

Another Bright Season Looms For Washington

By JOE ST. AMANT
Pasadena, Calif. —(UPI)—The under-rated Washington Huskies look today like they'll have at least one more year of football prosperity on the basis of their smashing 44-8 Rose Bowl victory over Wisconsin.

The Huskies not only upset the odds by winning the New Year's Day classic—they kicked it around and then pulled it down over the Badgers' ears.

Husky Coach Jim Owens, at 32 just a youngster himself, fielded a starting lineup of 10 juniors and one sophomore including versatile quarterback Bob Schloredt and halfback George Fleming who were named co-standouts of the 46th annual Rose Bowl.

Poured It On
Washington, the team that was supposed to be short on experience as compared with the older Badgers, grabbed the advantage from the start and poured it on.

Washington, the team that was supposed to be a fumbler, lost the ball not once on fumbles. Wisconsin lost the ball four times on bobbles.

And adding to the Wisconsin humiliation, the Badgers recorded the second loss of a Big Ten team to a Pacific Coast representative in the past 14 years of an exclusive pact. The earlier loss was Wisconsin's 7-0 defeat by Southern California in 1953.

333,093 People See Bowl Tilts

United Press International
A total of 333,093 persons turned out for Friday's four major bowl games, with the Rose Bowl again emerging as the top gate attraction.

No official attendance figure was released by the Rose Bowl officials but the huge Pasadena, Calif., stadium was filled to its capacity of 100,809 for Washington's upset victory over Wisconsin.

The Sugar Bowl at New Orleans attracted the day's second biggest crowd as 81,500 watched Mississippi turn back Louisiana State.

A sellout crowd of 75,504 watched national champion Syracuse whip Texas in the Cotton Bowl and 75,280 witnessed Georgia's victory over Missouri in the Orange Bowl.

Coach Opinions Contradictory

Miami —(UPI)— Football coach Wally Butts and his Georgia Bulldogs won the Orange Bowl game New Years day 14-0 but losing Missouri Coach Dan Devine won most of the arguments.

"We did a poor defensive job," Butts, often known as Weeping Wally, complained after the victory.

Georgia's defense was tremendous," Devine said.

Devine won this point by a country mile. Beside holding Missouri scoreless, the Bulldog defense stopped Missouri once on the 15-yard line and twice on the 10.

Meeting at midfield after the final gun, Butts told Devine:

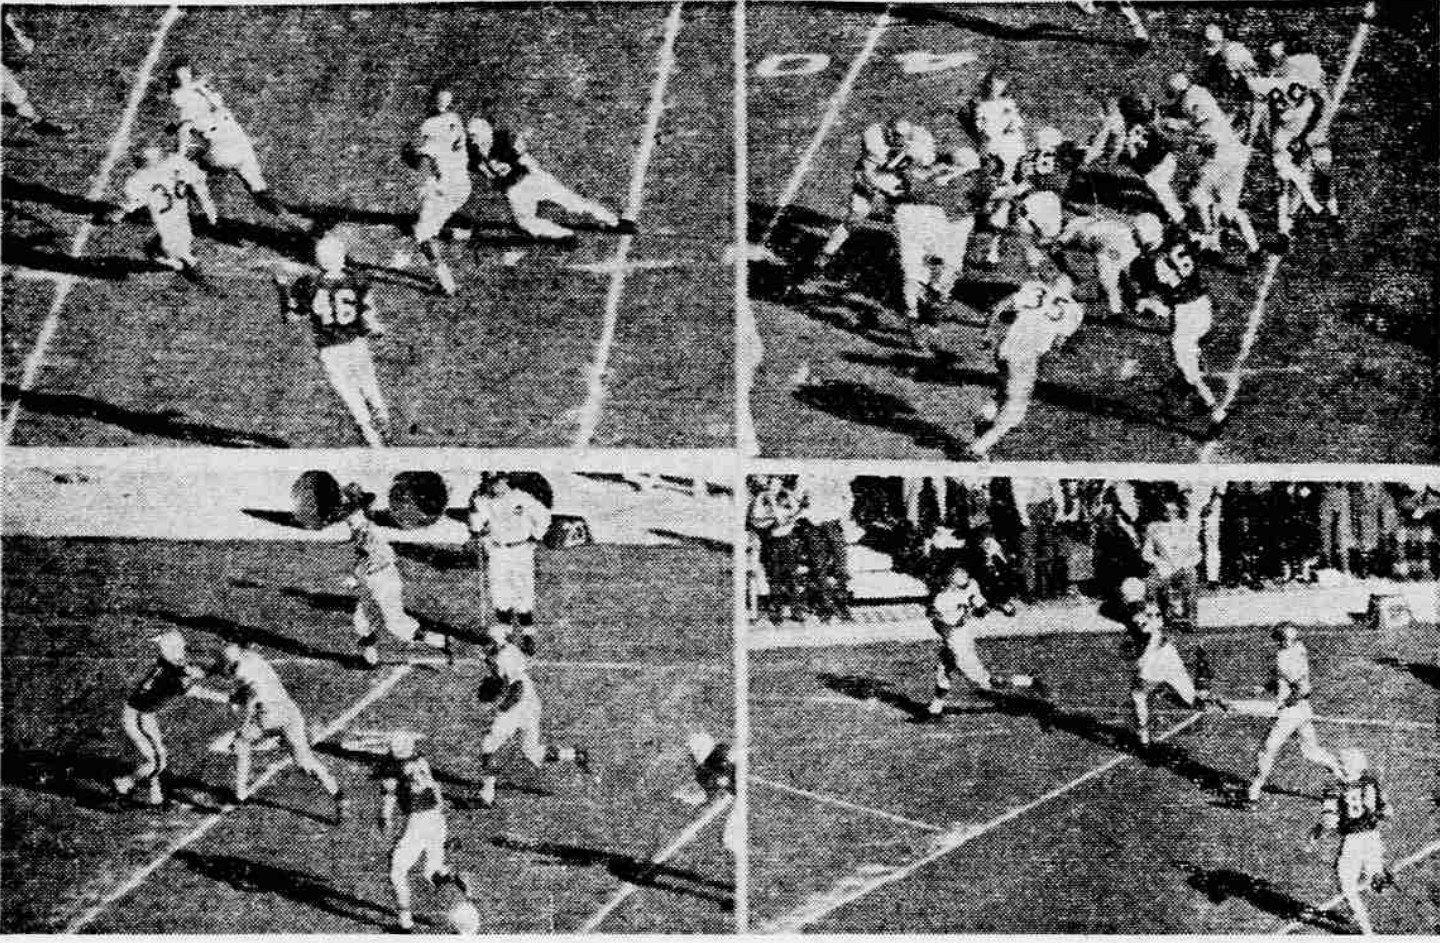

"We didn't look too good passing."

"Well, you got those two big ones," Devine shot back.

The young coach from Missouri won his point here too. Georgia's elusive Francis Tarkenton fired two bullet passes on 29 and 33 yard touchdown plays that beat the Tigers.

Washington Crushes Wisconsin With 44-8 Upset in Rose Bowl

By TIM MORIARTY
United Press International
Revenge was sweet for Washington, Syracuse and Mississippi in the holiday bowl games.

Washington, a one touchdown underdog, produced the only upset by crushing Wisconsin, 44-8, for its first victory in five appearances in the Rose Bowl dating back to 1924.

Syracuse turned back a fighting Texas team, 23-14, in the Cotton Bowl to wipe out the memory of three previous post-season debacles, including a humiliating 61-6 whipping by Alabama in the 1953 Orange Bowl, while Mississippi avenged its only regular-season setback with a 21-0 victory over Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl.

In Friday's other major classic, Georgia rode to a 14-0 shutout over stubborn Missouri on the arm of its preaching passer Francis Tarkenton, in the Orange Bowl.

Huskies Wreck Badgers
A capacity crowd of 100,809—the day's largest turnout—watched one-eyed quarterback Bob Schloredt and halfback George Fleming wreck Wisconsin at Pasadena, Calif. Schloredt passed for one touchdown and sneaked across for another while Fleming scored once on a 53-yard punt return, set up two other TD's, booted a 36-yard field goal and added five placement conversions.

The Huskies romped to a 17-0 lead in the opening quarter and wound up with the most points ever scored by a Big Ten team against a West Coast opponent in the Rose Bowl. It also was only the West's second victory in the 14-game series. Wisconsin was the victim on both occasions, losing to Southern California in the 1953 game.

Syracuse stunned Texas with a tricky touchdown pass from Ger Schwedes to Ernie Davis that covered 87 yards with the Cotton Bowl game only two minutes old and the Longhorns never recovered. Another touchdown by Davis gave the national champions a 15-0 lead at halftime and Schwedes then tallied the decisive touchdown on a three-yard plunge in the third period.

Although the New Yorkers' victory was sweet, they came out of the game with a bitter taste in their mouth as a result of a player brawl just before the end of the first half. Makes Name Calling Charge

Syracuse tackle Al Gerlick said rival tackle Larry Stephens called John Brown, one of three Negroes on the Orange team, "a dirty name and someone started swinging."

"This is the worst bunch we've played against," said Brown, who added one Texas player spit on him just before the fight started.

Mississippi combined a hard-charging line and the passing of quarterbacks Bobby Franklin and Jake Gibb in blanking LSU before 81,500 at New Orleans.

Ole Miss held the Tigers' vaunted backs to minus 15 yards on the ground while All-America Billy Cannon of LSU gained only eight yards all day. A 43-yard pass play from Gibbs to Cowboy Woodruff enabled the Rebels to gain a 7-0 lead late in the first half, then Franklin tossed scoring passes to Larry

Victory Not Sweet for Syracuse

By ED FITE
Dallas, Tex. —(UPI)— Even the taste of their first bowl victory—a 23-14 conquest of Texas—didn't wipe out a bit of bitterness lingering in the wake of national champion Syracuse's Cotton Bowl title.

From the players there were charges of unsportsmanlike activity on the part of their Southwest conference rivals. And, from Coach Ben Schwartzwalder there were rumblings of discontent at the officiating.

The fans, 75,504 of them sitting in the glare of floodlights under low, murky clouds, had ample opportunity to cheer or boo, as their sentiments might be, at numerous breaks that played a vital part in the final outcome.

They also witnessed some milling, shoving and swinging in a mob scene involving players and coaches just before the half. But, as Texas guard Babe Dreymla said, "the thing wasn't as bad as it must have looked."

Ernie Davis, the scintillating successor to former Syracuse great Jim Brown, packed the biggest wallop that kayoed the underdog Texas hopes.

He scored twice and picked up a pair of conversion passes to account for 16 points, then set up the other Syracuse touchdown by intercepting a Texas pass and blasting his way 22 yards down to the Texas three where teammate Ger Schwedes administered the final blow.

More Speed
"Fumbles and mistakes hurt us and they scored when we were down," said Bruhn in summing up reasons for the loss. He said Washington had more speed than he anticipated and believed the turning point of the game was George Fleming's 53-yard punt return in the first period. The TD run made it 17-0.

Owens, almost mobbed by his players after the game, credited his team with "tremendous ball. I felt beforehand our boys would win if they prepared themselves and they did."

"It was a real wonderful day for us," he went on. "We got off to a good start, slackened off a bit and then came on strong. Our pass protection was good. That was something I had worried about."

The 32-year-old coach of the Huskies said Wisconsin was "very similar" to the Southern California team which handed his squad its only defeat. "However, I think Southern California had more speed," he said.

More Aggressive
Dale Hackbart, hard-pressed by the Washington defense, drew words of praise from the Husky coach. "He's as good as we anticipated, but—as I said before, it was just our day."

Bruhn didn't argue with that, although he said he still felt Wisconsin could come back from its 24-8 halftime deficit. "But they were much more aggressive than we were. The Washington line took off like a machine, not particularly as individuals."

The Badgers also had more fumbles—four—than in any other game.

"The Huskies were really up," he said.

Washington rubbed salt in the Wisconsin wounds by showing such disdain that the Huskies kicked occasionally on third down.

"We were just using our kicking game," said Owens. "We had our lead so we decided to give them the ball and play defense."

Schloredt engineered the first Husky touchdown, gambling twice on fourth down when, by consecutive thinking, he should have kicked. Schloredt, a 190-pounder who is not fast but is hard to bring down, rolled out for 17 yards to set up the six-yard touch-

Husky Tutor Jim Owens Hopes for Improvement

Pasadena, Calif. —(UPI)— Pasadena coach Jim Owens descended from the "cloud nine" reserved for Rose Bowl winners to make a New Year's wish.

"I just hope they improve—and I'm not being facetious," the youthful Owens told reporters after Friday's 44-8 triumph over Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl.

"They referred to the predominantly junior squad which will return in the regular 1960 campaign.

"I'm on top of the world," said Owens after an uproarious celebration in the Washington dressing room. Silent only for a moment of prayerful thanks, the Husky squad erupted in shouts and cheers and mutual admiration. "Co-players of the game" George Fleming and Bob Schloredt were lifted to the shoulders of their teammates and rocked back and forth.

No one needed a program to know Wisconsin had lost. The Badgers sat quietly in their dressing rooms as coach Milt Bruhn and his assistant offered words of encouragement.

Down Run
Fleming converted and a few minutes later kicked a 36-yard field goal to make it 10-0.

Wisconsin had little chance to take the initiative and Fleming made it 17-0 when he took a punt, scampered down the sideline for a 53-yard touchdown and then kicked another conversion.

Wisconsin quarterback Dale Hackbart, on target with his sharp passes, directed a 69-yard scoring march in the second period. Fullback Tom Wiesner took the ball over on a four-yard plunge and Hackbart passed to end Allan Schoover for a two-point conversion.

The Huskies moved out in front 24-8 by halftime on a 23-yard pass from Schloredt to end Lee Folkins and another Fleming conversion kick.

The Huskies took the kickoff in the third period and marched 66-yards to a touchdown largely on the running of slashing 180-pounder fullback Ray Jackson who scored.

Schloredt got into the scoring column with a three-yard run at the end of a 93-yard sortie. The biggest hunk of yardage was gobbed up by a 65-yard Schloredt-to-Fleming pass play.

Schloredt's understudy, Bob Hivner, took over for the final Husky touchdown, passing one-yard to halfback Don Millich.

K. S. (Bud) Adams, owner of the Oilers, revealed he had signed Rymkus to a three-year contract at undisclosed terms.

Rymkus, 40, has been on the Rams staff the past two seasons and before that was line coach of the Green Bay Packers from 1954 to 1957. A 6-4, 200-pound tackle at Notre Dame in his college days Rymkus played with the Cleveland Browns from 1946-51.

"I feel that we are real fortunate to get Lou," Adams said. "He is a real comer in the pro coaching ranks with 13 years experience as a player and a coach."

Rebels Get Revenge Over LSU

By JOHN G. WARNER
New Orleans —(UPI)— Louisiana State made the mistake of returning to the scene of its finest victory Friday and got its nose rubbed in the mud of the Sugar Bowl turf worse than any team in history.

Mighty Mississippi, in a cold fury for two months over the 7-3 setback LSU handed it on Halloween night, avenged itself and the loss of a possible national title with a thundering 21-0 victory over the once-proud Tigers.

The magnificent Mississippi defense, anchoring itself in a field made soggy by New Year's Eve rains, muzzled All-America Billy Cannon and held the Tigers to an amazing 15 yards on the ground.

Never before in Sugar Bowl history has a team been so completely unable to move the ball as was LSU.

Ole Miss hurled its human battering ram, All-America fullback Charlie Flowers, and its stable of running quarterbacks into the staunch LSU defense and wore it down in less than two quarters.

Then the Rebels took to the air and sailed in passes for all three touchdowns.

Tom McNeely Awarded Bout
New York —(UPI)— Big, blondish Tom McNeely, Boston's unbeaten heavyweight who stopped Idaho's George Logan for his 16th straight victory, may fight Sweden's unbeaten Thoenner Ahsman—stalemate of champion Ingemar Johansson—at Madison Square Garden, Feb. 5 or 12.

McNeely, 22, made an impressive main-event and television debut in the New Year's fight at the Garden night by scoring a technical knockout over Logan of Boise, Idaho, in the fourth round because of two bloody cuts on Logan's left brow. Ten stitches were required.

Junior Keglers Have Tourney

Medford Kiwanis club and the automobile dealers association will sponsor local participation in the American Junior Bowling congress's 13th annual "Christmas" tournament.

The competition at Medford Bowling lanes has been set for Jan. 9. Absences of the young bowlers during the holidays is the reason for scheduling the event here at the end of the Dec. 21 to Jan. 10 period. Jan. 9 dating permits all league members to take part.

Contention is in three divisions, bantam, 12 years of age and under, juniors, 13-15, and seniors, 16-18. Doubles and singles are slated and will be held on a handicap basis.

Winning scores in each division here will be compared with those of other cities in determining national winners. Some 80,000 boys and girls in the county took part last year.

Kiwanians and auto dealers are providing the trophies for the Medford winners and there is no entry fee, according to Mrs. Mable Clark, AJBC coach here.
