Call Special Meeting—After hearing a recommendation from the commission that the locomotive be left in its present location, Councilman Robert Baccus said that there was some question in the minds of some of the members and moved that it be considered at a special meeting of the two groups.

Mrs. Joyce Pidcock, 744 West McAndrews rd., presented the council a petition last night to show, she said.

Berrydale Resident Protests Sanitary Sewer Assessment

The Medford city council heard an unscheduled protest at last night's meeting from a property owner in the Berrydale area assessed by the city for a sanitary sewer recently constructed there.

William Doernbach, 143 Mace ave., protested against the city's method of assessment, contending that he and other property owners there are paying for the cost of the contractor's delay in finishing project, which was not completed by the date specified in the contract.

Doernbach was specifically referring to the contract provision that if the contractor failed to complete the project in the time allotted by the contract he should pay the city $50 for each day he was over in order to reimburse the city for extra services.

However, he noted that the council at an earlier meeting had waived the $50 fee even though one of the contractors was 75 days over the contract date and the other one 15 days over.

He said the property owners are now being required to pay the extra services through assessments and felt they should rightfully be paid by the city or the contractors.

The council asked for a written report from Doernbach concerning his protests to be taken under consideration.

The council elected to refer the question of the Jackson park locomotive to a future joint session of the council and the parks and recreation commission.

After hearing a recommendation from the commission that the locomotive be left in its present location, Councilman Robert Baccus said that there was some question in the minds of some of the members and moved that it be considered at a special meeting of the two groups.

Mrs. Joyce Pidcock, 744 West McAndrews rd., presented the council a petition last night to show, she said.

that there were quite a few residents of the area who opposed the present location of the locomotive.

Several items concerning taxi cabs and taxi driver licenses came before the council last night, all of which were referred to a council committee to meet at some future date.

License Application—The Medford Airport Limousine Service applied for a taxi cab operator's license, so the company could operate a limousine to transport passengers between the airport and local hotels and motels.

Lawyer Ben Day, who represented the applicants, said they felt there was enough public need for the service which would meet every incoming and outgoing plane.

Day said the company would not serve residential districts and would merely be an airport service.

A lawyer representing the Yellow Cab company told the council his clients felt there was not enough need for an additional airport service since the firm was adequately prepared to meet the demand, even having a limousine ready for use should it be needed.

To complicate matters, the council noted that there was another applicant for a cab company franchise who would apply at some future date, and would probably expect the same privileges as those of the existing taxi franchises.

A request by Yellow Cab company to raise its fares during nights when there was thick fog was also referred to the committee.
