Crater High School
By LaVonne LaFever
Many students of Crater High school, most of them art students, are organizing an Art club.

Officers have not been chosen since the newly proposed club has not been organized as yet.

A meeting was called Wednesday, Dec. 9, for all interested students. Joyce Cook, temporary president, asked for two volunteers for each class to draw up a written constitution for the club. Volunteers were Seniors Nancie Hopper and Ray Ann Greene, Juniors Linda Maehren and Mary Sanderson, Sophomores Janet Hobbs and Reba Taylor, and Freshmen Kathy Robertson and Mae Brown.

Warren Holbrook and Mrs. Sharon Meaney, art teachers, stated that if all the posters are made by the art club, improvements would be many. Their first project is the Christmas decorations for Camp White.

The winter play, sponsored by the dramatics club, was held last Friday and Saturday nights, Dec. 11-12. The comedy, "Anne of Green Gables," consisted of 14 performers.

The production staff consisted of assistant director, Alison Pinkham; house manager, Wanda Davis; technical director, Howard Misner; publicity director, Patti Straus; business manager, Nancy Beacham; promoters, Peggy Jones; and stage manager, Tom Richardson.

Thursday, Dec. 10, was the last day of bundle days. The seniors took first place in the class competition with 320 pounds. The sophomores were second with 192, the freshmen came in next with 172, and the junior accumulated 110.

On Dec. 16, the FHA and FFA will have their annual wreath party.

The FFA will bring the boughs, hangers for wire, pine cones, and furnish entertainment.

The FHA will furnish the ribbons and canned snow and serve refreshments.

The Christmas spirit is showing in every room at Jackson school. Ribbons, glitter, cotton, paper, paint and glue are used to make things. A mural done by the children is on display in Mrs. Muriel Harvey's second grade class.

Many children in grades five and six are making tree decorations to be sent to Camp White. Mrs. Lucille Stroh is Junior Red Cross advisor. Lydia Orgain and Joyce Levitow are the representatives to the Junior Red Cross.

Two subscriptions to the Reader's Digest were sent to the Camp White library by the Jackson school student body.

The third six weeks period has begun. Soon the first half of this school year will be over.

The Christmas window on the bulletin board was done by Mrs. Lucille Stroh and her students.

The pupils in Mrs. Angelo Thompson's fourth grade are practicing on a program to be presented to the students Dec. 22.

The second and third grade teachers and students are working on the Christmas play. This play will be presented Monday, Dec. 21.

Mrs. Muriel Harvey is general chairman, assisted by Mrs. Ruth Hawkins, Mrs. Myrna Dean, Mrs. Lillian Bohrer, Mrs. Sarah Watson and Mrs. Louella Schneider.

Five Persons Die In Plunge of Auto

Ventura, Calif.—UPI—Five men were killed when their auto plunged through a guard rail Saturday and landed in a 30-foot deep gully. The wreckage went undetected for nearly 12 hours.

An 8-year-old boy, Michael McLean, spotted the wrecked car with the arms of the driver extending through a window and guided his mother, Louise, to it. Coroner Pat Sullivan said it appeared all the men were killed instantly in the crash three miles south of here at the suburb of Montalvo.

The dead were all from Ventura. They were identified as Fred W. Bergman, 43, the driver; Ronald Grell, Lewis Shutt, Whitford Allen, and Lewis D. Willen, 41.

STOCKBROKER DIES

New York—UPI—L. Martin Richmond, 78, a stockbroker and former governor of the New York Stock Exchange, died Saturday at a hospital here.
