

Foresters to Air Impact of Park

Portland - Willamette and Deschutes federal foresters will confer here Jan. 27 to determine the impact of the proposed Cascade Volcanic National park on the economy of the region.

The national park, which would extend from the Mt. Jefferson area south to Diamond Peak near Crescent lake, was recently proposed by David Simons and given status by publication in the Sierra Club Bulletin, of which Simons is a member.

Including acreage already dedicated as wilderness, wild or limited areas, the acreage in the proposed park on the Deschutes side of the mountains would aggregate 942,000 acres.

The impact of the proposed park on recreation will also be studied. The park would include many streams and lakes, including Elk, and would also encompass Bachelor Butte, location of a new Pacific northwest ski area.

The Medical Roundup

by Walter Alvarez
 Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic
 Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Clinic

Cancer Is Not Contagious

Of late, I have been getting letters from many unhappy people who say that, after having had a cancer removed, they are much afraid of giving the disease to other persons in the home. One woman writes that she thinks that, since her breast was removed, her neighbors are afraid to come to see her, and this upsets her badly. If the neighbors are afraid, they are very foolish, because I have never heard of cancer being caught from anyone. To show how non-contagious it is - I need only to tell how, many years ago, the famous Dr. Nicholas Senn, at an operation, took a little piece of cancer from the patient; made a cut into the skin of his own arm, stuck the bit of cancer under that skin and closed the wound with a stitch. The cancer cells did not grow.

A few years ago, a number of men in a state's prison wanting to do something for humanity, agreed to let surgeons perform this same experiment on them. Soon it was found that healthy people have a resistance against the implantation of cancer cells. The only people in whom introduced cancer cells would grow were some who already were dying of cancer. Evidently, their resistance to the disease had been worn down. Obviously, then, all persons with cancer, or with a cancer-bearing relative, or a neighbor with cancer, must not be worried about either catching it, or passing it on. We doctors constantly are dealing with patients with cancer, and I never heard of one of us who caught the disease from a patient.

Pressmen To Appeal Portland Decision

Portland - UP - A spokesman for the Portland Web Pressmen's union said the union would file an appeal in connection with the National Labor Relations board's refusal to issue a complaint against the Oregonian and Oregon Journal.

The union had charged the papers with unfair labor practices resulting from the Steerotypers strike that began Nov. 10.

The charge, filed Dec. 31, 1959, accused the newspapers of not bargaining in good faith.

Thomas P. Graham Jr., director of the NLRB at Seattle, said there was not sufficient evidence to issue a complaint.

Clifford O'Brien, Portland, attorney for the union, said Graham's decision would be taken before the general counsel of the NLRB at Washington, D.C.
