

Books Received At EP Library

Eagle Point - Mrs. Jessie Tyner, Eagle Point librarian, said she would like everyone in the community to drop in and note the new books and to become acquainted with the many opportunities available in the local library.

A new Viewmaster, for use in the library only, has been added with slides covering most of the western states, Hawaii, Alaska, South America and numerous wild animals available at the present time. Slides will be rotated from time to time with specific ones available upon request.

The 1960 edition of Compton's pictured encyclopedia has been added to the set of Americana for the adults. The Worldbook encyclopedias are the only ones that can be removed from the library but a large table is supplied within the library for use.

Among the new magazines added recently are "Children's Activity" and "Seventeen" which brings the magazine circulation to the level of all ages.

A number of Boy Scout and Cub Scout manuals for both leaders and boys have been added to the lending library along with a large number of the merit pamphlets needed for their rank advancements. Mrs. Tyner announced that it is possible to borrow a book in Medford and return it in Eagle Point if it is more convenient. The same card is used at both libraries and specific requests may be obtained within a week now as the head librarian visits here each Friday.

CP PTA Announces Valentine's Sale

Central Point - Mrs. Stanley Parrish, Parent Teachers association ways and means chairman, announced that persons furnishing baked goods for the PTA Valentine's sale may leave the product at the home-making room in Central Point Junior High school on Friday afternoon or Saturday morning.

Parents are asked to bear in mind that special desserts for Valentine's Day may be purchased at this sale. This drive was prompted by the need of the District 6C Mothersingers for the music they will need to participate in the PTA convention to be held in Medford this year. Any money beyond the price of the music will go into the PTA fund.

Wild Reports Drum Up Fear of Wild 'Killers'

The voice over the airways was calm but the message it brought was widely sensational. In language designed to produce startling or thrilling impressions, it reported "poisonous scorpions" and venomous tarantulas are attacking the people."

This soul-stirring news report sent tingles of apprehension down the spines of the listeners. Nearly every day something equally ridiculous blares forth.

Unusual Report

One instance, a short time ago, received an unusual and undeserved coverage which lasted several days. There was a leopard loose and over an area of hundreds of square miles thousands of people covered in false terror. The airways were filled with dire warnings, one of which cautioned "all women and children remain indoors after dark and all doors and windows kept locked." Some one must have thought the "jungle-bred killer was carrying a bunch of keys."

By the end of three or four days the hunt for the escaped cat became highly organized. The tension mounted. The situation was reported to be more dangerous with every passing hour as by now the "ferocious beast" having had not... to eat would be frantic for want of food, therefore doubly dangerous. The calm voice over the air reported, "hundreds of men, grim-faced and determined, armed with rifles, were combing every wild area."

So-Called 'Killer'

This so-called "killer" whose escape upset a large area had conducted himself in no manner to justify all the excitement. The only killing the jungle cat had ever accomplished was a few chickens that had been placed in the cage for him to eat. Yet in a matter of hours and a half dozen million words, all most ill advised and all designed to create a sensational event, a terrible, blood-thirsty monster was created.

We reach this state of silly fear because we have read or seen depicted in the movies, ridiculous events, of the terrible "wild beasts" that are pictured as creatures whose sole intent and purpose in life is to attract some helpless human. We have all read of our ancestors fighting wild animals, when imagined dangers lurked behind every tree. Actually those ancestors of ours were in little danger of wild animals.

If you stop and think about it a minute you will see how silly and stupid are all our fears. The man who goes out and catch this "savage beast" will probably use a short piece of rope, a piece of canvas or a net provided he gets to the animal before some trigger-happy guy with a gun has a chance to fill the poor escapee full of lead.
