

Former Local Man Author of Book On Broadcasting

George A. Coddling Jr. former Medford resident, is the author of a new book, "Broadcasting Without Barriers," which has been published by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

Coddling is the son of Mrs. Maude Coddling, 1015 Queen Anne ave., and the late George A. Coddling, a former Jackson county district attorney.

The author is a former member of the secretariat of the international telecommunication union and is at present assistant professor of political science at the University of Pennsylvania. He was commissioned by UNESCO to write the book.

More than 9,000 radio broadcasting transmitters and over 300 million receivers bring information and entertainment to the world's peoples, according to the publication.

International Broadcasting
In addition to their domestic services, most countries now engage in international broadcasting, beaming numerous programs daily to all parts of the globe. Many obstacles prevent it from being fully used to promote the free flow of ideas between countries, the study points out.

Surveying the development of broadcasting, the study shows that 60 per cent of the world's transmitters and 80 per cent of its receivers are concentrated in North America and Europe. The people of under-developed countries, particularly in Africa and Asia, lack efficient sets to pick up even local broadcasts.

Coddling estimates that some 350 million additional receivers would be needed to assure a set for each family in these countries and urges receivers be designed and mass-produced for this market.

Coddling traces the rise of broadcasting from the time, only four decades ago, when it was but a whisper heard by a few devoted amateurs, to its present position as a vast world-wide medium with an audience of hundreds of millions.

"Broadcasting Without Barriers" is available at $3 a copy of UNESCO Publications Center, 801 Third ave., New York, N.Y., and the United Nations bookshop.

Dr. Hibbs Speaks at Rotary Meeting

Dr. Ralph Hibbs, Medford, related his experiences as a Japanese prisoner of war at a meeting of the Rotary club this week.

A captain in the Army medical corps at the time of his capture, Dr. Hibbs said he was one of the 8 per cent who survived the Bataan march in the Philippines.

Principal causes of death in the prison camps was malaria, dysentery and starvation, he said, and within six months half of the men in the camp had died. Rations consisted of a double handful of dried rice daily.

Dr. Hibbs was in charge of the tuberculosis ward in the camp, and noted that medical and sanitation facilities were poor.

He was introduced at the meeting by E. O. Collins, program chairman.

Young Accident Victim Improved

Portland - (UPI) - Richard S. Muhs, 15, Salem, injured in a traffic accident here last week end, was reported in "improved" condition in St. Vincent hospital today. He has been removed from the critical list but is still listed in "serious" condition, attendants said.

Three young Portland persons were killed and three other Salem youths suffered injuries in the two-car collision.

Kennedy Schedules Oregon Campaign

Salem - (UPI) - Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) is scheduled to return to Oregon in February to campaign for the presidential primary, according to Mrs. Elmer Berg, Salem, chairman of the Kennedy committee in the first congressional district.

She said Kennedy will speak at a convocation at Oregon State college in Corvallis, Feb. 10. His other appearances in Oregon will be announced later, she said.
