

Committee List Reveals How To Assist Refugees

Washington - (UPI) - For $36, you can teach a Hong Kong refugee a trade by which he can earn a living.
For $200, you can provide furniture and household equipment for a European refugee family moving from a camp into a home of their own.
For $500, you can provide a monthly milk ration for 1,000 refugee children in North Africa.
For $1,500, you can underwrite life-long care of one aged refugee in a well-run home in Austria.
These figures come from the U.S. Committee for Refugees, which is directing American participation in the current International Refugee Year.

List of Needs
They were compiled for the benefit of thousands of individuals, church societies, civic clubs and other organizations that have written to the committee asking how they can help.

Knowing that Americans naturally think in terms of specific projects and concrete goals, the committee made up a long list of things that urgently need doing on behalf of refugees around the world. And it placed a realistic "price tag" - an estimated actual cost - on each of these projects.

The idea is that a group or an individual may want to adopt one particular project, and underwrite its cost as a contribution to the Refugee Year effort.

The complete list can be obtained from the committee's headquarters at 11 West 42nd st., New York 36, N.Y.

To Stimulate Support
The committee does not itself carry on relief work among refugees. It was created to stimulate and coordinate public support for the numerous voluntary agencies which have been serving refugee needs, to the best of their limited financial ability, since the end of World War II.

Among the principal relief agencies in the field are Church World Service, a branch of the National Council of Churches; Catholic Relief Services; the Lutheran Refugee Service; the United Hias Service; and American Middle East Relief, Inc.

The Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., Dean of Washington Episcopal Cathedral and chairman of the U.S. Committee for Refugees said it is "hoped" that Americans will contribute upwards of $20,000,000 to refugee relief through private channels before the special year ends next June 30.

Tax-deductible contributions may be made directly to the voluntary relief agency of your choice, or through the committee itself.

Aluminum Talks Ponder Proposals

Chicago - (UPI) - Negotiators for five aluminum companies Wednesday considered "fringe economic proposals" made by United Steelworker President David J. McDonald in a top level conference.

McDonald conferred with executives of the firms Tuesday in a meeting charged with hopefulness for an early settlement of contract disputes pending since the pacts expired last July 31.

McDonald and Arthur J. Goldberg, USW general counsel, conferred with other union officers today while the company negotiators sought to determine the cost of the fringe benefits outlined by the USW head.

The industry spokesman said joint talks would be resumed after the firms complete research on the proposals, believed to include requests for broadened pension programs.

Brackish Water Used For Crop Production

Washington (Science Service) - Brackish water can be used for crop production if it is one-tenth to one-eighth as salty as seawater. Thus, many crops can be saved during droughts by irrigation with brackish water in coastal areas where the sea has flooded into surface water sources or infiltrated wells. Growers wishing to make safe and effective use of salt water should make arrangements for analysis of the salt content through their county agricultural agents or soil conservation service, the U.S. Department of Agriculture here reports.
