

Notice to Liquidate Posses Filed in Court

The officers of the Jackson County Sheriff's Mounted Posse have filed notice with the county clerk of their intention to liquidate assets and business.

A public hearing has been set for April 18, 1960, in a circuit courtroom at 1:30 p.m. when persons having claims against the corporation may present them, with proper vouchers, to the officers.

According to the notice, the corporation has assets of approximately $13,000 which will be distributed equally among the members in good standing following settlement of any claims.

Walter Faux, White City, is president of the corporation, and Robert C. Reynolds, secretary. Other members are Harry Furch, Anthony J. Boitano, Manuel Liebman, Homer Chamberlain, H. B. Murphy, Gary Gustafson, and Thayer Tarvin.

The corporation's attorney is Robert R. Dickey.

TABLE ROCK Christmas Party Set

By R. E. NEALON
Table Rock - The Table Rock Community club's annual Christmas program will be held at the schoolhouse, Monday evening, Dec. 21, according to Miss Linda Doran, president. The club has donated $10 toward candy and treats for the kids, and popcorn balls made from a special recipe by Mrs. Frank Myers will be distributed.

Chris Hagler, of the Dog Control board, has made several trips out this way lately to cope with prowling dogs that have been chasing and killing sheep on neighborhood farms. Several valuable cats also have been destroyed by them. These cats, as destroyers of rodents, were worth a dozen prowling dogs to farm owners.

To protect their flocks, sheep owners are carrying guns when going about their farm work. Many of the guilty dogs vanish before Hagler arrives, but he still manages to execute about 200 each month.

The county road crews are still giving full blast on the road between the Hull corner and the junction with the Dodge Bridge rd. The prolonged dry weather has caused the pumace soil to be soft and dusty, which in turn is bringing complaints from housewives who are fearful that they may have a dusty Christmas, rather than a white one.

The road, when completed, will be elevated somewhat, with deep drains on the sides. This reminds us of some road building many years ago, south of Central Point, on the road to Medford called at that time the Owell lane. George Dunn was county judge and was running for re-election. The editor of a local paper was trying to defeat him, and used this road building as an example of his extravagance, calling the road the "Dunn elevated."

The road was on black heavy soil and was being built with a high crown, and deep drains, while the roads those days were flat. Judge Dunn still lives in Ashland, and, if he travels about the county, he will go over many "Dunn elevated" roads.

Mr. and Mrs. Milo Hardin, and son Jon, of Bellingham, Wash., former residents of Waters of the Table Rock ditch are now running through some half mile of 30-inch tile recently laid by a county road crew some 6 feet underground. Also tile for irrigation purposes is being laid on the Taylor and Robinson farms by the owners.

A Tribute to the Medford Junior Chamber of Commerce

Our hats are off to the Medford Junior Chamber of Commerce for their continual work in behalf of Medford and its citizens. One example of this organization's fine work is their annual sponsorship of the CHRISTMAS LIGHTING CONTEST. Medford enjoys, each year, a bigger and brighter Christmas through this event. Winners of the local contest are entered in General Electric's national contest. Entry blanks for this event can be obtained from Medford Jaycees or clipped from the Medford Mail Tribune. Enter your decorative lighting now and plan to take a tour of Medford with your family to see the panorama of spectacular illuminations that make Christmas the brightest holiday of the year. Thanks, Jaycees, for your part in making Medford Beautiful.

Small Worlds Around Us

By Lynn M. Watkins

There is a Plant That Moves Like an Animal
Ordinarily, we do not think of a plant as something that does tricks, performs, or executes actions or movements for movement is mostly reserved for living animals. But there are such plants. Sudden movement in any plant is very unusual, in fact it is spectacular; we do not associate voluntary action with these objects. The movement of growth, or response to injury, disease, or any outside stimuli, is so slow in plants that we cannot perceive any movement whatever. More unusual still is sudden and violent movement when that action is the result of the plant's own reaction. The so-called "sensitive plant," and a few others, are the exceptions; these plants share with animals some of the simpler actions. The true "sensitive" plant is tropical. It is found in many places and in artificial environments because of its ability to "perform." At the merest touch it folds its leaves, and "plays dead." This act can, and does, take place right in front of the astonished eyes of anyone who touches or jars the plant.

Acoustical Board Planned at Pool

Plans to install acoustical board around the Young Men's Christian association's swimming pool were announced last week at a meeting of the board of directors. Wayne S. Truble, architect with the J. L. Payne company, has completed plans which include an acoustical treatment of perforated asbestos board. Acoustical problems have made it difficult for instructors and pupils learning to swim in the pool during the 10 years of its operation, according to Robert L. Jones, secretary of the YMCA.

Funds for the work have been allocated by the Y's board of directors from a $10,000 gift last year by the late John R. Tomlin. Building committee members hope to have the acoustical work completed by Jan. 24, when the Y holds its open house.

Dr. William Roberts, chairman of the Y's aquatic committee, said the acoustical work will make the pool more comfortable and allow for better instruction.

The board also approved installation of a new sign in front of the YMCA.

The University of California Medical Center at Los Angeles has developed a test to find out whether certain heart patients would be good surgical risks.

tired; fatigue sets in, and the response is slow; the plant may even go into a state resembling "shock" in an animal; it gets to the point where it cannot respond. Fatigue is as strange in a plant as it is in an animal, even in a small degree, is unusual in a plant—in fact it's downright ridiculous. (Released by The Register and Tribune Syndicate, 1959)
