SEE RISE IN GNP

New York – (UPI) – The gross national product should hit an annual rate of $525 billion by the third quarter of 1960, a gain of 8 per cent over the current level, some economists predict. Only two areas of the economy, they feel, will fail to share in the general advance – government spending and new home construction.

The Medical Roundup

by Walter C. Alvarez

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine Mayo Clinic
Emeritus Professor of Medicine Mayo Clinic

The Very Tired Mother

Often, when the ailing mother of several small children comes into my office, and I cannot find anything physically wrong with her, I wonder if all of her feelings of great fatigue can be due purely to the fact that for years, she has worked some 16 or 18 hours out of the 24. Worse yet, every so often she is wakened at night by a crying child. Sometimes I learn that the woman bore three children in five years. Before she had time to recover from one pregnancy, she was started on another. A strong robust woman might have stood all this, but the patient before me looks as if she had always been frail and a bit sickly. Perhaps, her mother was like her. My patient may say she was well enough until she started to teach school, or she had her first child, and then her health failed, and she never quite got on her feet again.

DR. ALVAREZ

Many years ago, when I started to practice medicine, I made a particular study of these people whom I came to call "constitutionally frail," or "inadequate to stand up to the strains of life." The Army doctors found hundreds of thousands of the sons of such women – men who went to pieces nervously as soon as a sergeant started drilling them. They just couldn't stand the exercising in the hot sun, and they couldn't stand being away from the supporting influence of their home. Many had quickly to be discharged and sent back home.

Work Never Done

Many a man, when left for an hour or two to take care of his two or three small children, has marvelled that his wife could stand the strain of that sort of thing all day and every day, seven days a week. Long before she came to relieve him, he was frantic to turn over the job to her. As all mothers know, their work is never done. All day long the small children have to be watched so that they don't get into things, or poison themselves, or get into a bad accident. On many days, also, a child is feverish and fretful, and this adds much to the mother's strain.

When I started out in medicine I was so impressed with the importance of fatigue as a cause of illness, especially in the cases of the mothers of several children, that I read everything I could find on the subject, which wasn't much. I doubt if, even yet, we doctors are studying fatigue as carefully as we should. Many a time I have seen a woman whose illness seemed to be due to her having been able to put off the effects of fatigue until she had gotten "to the end of her rope."

Morse Criticizes Butler's Stand On Favorite Sons

Washington–(UPI)–Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) took issue with Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler today for "criticizing favorite-son candidacies" in Oregon. Morse said it was taken as a slap at him.

Morse wrote Butler that he had not seen the chairman make a similar comment about a favorite-son candidacy in Florida or California.

"Neither do I have any knowledge of your flying into Ohio, where Gov. Michael V. Disalle is running as a favorite-son stooge for Kennedy, and making any such criticisms there as you made in Oregon."

Damage Already Done

Morse said he understood Butler later tried to exclude him from the implications of his statement but added, "what damage could be done by your previous statement had already been done."

He said it had always been his view that the Democratic chairman "should never involve himself directly or indirectly in the primary campaigns being conducted by any member of the Democratic party for any office."

Butler said in Portland last Friday night he "preferred that favorite sons do not interfere with the bona fide candidates" in presidential preference primaries.

Japanese Mine Death Toll 34

Yubari, Japan –(UPI)– Rescue workers today recovered the bodies of seven more miners, bringing to 34 the known death toll in the Yubari mine disaster. All hope was abandoned for nine others but rescue efforts continued.

There were 62 men in the mine when a gas explosion ripped through a shaft one-half mile below the surface early Monday. Twenty managed to get out.

Woman Loses Principle Fight

Springfield, Mass.–(UPI)–Mrs. James Walsh has lost her $4 million battle of principle with the Hadley Falls Trust Co.

Last Nov. 20 Mrs. Walsh went to the bank and bought a check for $22.75–only to have the teller, Miss Anna Helliwell, inadvertently issue one for $4,000,022.75. Neither discovered the error until later. Miss Helliwell informed her superiors of the error and was fired.

Mrs. Walsh refused to return the check unless Miss Helliwell was rehired. The bank refused to rehire her and went to court to get back the check.

District Judge Wilfred Paquet Monday ordered Mrs. Walsh to return the check promptly. He termed the entire dispute "senseless."

Bank officials breathed a sigh of relief. But Mrs. Walsh still was unhappy. She had lost her battle of principle.

Miss Helliwell was even unhappier.

She's still out of a job.
