Copper 'Mine' Above Ground Keeps Company in Operation

By ELMER C. WALZER
UPI Financial Editor

New York –(UPI)– If your company needs copper as its basic raw material it's a great comfort to have your own copper mine right on the premises.

Elmer Walzer

Reading Tube Corp. needs copper for all its operations, so its aggressive president, Martin Mack, hit upon the idea of building a copper "mine" above ground.

His copper "mine" is a smelter and it uses scrap copper for its operation. The refining process removes all impurities from the scrap and leaves pure electrolytic copper which is just what the company needs for its products.

With this copper "mine" he was able to operate all through 1959 despite a copper strike. His company can weather any contingency in copper mining. And that "mine" is just the ticket to make Reading Tube a completely integrated unit for the production of all kinds of copper and brass tubing.

President Mack, sitting behind his desk in the Empire State Building, relates how that refinery was built during the recession and how it got into production in June of 1958 as things were looking up for industry generally.

Business Looking Up

The year 1958 was a good one for building and the Reading Company thrived. Its sales ran to nearly $18.5 million and its earnings reached $1.16 a share, helped by a tax carry forward of $92,000.

In 1959, the sales set a new all-time record high at $23 million, Mack estimates, and earnings rose to around $1.20 a share without a tax assist.

Reading's tubes go into construction, refrigeration, air conditioning, oil refining, electrical, automotive, telephone, power, metalworking, heating, and ventilating industries – but principally into construction.

1960 Looks Good

Mack looks for a big building year in 1960–perhaps a small letdown in the first half and then a pickup in the second with the whole year around the record set in 1959.

When Mack isn't busy in his shirt sleeves in his offices here, he can be found at his plants in Reading, Pa., or Pawtucket, R.I.

While Mack no longer is in need of copper metal from outside sources, he keeps an eagle eye on the copper market.

Even after the strike situations are cleared up in the copper mining industry, he looks for a tight copper situation for some time, since he says it will take from 60 to 90 days after operations resume all around for deliveries to catch up with demand.

By the second half of 1960, copper supply should exceed demand with mines running around capacity, he says. He looks for some price shading in copper metal later in the year.

Called Small Business

Incidentally, Mack calls his operation small business. But it is growing into size where that description will not fit much longer. Its assets have more than doubled the $7.2 million of 1954.

In addition to completing its integration process and diversifying its products, Reading Tube has managed to price its product at a level whre it has recaptured markets that had been lost to foreign competition, Mack points out.

With his ground floor copper "mine" ready for capacity operations, and construction around record levels, Mack looks ahead to a big year in 1960 with his company moving higher and higher into the big business department.

SERMON SUBJECT

"Sacrament" will be the sermon subject Sunday at First Church of Christ, Scientist, 100 Windsor ave. The service is held at 11 a.m. and all are welcome to attend. Young people up to the age of 20 are invited to attend Sunday school.

Bar Association Names New Officers

The Jackson County Bar association elected Edward Branchfield, Medford, its 1960 president at a Rogue Valley Country club luncheon Thursday.

Other officers elected are Ervin Hogan, Medford, first vice president, Richard Cottle, Ashland, second vice president, Russell DeForest, Medford, secretary, and Karl Clinkanbeard, Medford, treasurer.

SHORT CHANGE ERROR

Atlanta–(UPI)–State Auditor B. E. Thrasher reported Wednesday that the state of Georgia short-changed former Gov. Marvin Griffin by $1,512.89 through a clerical error in his 1958 salary.

"If I'm entitled to the money under law I appreciate the diligence of Mr. Thrasher in seeking it out," Griffin said. "I'm not picayunish or persnickity."

Augusta, Ga.–(UPI)–Two cars collided in front of University Hospital here Wednesday then mounted the curb and killed two women. Police charged both drivers with involuntary manslaughter.

Year's First Rocket Test Successful

Cape Canaveral, Fla.–(UPI)–The Air Force started a new year of American rocket tests Wednesday night by firing an inter-continental range Atlas on an apparently successful flight.

The 85-foot missile, carrying an "advanced design" nose cone, left a brilliant display of blue streamers as it passed through layers of ionized gas. Its target was near Ascension Island about 5,000 miles to the southeast.
