Ike Opposed to Federal Funds for Teacher Salaries

The President earlier had been described as angered by what he regards as congressional "leaks" of secret testimony on comparative U. S.-Russian missile strength.
Other news conference highlights:
Eisenhower proposed a sweeping new program for ending nuclear weapons test. The plan was submitted to the three-power conference on nuclear tests at Geneva today.
Opposes Salaries Funds
—He energetically opposed appropriation of federal funds for teachers' salaries as provided for in the $1,800,000,000 Senate school bill. He said he did not believe the federal government should be in the business of paying local officials.
—He said disclosures in the House investigation of payola in the record and radio broadcasting industries definitely involved a question of public morality in instances where airways, licensed by the government, were being used for personal gain.
—He called on the American people to better inform themselves on primary public issues without being led down alleys by demagogues or lazily allowing decisions to be made for them by popular public figures.
The press conference was dominated largely by questions and answers involving his defense program, the missile gap between this country and Russia, and the varying opinions of experts on what America most needs to remain strong and powerful in the space age.
The President, by inference, said he thought officials of the Defense Department could be considered as experts but that did not necessarily apply to some of his critics in Congress.
The President did not name any congressional names, but Senate Democratic Leader

Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), and Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas have been among the leading congressional critics.
Hot Fight Generated
Eisenhower said the broad publicizing of personal opinions over defense requirements was a matter he deplored.
The controversy over the President's defense and missile program has generated the hottest fight of the year in Washington with hearings on both sides of the Capitol.
The President was reminded that Republican congressional leaders, after talking with him last Tuesday morning, said certain candidates were performing a disservice to the country by breaching security in their attacks on the administration defense policies.

High Voltage Line Kills Tree Trimmer

Forest Grove—Douglas B. Leek, Portland, was killed Tuesday when his tree trimming saw came in contact with a 7,200 volt line and electrocuted him.
Amos Shaw, Forest Grove police chief, said Leek had the saw attached onto a long metal pole and he was electrocuted when it came in contact with the line.
Leek was employed by a tree trimming company in Portland.

Finch Has Answers For Prosecution

Los Angeles—Prosecutor Fred N. Whichello put the key question to Dr. R. Bernard Finch.
When the doctor finally wrested the revolver from Barbara Jean Finch that night, the district attorney asked, why didn't he either throw it away or take it and run?
As he has on every occasion, the doctor had the answers. If he threw it away, his wife might go after it and shoot either him or his mistress, Carole Tregoff, 23.
Tackled The Maid
He heard the footsteps of maid Marie Lidholm approaching and he thought she had a rifle. She might shoot him down if she saw him fleeing. Instead, he fractured his wife's skull with the revolver and tackled Miss Lidholm as she came into the garage.
That's where the cross examination of the 42-year-old surgeon ended Wednesday. Today Whichello was to take Finch once more over the actual "accidental" shooting of his wife July 18 outside their West Covina home and their last, death-side conversation.

Confiscation of Property Part Of Court Order

Havana—A five-man revolutionary tribunal has sentenced 104 "counter-revolutionary plotters" to prison for terms ranging from 3 to 30 years in the biggest conspiracy trial held so far in Premier Fidel Castro's Cuba.
The tribunal ordered confiscation of the property of all those convicted— notably the sizeable cattle ranches owned by several defendants.
36 Acquitted
Thirty-six of the 140 persons on trial were acquitted on grounds that they were merely innocent bystanders on the scene of various clashes between secret police and foes of the Castro regime.
Defendants at the month-long trial included survivors of the action in August at Trinidad, Cuba, and persons arrested on a variety of charges by raiders in at least three of Cuba's six provinces.
Thirty-year sentences were imposed on the nine survivors of the "invasion." Two other invaders and two soldiers were killed in a clash at the scene of the invasion attempt.
Leaders' Sentenced
Nineteen persons were sentenced to serve 20-year terms, 37 to 9 years, 21 to 6 years and 18 to 3 years.
Ex-Sen. Arturo Hernandez Tellaheche and cattlemen's leader Arturo Caines Milanes, alleged "president" and "vice president" of a proposed counter-revolutionary regime drew nine years each.
Among those sentenced to serve 20 years were a number of persons said to have been chosen for cabinet posts in the anti-Castro regime. It was not clear why they drew stiffer sentences than Hernandez and Caines.

Authorities Working on Theory of Kidnaping In Disappearance of Colorado Brewery Officer

Golden, Colo.—The Federal Bureau of Investigation and local authorities worked today on the theory that Milnoaire brewer Adolph Coors III, missing since Tuesday, was kidnaped.
The Coors family, one of the wealthiest in the west, was convinced "Ad" had been kidnaped or waylaid. Adolph Coors Jr., who flew home Wednesday night from a Hawaiian vacation, said "money is secondary. The main thing is to get my son back alive."
The FBI entered the case on the assumption that the missing millionaire had been kidnaped.

But if any ransom demand or other communication from kidnapers had been received by the family, neither they nor authorities gave any indication of it.
Adolph Coors III, 45, is board chairman of Adolph Coors Co., owned by Adolph Coors Jr. and his three sons. The brothers operate one of the nation's largest independent breweries and a porcelain plant at Golden.
Coors left home Tuesday at 8 a.m. for the brewery, driving a carryall truck.

Medford Residence Damaged by Fire

Side of the Richard L. O'Dell residence, 1225 Fortune dr., was damaged by fire about 11:30 a.m. today, city firemen reported.
They said that coals in a cardboard box of ashes set outside next to the house ignited the box. Damage occurred to a door, window, and 10 by 10-foot area of siding and eaves.
Firemen reported that Mrs. O'Dell used a garden hose to control the blaze before fire trucks arrived. A smoke ejector was used in the house.

Colonists' Ship Leaves Coos Bay

Coos Bay—The 100-foot ship Alert was headed southward today, minus its women and children, with a group which hopes to set up a colony in the Galapagos Islands.
The vessel, which left Seattle last month, ran into trouble near Westport, Wash., and later was helped into port here by the Coast Guard after it was buffeted by heavy seas.
The three women and four children were sent overland to San Diego, where they will meet the ship. Thirteen men remained aboard.

Fall Into Creek Fatal To Girl, 3

Corvallis—Denise Hull, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hull of Dawson, drowned Wednesday afternoon when she fell into a creek running by her father's lumber mill.
The girl was playing with her brother, David, 6, when she fell into the creek. She was swept through a culvert under the road before workmen could pull her out.
Monroe firemen and an ambulance crew from Corvallis worked on the girl for 30 minutes before a doctor pronounced her dead.
The adjacent bird of India, relative of the stork, stands five feet high with a wingspread of fifteen feet.
