Pork Chops With Lemon.
Orange Slices for Zest
Meat counters are featuring more and more cuts of pork. It is estimated that there is 12 per cent more pork on the market now than average and that means lower prices.

Pork has been an important food item since early times. The Egyptians were raising hogs for food back in 3400 B.C. and it is recorded that the Chinese thought highly of pork dishes in 2900 B.C.

Early American hogs were largely free-roving razor-backs, vastly different from today's meat type breeds which are concentrated in the Midwest on farms that also grow large amounts of grain.

In all pork cookery, low temperature is important. Usually pork is roasted, pan-broiled, fried, braised or cooked in water. Roasting is best for large tender cuts. Broiling and pan-broiling are most suitable for cured cuts of pork.

Zippy Lemon Chops
6 pork chops, 3/4 inch thick
1/3 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/3 cup chili sauce
6 onion slices
6 lemon slices

Lay the pork chops in baking dish. Combine brown sugar, salt, pepper, lemon juice and chili sauce. Place onion slice, then lemon slice on chops. Put tablespoon sugar over each chop; cover baking dish with close-fitting lid or foil. Bake in moderate, 350 degree oven, 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Six servings. Maybe candied yams and colelaw?

Pork Chops With Orange Slices
Here we cook pork chops in a savory sauce, then dust orange slices with powdered sugar and fry them quickly as a garnish for the chops. Six servings.

6 thick pork chops
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon brown sugar
3 California oranges, peeled and sliced
1/2 cup powdered sugar

Wipe pork chops with damp cloth; trim off excess fat. Fry out fat in skillet. Combine soy sauce, mustard, ginger, salt and brown sugar; rub this into the chops and fry in the fat, browning on both sides. Cover skillet, reducing heat, and steam until meat is tender.

Remove to warm platter. Dust orange slices heavily with powdered sugar and fry quickly in fat remaining in skillet; add butter or margarine if more fat is needed. Serve pork garnished with fried orange slices. Six servings for four persons if there's a man or growing boy in the family or company coming.

Pork Accompaniments
Seasonal good things to complement plentiful pork for your menu consideration include lemon-buttered spinach, hot spiced beets, sauerkraut, mashed sweet potatoes or yams, candied yams, cole slaw, apple dumplings, spiced peaches, Waldorf salad, broccoli Hollandaise, stuffed baked apples.

Or perhaps the family would like a molded cranberry salad, Mexican corn or a corn pudding, baked Hubbard or Danish squash with their pork. Corn bread or corn muffins are thought by many to be unsurpassed with pork in any style.

Pork with Mushrooms
Sumptuous Chinese Dish
Centuries ago the Chinese learned how to cook vegetables with meat so that the vegetables retained their crisp goodness and the meat its full flavor. That's the charm of Chinese cooking today which you can duplicate in your own kitchen.

Use fresh mushrooms now at the peak of their season or canned mushrooms to prepare this substantial dish. Secret is to slice mushrooms, pork, vegetables, paper-thin.
1 1/2 pounds lean pork
3 tablespoons butter
Salt and pepper
1 small onion, chopped
2 or 3 stalks celery
1/2 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced or 4 or 8 ounce can sliced mushrooms, drained

Pinch of ginger
Pinch of nutmeg
2 tablespoons sherry or chicken bouillon
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 1/2 cups rice, uncooked
1/2 cup coarse pretzel crumbs (optional)

Cut the pork in thin slices and then cut the slices into thin strips. Melt the butter; add the pork and cook, stirring occasionally, for 10 minutes. Season with salt and pepper.

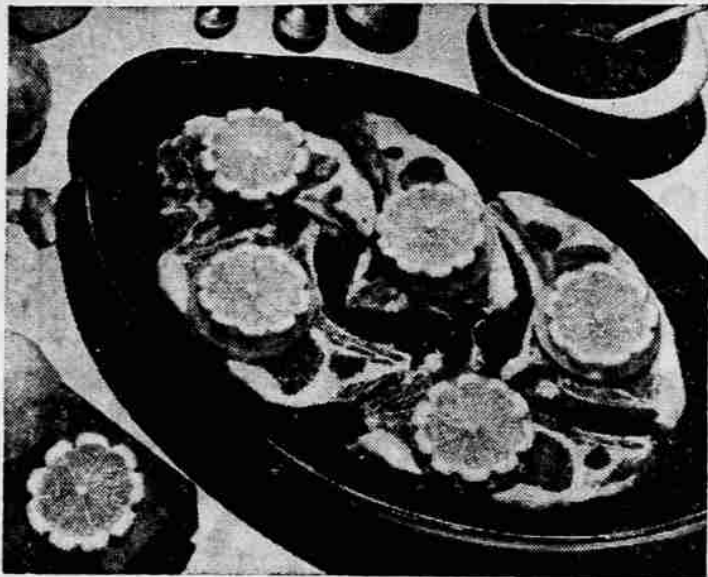

Cut onion in half and slice each half into a measuring cup (or best thin slices). Add enough shredded celery to fill the cup; add to pork. Add mushrooms sliced very thin, ginger and nutmeg and simmer, stirring often for twenty minutes. Add wine or chicken bouillon and soy sauce and simmer, covered, 10 minutes.

Cook rice according to package directions as ideal accompaniment. Sprinkle pretzel crumbs or crisp chinese noodles (they come canned) around the rice. Six servings for 4 or 5 hungry people.

Apple-Raisin Conserve
Is Tantalizing Relish

If you've been dreaming of a relish that you can make that will prove sensational to the taste-buds, bring compli-

APPEAL TO PORK CHOPS — Fresh, flavorful citrus fruits give new taste and eye appeal to plentiful pork chops. Try these chili-sauced chops topped with lemon slices, oven baked for flavor bonus.

ments galore, we think we've found it for you in this Apple-Raisin Conserve. Recipe will make a quart for a lot of people or 4 half pints for four-ones. One of the distinctive ingredients in California Muscatel wine.

1 cup light or dark raisins
4 cups chopped, peeled apples
1/3 cup fresh lemon juice
1/3 cup water
3 cups sugar
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup coarsely-chopped blanched almonds
1/4 cup Muscatel wine

Rinse and drain raisins. Combine raisins with apples, lemon juice, water and sugar in a large saucepan. Cook until apples are transparent and mixture is thick — about 30 minutes. Add orange rind and spices. Cool to lukewarm; stir in almonds and wine. Let stand until cold and thick before serving or seal in hot sterilized jar.

Dried Fruits — Good Mixers
Naturally rich in all-important sugar, dried fruits of all kinds are good to have on hand for frequent use. Good for eating out-of-hand, too. Low in cost and high in flavor, dried fruits make many things taste even better.

Take your pick of raisins, dried peaches, prunes, pears, figs and/or apricots. Dried fruits add flavor, texture and sweetness to cereals as breakfast or supper food. Children enjoy their texture as well as flavor.

Dried fruit and bread crumbs or cooked cereal combine in a stuffing that dresses up less expensive cuts of meat; especially good with pork.

Dried fruits scalloped with meat give new taste, more food value.

Plain bread, muffins, cake or cookies become something extra special the minute you add cut-up dried fruit to batter or dough. Scissors are fine for cutting-up.

APPLEGATE VALLEY
Smith Named to Board

By MAUDE ZIEGLER
Applegate Valley — Glenn Smith of Ruch was elected a new member on the board of directors of Grade A Milk Producers of Southern Oregon at their annual meeting and dinner at Upper Applegate Grange hall Tuesday. Edwyn Hayes, Eagle Point, was reelected secretary-treasurer, and Louis Straube, Applegate, was reelected to the board.

Other officers and members include Floyd Smith, Provolt, president; Paul Sakraida, Provolt, vice president; and Robert Martin, Cave Junction and Donald Green, Eagle Point, board members. Lowell Jaynes, Grants Pass, was retired from the board, having served the maximum 6 year period.

Dr. Leo Van Dijk, veterinarian from Central Point, was guest speaker, and talked on dairy farming and agriculture in the Netherlands, his native country, giving a view of drainage problems. He said if one wishes to make an impression with Netherlanders, he will not refer to Holstein cows as such, but as "Freisians."

Local people attending a Masonic dinner in Jacksonville Tuesday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Orval Shores, Mr. and Mrs. George Redhead, Mr. and Mrs. Gail Burffington, and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Smith. Redhead is high priest of Oregon Chapter No. 10, Royal Arch Masons.

Dr. Leonard B. Mayfield, superintendent of Medford schools, will be guest speaker at the meeting Ruch PTA Friday, Feb. 5. Dr. Mayfield will speak on his trip to Russia, according to Mrs. Glen Travis, PTA president.

Mrs. and Mrs. Lee Myers and son Jerry have returned to St. Petersburg, Alaska, after spending a short time at their home here during a vacation period which took them to Arizona and southern California to visit relatives.

Klamath Man Not To Seek Reelection
Klamath Falls — (UPI) — John Kerbow, Democratic state representative from Klamath county, said Tuesday he would not be a candidate for a third legislative term. Kerbow said he hoped to spearhead a Kennedy-for-President campaign in Klamath county for the primary election.

Crater Students at Mock SOC Panel

Ashland-Crater High school English students planned to attend a special mock arbitration panel at Southern Oregon college today.

Dr. Arthur S. Taylor, chairman of the social science division, said the panel featured four SOC students: two representing the Stereotyper's union, and one each for the Oregonian and the Journal, supposedly at the first arbitration session to solve the current strike.

Neil Knudsen, SOC student teacher at Crater High school, will accompany his class on the visitation. His high school supervisor at Central Point is Bill Russell, SOC graduate, and his campus supervisor, Dr. Donald E. Moore of the social science division.
