Thrift Shop's New Hours Announced

The Junior Service league announces new hours for its thrift shop, which is in a separate wing of the kindergarten building at McAndrews road and Priddy street. The thrift shop will open at 9:30 a.m. every Thursday and Friday when the school for hard of hearing children is in session. It will close at noon.

Two league members will be in attendance during those hours, to assist customers with their purchases. Since the kindergarten follows the public school schedule, school resumed last week after the Christmas vacation, and the thrift shop reopened on Thursday.

Members of the Junior Service league have been busy with minor improvements in the shop. Many almost new items have been donated by friends of the League, and by sustaining members. Less desirable merchandise has been reduced to half price and placed together on large rummage tables. It is intended that the thrift shop limit itself in future months to clothing and merchandise that is clean and in good repair. If business reflects a public demand for longer hours, the shop will open on other mornings of the week, it was announced.

All profits from the thrift shop are used to maintain the kindergarten for hard of hearing children. Junior Service league members founded the kindergarten, and they assist the professional teacher in its daily operation. Proceeds from all League social affairs also go towards the maintenance of the school, which is the only such kindergarten between Seattle and San Francisco.
