McLoughlin Junior High

By Sue Williams
McLoughlin Boosters will be sporting school colors in the rooting sections for the basketball season with the arrival this week of new gold sweaters to go with their black skirts.

The halls have resounded this week with music as students in the PE classes started their session of square dancing. The boys and girls classes are combined for this activity.

Special practice sessions are being held as the music students prepare for the combined Christmas program to be held at Hedrick Dec. 17.

Linda Wilson, Judy Foreman, and Dixie Taylor were selected from the Home Ec department to demonstrate how to give a pre-Christmas teen party on Gretchen Wade's Friendship Circle program on television, Monday, Dec. 14. Miss Mary Grumbach is their teacher.

FHA members went to the new Safeway store at the Medford Shopping Center Thursday afternoon after school and were conducted on a tour through the meat department, produce department, storage rooms and cold rooms. Al Nordquist, store manager, answered questions. Miss Ruth Osborn accompanied the group. Each girl was presented a hyacinth bulb as a gift from the store.

Fred Spiegelberg, senior high football coach, was guest speaker at the annual Football banquet for the eighth and ninth grade Bulldog teams and their dads held in the cafeteria Thursday evening. Awards were presented to individual players and movies of the Mac-Hedrick game and the Medford-Jefferson game were shown to the group.

Mike Neahamer was presented the outstanding leadership award; David Crocker, outstanding lineman; Ron Caulkins, outstanding back; and Jim Titus, most improved player award. A new honor, that of the most valuable player on the eighth grade team, went to Mike Barnes. The coaches, Ralph Perkins, and Dale Bates, made the awards. The boys in turn presented their coaches with gifts. Mr. Perkins a jacket, and Mr. Bates, insulated hunting gear.

Berl Cox, principal, Elliot Becken and Russ Acheson, assistant superintendents, and other school officials were special guests. The students in the home economics department served the dinner, and the students in the art department furnished decorations used in the banquet setting.

Ceramics, puppets, marionettes, and linear collage are on display in the main hall showcase, all done by William Stoughton's art classes. The Breezeway Gallery also has news displays of work done by the art classes with various kinds of painting.

Torch Honor met last week with Sue Rambo presiding. Plans are being made for a dance to be held sometime in February.

Large amounts of clothing were collected last week for the Bundle Day Clothing drive which ended Friday. A number of items were retained for use in the Jackson county clothing pool and the rest was sent to headquarters to be distributed in the more isolated regions of the United States and overseas.

ILLINOIS VALLEY Yule Program Set

By MARGARET M. CROWL
Cave Junction - A Christmas program will be presented by the choral and music groups of the Illinois Valley High school Dec. 17 in the school gym at 8 p.m. A dress rehearsal will be presented to the IV student body the morning of the program.

Drivers of the Illinois Valley school buses are scheduled to attend a safety school Dec. 16-17. The first meeting will be in Grants Pass at the high school the evening of Dec. 16 and the second will be at Illinois Valley High school, in the visual-audio room, the evening of Dec. 17. In addition to the bus drivers, members of the state police and other law enforcement officers will attend. This school is a regular part of the state's safety program.

Dr. A. N. Coliman, who received a badly crushed vertebrae in a fall at his home two weeks ago, is slowly improving and is keeping office hours from 10 a.m. to noon each week day and will see other patients by appointment who cannot make it during these hours.

J. J. (Cap) Castleberry is in the Seaside hospital in Crescent City where he was taken following a heart attack recently. He was in an oxygen tent for three days but that has been removed. Mr. and Mrs. Castleberry are former owners of a cafe in Cave Junction.

Stewart Jones, who has been a partner with Samuel Miller in the electrical business for the last 15 years, has purchased the Miller equity and will operate it by himself. He will continue to use the name Miller Electric, however. Miller will devote his time to the motel business.

Mr. and Mrs. William (Bud) Hoskins recently returned home from Portland where Bud had been receiving medical care at the University of Oregon hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Crowl were recent dinner guests at the Les Henry home.
