Tight Money Fears Rock Stock Market

New York — (UPI) — Tight money fears made it a blue Monday for the stock market today with industrials suffering their widest loss on average since Sept. 30.

The selling hit all groups, with losses ranging to as much as 5 points in Motorola.

Trader anticipation of increases in the prime or discount rates pushed aside all the optimistic business and economic forecasts.

Autos, looking ahead to a banner year, registered losses of around 2 points in Ford, Chrysler and American Motors, and more than a point in General Motors and Studebaker-Packard.

Jacksonville House Destroyed by Fire

Jacksonville — One of the first residences built in Jacksonville burned Sunday evening, despite efforts of 15 Jacksonville volunteer firemen.

The two-story frame structure, at 502 North Fifth st. was formerly the William Eden residence. It was believed to have been built by a man named Neuber, first jeweler and silversmith in Jacksonville during the gold rush days, whose family first lived there.

Firemen were able to confine the blaze to the building and no damage was reported to nearby residences. Two trucks responded to the call.

The house was owned by the Jacksonville Assembly of God church. It was being rented to the Mack Griffin family, who were attending services at the church when the fire was discovered shortly before 7 p.m. The interior of the building was destroyed. Church officials reported today that the building and its contents were insured.

No cause has been determined for the blaze.

Chains Required on Majority of Passes

Chains are required on the majority of the mountain passes out of the valley, Oregon State police reported at noon today.

Six inches of new snow was reported on both the Siskiyou and Green Springs with chains required on both mountains and in the Weeds-Shasta area.

Chains are required on the Diamond Lake cut-off, but state police are discouraging travel in that area as the road may be closed at any time, they said. Chains are also needed for travel to Crater Lake.

Travelers heading north on Highway 99 are advised to carry chains as it was reported snowing on Sexton mountain, while chains are required for southbound travel on Highway 199 on Oregon mountain where it was also reported to be snowing.

Registrar To Assure Voting Rights Proposed

Washington — (UPI) — The second session of the 86th Congress plunged today into its first full working week with early skirmishes on two major battlefronts — civil rights and missile-space spending.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) announced he would introduce today a package of five civil rights bills, including one calling for appointment of federal registrars to assure voting rights.

Seen Controversial Issue

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.) promptly predicted that the registrars proposal would become one of the "controversial" issues of the new session which convened Wednesday.

On the missile-space issue, Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La.) charged that the administration's program was clouded by "duplication, rivalry and indecision." He planned to announce today a witness list for House Space Committee investigation starting next Monday.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), a Democratic presidential prospect, accused President Eisenhower Sunday night of giving the people mistaken information about the status of the defense and space programs.

Other congressional developments:

—Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield (Mont.) urged the State Department to lodge a strong protest against Russia's "arrogant" plan to test a powerful new rocket in the central Pacific.

—Sens. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) and John Marshall Butler (R-Md.) said in separate statements that the Eisenhower administration used threats and political maneuvers to force settlement of the steel dispute.

Expansion Proposed

—Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) proposed that the Senate Democratic Policy Committee be expanded from 9 to 15 members to better reflect overall party sentiment on key issues.

—Dirksen conceded that Eisenhower's forecast of a $4,200,000,000 budget surplus for the next fiscal year would be a "terrible temptation and frightful lure" to big spending advocates. Other sources said spending this year is running $500,000,000 below expectations and the President believes chances for a general tax cut in 1961 are strong.

Pear Decline to Be Meeting Topic

Dr. S. B. Apple Jr., head of the department of horticulture, Oregon State college, will speak on the pear decline research problem during the annual meeting of the Fruit League of Jackson County Friday at the Medford YMCA.

Dr. Apple will tell of progress made in the decline study and will outline future plans, a league spokesman said. The sudden illness of Prof. Henry Hartman, OSC horticulturist, who had been working on the pear decline problem in this area, caused a revamping of the program.

Another speaker on Friday's program, which gets underway at 11 a.m., will be Howard Sugi, Farm Bureau representative. Various irrigation district managers will speak on irrigation problems. During the business meeting six directors will be elected for three-year terms.

Writer Describes Traditions Surrounding Birth of Royalty

By MARGARET SAVILLE
United Press International
London — J. R. Clynes was not one of Britain's better known Home Secretaries. But he was the last to witness the birth of a Royal baby.

Clynes travelled to Scotland in August, 1930, and stayed near Glamis Castle. He watched the birth of Princess Margaret and officially confirmed that the Duchess of York (now Queen Mother Elizabeth) really did give birth to the child.

Prince Albert was unable to pace up and down in the tradition of expectant fathers. He had to sit still, arms folded until the baby was brought out.

By contrast, Queen Elizabeth's third child will be born in a bare room, stripped of all accessories, as starkly hygienic as if it were a hospital ward.

She will be alone with her doctors and nurses, and Prince Philip will be free to pace the corridor outside as he wishes.

When the baby is born, the chief surgeon will give the news. A few simple lines of announcement will be written, signed by the four doctors, and posted by a policeman on the gates of Buckingham Palace.

Philip will then inform court officials, other members of the family and the Home Secretary.

Won't See Queen

Philip will not see the Queen or the new baby until the following day — in accordance with current medical practice.

The Queen has a specially asked that Sister Helen Rowe, who attended the birth of Charles and Anne, should again be the nursing midwife for her third confinement.

Sister Rowe, a tall, gray-haired woman in her 50's, has often assisted Royal Surgeon John Harold Peel.

Fees Are Waived

Royal doctors traditionally waive their fees when they attend Royalty, but Sister Rowe will be paid the customary rate, 21 pounds ($53.80) a week, plus board, lodging and laundry.

She will go to live at the Palace shortly before the birth is due, summon the doctors for the confinement and look after the baby until it is a month old. Then the child will be handed over to the Nanny (children's nurse) who will care for it from then on.

Love Affair To Be Discussed in Trial Of Finch, Tregoff

Los Angeles — (UPI) — The Finch-Tregoff murder trial moves this week into the surgeon's love affair with his 23-year-old former receptionist and the alleged motives for his wife's slaying.

Dr. Bernard Finch, 42, set red-haired Carole Tregoff up in an apartment in Monterey Park two years before the killing, the state charges, and posed for the landlady as her "traveling salesman" husband.

Prosecutor Fred N. Whichello was moving slowly over the outline he drew for the jury at trial opening-first "A—the Murder" and then "B—the reasons."

The subhead under "B" was "1—the triangle."

To Resume Testimony

Autopsy surgeon Dr. Gerald Ridge was scheduled to resume testimony today under cross-examination by Finch's lawyer, Grant Cooper. Cooper drew from Ridge Friday that a bruise on the right hand of Mrs. Barbara Jean Finch, 33, could "possibly" have been inflicted in a struggle for the pistol with which the trim brunette was slain.

Ridge also testified that Mrs. Finch was shot in the back and that her skull had been fractured by a blow before the shooting.

Police officers, a chemist and a ballistics expert were

Managers To Be Called

Among them were: Attorney Joseph T. Forno, who represented Mrs. Finch in a divorce action in which Miss Tregoff was to be named as co-respondent.

The managers of two apartment houses near the Finch home where the doctor paid Miss Tregoff's rent and was a frequent visitor.

The manager of another apartment house in Las Vegas rented for Carole by Finch. The surgeon was found in bed there the day after the shooting. Miss Tregoff was at her job in the cocktail lounge of the Sands Hotel.

Whichello said the manager would testify that Finch told him: "As soon as I settle up my affairs in Los Angeles, I will join her."

Tried To 'Reason'

Miss Tregoff said at a preliminary hearing that she and Finch went to the doctor's home to try to "reason" with Mrs. Finch about a scandal that would hurt his lucrative practice at his West Covina Medical Center.

The state charges they took along a "murder kit"—intending to kill or drug Mrs. Finch but the plan backfired and Finch was forced to shoot her.

Court Refuses To Reconsider Chessman Case

Washington — (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused today to reconsider its Dec. 14 order denying another hearing to author-convict Caryl Chessman, the one-time "red light bandit" of Los Angeles, now in a death cell in San Quentin Prison.

Chessman also has a habeas corpus petition before U. S. District Court in San Francisco.

Meantime, California authorities have fixed Chessman's new execution date for Feb. 19.

Chessman, convicted in 1948 on 17 counts of kidnapping, robbery and sexual assault, has been staying off death in the gas chamber for 11½ years with his appeals. They deal with the accuracy of the record made at his trial.

Because of the death of the shorthand reporter, his notes were transcribed by a substitute who Chessman contends was incompetent.

The unsuccessful December appeal asked the U. S. Supreme Court either to free Chessman permanently or to grant him a new trial. In seeking reconsideration, Chessman's lawyers asked the court to explain its brief action, which consisted merely of an order saying "denied."

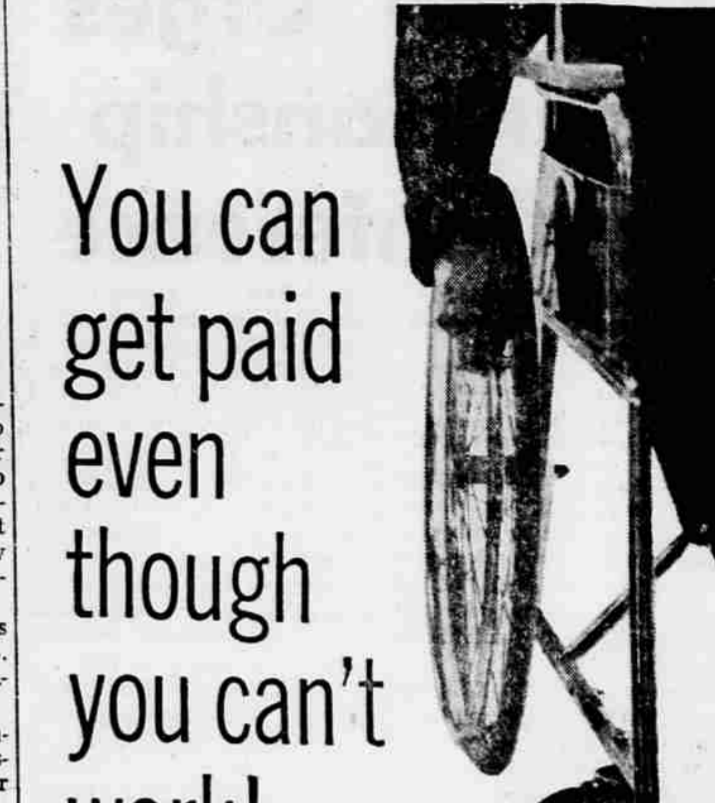

It is not the court's practice to explain these denials, but the petition said: "The Chessman case which has aroused international concern with this country's administration of justice and which involves a human life, to be resolved by blind guesses or speculation as to what this court meant when it acted as it did."
