffa's presence, but indications were that his visit might be in connection with the meeting's topic for today—the union's political plans. Sidney Zagri, legislative representative for the union, who has been presenting the teamsters' political education master plan to similar conferences across the nation, was to address the morning session here.

Insurance Plan Approved
Wednesday, the officials announced approval of a new lower-cost group life insurance program for members of its Western Conference locals.

Conference President Einar Mohn said that Occidental Life Insurance Co. of California had won out over six other bidders for the right to carry the plan on a no service or broker fee basis.

Acceptance of the plan will be voted on by locals throughout the conference. Mohn said that the negotiated rate of 52 cents per $1,000 policy (based on 200,000 policies) was the "lowest ever obtained."

For Active Members
Mohn said the plan would be limited to active members of the union. Another plan, which would include coverage of eligible retired teamsters, was also proposed. Its cost was quoted as 67 cents per thousand dollars.

An executives' health and welfare plan, which would insure all employees of local unions, joint councils, trade divisions and the western division, was also announced. North American Life and Casualty Company was named carrier of the executives' plan.
