

Challenge Unlikely Between Kennedy, Humphrey

West Virginia Primary Meet Is Being Considered

Washington—UPI—Sen. John F. Kennedy appeared today unlikely to pick up Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey's challenge to fight it out in the May 10 West Virginia presidential primary.

Humphrey (D-Minn.) said he still was weighing Kennedy's (D-Mass.) invitation to meet in the Nebraska primary the same day as the West Virginia contest. But he indicated his decision would be to stay out. Humphrey said West Virginia offered a better "cross section" test than Midwestern primaries.

Kennedy further showed that he will carefully choose his primary contests by formally withdrawing from the April 12 Illinois race in which he had been entered by Lar Daly, perennial candidate for various offices.

A Humphrey supporter, meanwhile, officially entered New Hampshire's March 8 primary as a candidate for convention delegate favorable to Humphrey. Kennedy already has entered the New Hampshire contest.

A Humphrey aide here said the New Hampshire action was taken without Humphrey's knowledge and "does not represent an effort by Senator Humphrey to enter the New Hampshire primary."

Kennedy supporters in New Hampshire took steps to remove Daly and hillbilly singer Elton Britt from the primary ballot there. The Kennedy backers said they wanted to keep what they called "publicity seekers" out of the race.

Kennedy and Humphrey have signed up so far to clash head on only in the April 5 Wisconsin primary. A defeat in Wisconsin could hurt Kennedy and virtually wreck Humphrey in the Democratic presidential contest.

Challenge by Inference
Humphrey announced Thursday he would enter the West Virginia primary. By inference, he challenged Kennedy to compete with him there.

"Since there are a number of candidates who want primaries, I invite them in," Humphrey said. Kennedy has said repeatedly that any Democrat seeking the nomination should put his popularity on the line in primaries.

Humphrey expressed confidence he would defeat Kennedy in Wisconsin. The Minnesota senator said he would decide what to do about the May 3 Ohio primary after the Wisconsin contest. Ohio Gov. Michael DiSalle will run in his state's primary as a favorite son pledged to Kennedy.

NO TIME FOR OVERTIME

New York—UPI—In the 1840s, a work week of 72 hours was customary in England and the United States, while 80 hours and more was usual in continental Europe, according to the Twentieth Century Fund.

DEMONSTRATION—While a police sergeant grabs a demonstrator by one arm, another demonstrator launches a left during a demonstration in New York. Followers of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro and anti-Castro demonstrators clashed in a free-for-all after the Castro opponents assembled to lay a wreath before a statue of Cuban patriot Jose Marti. One man was injured in the fighting. Police arrested 10 men.

Waldo Arrives in San Francisco; Has Jet Flight

San Francisco—UPI—Ichthyologists at Steinhart Aquarium are in a tizzy here—Waldo has arrived.

The four-foot, 24-pound sand shark was shipped here Thursday from New York Aquarium on a transcontinental jet flight that set a precedent for traveling sharks.

The baby shark, who experts say will reach a length of nine feet at maturity, made the trip in a plastic bag filled with salt water and pure oxygen. The bag was crated in New York and placed in the cargo department.

On arrival, Waldo, not in the best of temper from the air trip, was greeted by Dr. Earl S. Herald, director of San Francisco Steinhart Aquarium.

"He looks like a barbed wire fence coming at you," Dr. Herald said.

Shipped in Exchange
Waldo was shipped by Dr. Christopher W. Coates, director of the New York City Aquarium in exchange for some trigger fish.

"It will be the first time," said Coates, "that the people of San Francisco see a shark that looks like a shark."

But Coates was probably forgetting that the people of San Francisco had already an unpleasant impression of sharks last summer, Albert Kogler, 18, was killed by a large manatee while swimming at a local beach.

Officials promised this one would be quite secure in a 2,300 gallon tank at the aquarium.

Selling Continues To Lower Market

New York—UPI—Selling forces continued to drive prices lower on the stock market today.

Traders were more cautious now that the list had dropped through the November resistance level to an October low.

Steel moved fractionally higher. Jones & Laughlin, which reported higher 1959 earnings, jumped more than a point.

Ford featured in the autos with a rise of more than 1. American Motors, reporting a tax-caused decline in earnings, dropped a large fraction. Chrysler firmed.

American Home Products added more than a point in the drug, and Litton nearly 2 in a generally firm electronics section.

Democrats Say Destiny of U.S. Betrayed by Apathy Under Ike

New York—UPI—Two leading Democrats said Thursday night the nation's destiny has been betrayed by apathy under the leadership of President Eisenhower.

"The presidency is a great educational post," Adlai E. Stevenson, twice defeated for that post by Eisenhower, said. But under the past two administrations, he said, "we have seen it used to prevent, rather than to promote, the education of the people."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn.) said the American people should "stop gloating over the size of our national product and ask ourselves what we are doing with it."

Measures Ignored
Stevenson and Humphrey contended the administration has kept back from the people the true nature of Russian military and economic progress, that work toward a disarmament agreement has lagged, that domestic social and economic measures have been ignored.

Both were featured speakers at the annual Roosevelt Day dinner of Americans for Democratic Action, at which Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt presented Stevenson with the Roosevelt Day Award for his contributions to foreign policy.

Earlier in the day New Hampshire and West Virginia were added to the states in which Humphrey's name is entered in presidential primaries.

Does Not Explain
Stevenson characterized the Eisenhower administration as one which "can turn itself into a Miltonian tranquilizer factory, with each press release, each speech, each public appearance designed not to tell us the truth, not to explain our situation..."

Humphrey said the administration's apathy was pointed up by Eisenhower's recent statement that we should question Russian missile claims because the Russians were untruthful in claiming they invented automobiles and airplanes.

"The Russians didn't invent the automobile and the flying machine," Humphrey said. "But they did invent Sputnik and they planted a rocket on the moon."

Wednesday the committee questioned Robert F. Keller, general counsel for the General Accounting Office, Congress' financial watchdog. They asked Keller about NASA's refusal to give the committee information concerning two major development contracts totaling 130 million dollars.

Horner reported NASA now plans two launchings of the 1,500,000-pound thrust Saturn space engine in 1962. He predicted that by 1963 the U.S. would be able to launch a 30,000-pound space craft in a 300-mile orbit around the earth.

By 1965, he said, the U.S. should be capable of launching space craft weighing 40,000 pounds into similar orbit and by 1967, space vehicles of 50,000 pounds should be achieved. He said these achievements were consistent with the technical knowledge now available to NASA if "enough resources" were channeled into their development.

Before yesterday's hearing, a member of the House committee said NASA might encounter difficulty getting money from Congress unless it provided more information to the legislators.

Rep. B. F. Sisk (D-Calif.) told United Press International: "If the agency is going to take a policy of not giving us full and complete information, we're going to have to take a good hard look at every item in the authorization."

Duty to Taxpayers
At issue is the agency's 802 million dollar budget for the 1961 fiscal year beginning July 1.

Sisk said he had a deep interest in seeing the nation's space program move ahead as fast as possible but that Congress "has a duty to the taxpayers."

EXPECT MORE TRAFFIC
Detroit—UPI—Another 30 million drivers are expected to take to American highways over the next 15 years, according to government forecasts. The predictions are for 111 million drivers by 1975, a 35 per cent rise from the present 82 million drivers.

Jeremiah is Sunday Topic for Service
The Rev. Thomas McCamant will preach on "Jeremiah: One Man and His God" at the Congregational church Sunday. This is next to the last in the series on "Words of the Prophets that Have Changed the World."

The service is at 10 a.m. with the church school meeting at the same hour. There will be an anthem by the choir directed by Carroll Graber. Nursery care is provided for infants and toddlers.

NOW FOREIGN TRUCKS
Detroit—UPI—U.S. auto makers now are confronted by an invasion of foreign trucks as well as passenger cars. In two years truck imports have jumped from almost nothing to 30,000 annually.
