More Than 600 Hear Mathematics Talks

Ashtand-More than 600 persons, both students and area residents, attended the series of lectures on mathematics given this week at Southern Oregon college by Dr. Stephen A. Jennings of the University of British Columbia, Hugh G. Simpson, director of information, said this morning.

The series of five lectures was entitled, "Mathematics Can Be Fun."

Because of the popularity of the course, college officials hope to continue with other speakers on mathematics, Dr. Floyd L. Taylor, coordinator for the series has announced.

This morning Dr. Jennings spoke on "Set and Spaces," and this afternoon his topic was to be "Actuarial Science-An Illustration of Applied Mathematics."

The Wednesday evening lecture was attended by high school mathematics teachers from the area. They had been especially invited and the topic of the lecture was "Mathematics for the College-Capable High School Student-When and Why."

Fire Destroys Small Bunkhouse

A small bunkhouse at the rear of the Jean Finch home, 842 West McAndrews rd., was destroyed by fire last night. Firemen said that the blaze originated from a wood stove in the bunkhouse. Two trucks were dispatched to the scene when the alarm was given at 7:40 p.m.

Wall Street Chatter

New York -UPH- An easing in short-term money rates and a modest improvement in the bond market this month has softened the downward pressure on equities which a tightening money market tends to exert, according to Goodbody & Co.

But even so, it notes, relatively tight money seems to be here to stay. "No equity investment need be made today in expectation of easy money."

Among the reasons that still justify an equity program, the firm adds, is that the steel settlement along with increasing mechanization of manufacturing provides promise of profits development in an environment of near price-stability.

Bache & Co. notes that American Tobacco has moved within a two-point range during the past month in the face of a sharp market break. "A break through 108½ accompanied by increased trading activity would signal the next phase of its broad upward pattern."

The stock of General Mills Inc., now selling some 23 per cent below its 1959-60 high, offers excellent value, according to Business Reports Inc. "An investment in this 'forgotten' stock at current prices or lower should prove a rewarding long-term holding."
