Phoenix — Phoenix high moved back into the sole leadership of the Rogue league Saturday night by thumping the Rogue River high basketball team 66 to 48 here.

It was the only Saturday game in the circuit and broke a three-way deadlock by putting the Pirates a half game in front of Eagle Point and Glendale.

Phoenix boomed off to an 18 to 8 first quarter spread with Tom Atchison collecting 14 of the Pirates' markers. The Pirates capitalized on a

St. Mary's high of Medford broke a 45-all deadlock in the fourth quarter to defeat Eagle Point's basketball quintet 50 to 46 here Saturday evening.

Bob Evans and Jim Calhoun put in field buckets and Dick Evans a free heave for the Crusaders in the waning minutes.

Eagle Point caught up at 43-all in the fourth panel after intermission leads held by St. Mary's at 13 to 10, 23 to 20 and 39 to 35. SM outshot EP 22 to 11 from the field but the Eagles had the edge 24 to 6 from the free line.

St. Mary's junior varsity won the prelim 48 to 40 with Dan Laubacker making 15 points.

Bearcats Lead By Half-Game

United Press International
 Willamette held a half game lead over Linfield in the red-hot Northwest Conference basketball race today.

Willamette fattened its league record last week with three wins over lowly Pacific, running the Badgers' losing streak to 31. The Bearcats took Saturday night's game 71-44 at Forest Grove as Larry Lynn led the way with 18 points.

The Bearcats now are 9-2 compared to 8-2 for Linfield which avenged a Friday night defeat by Lewis and Clark Saturday, 76-68.

Miami — Stay close to Jim Hearn and you'll beat him. That was what they whispered in National League dugouts when the big right-hander pitched for the New York Giants a few years back, but it didn't work out that way Sunday when Hearn came on to win the baseball players' golf tournament.

Trailing Alvin Dark by one stroke going into the final round of the 72-hole tournament, Hearn, now out of baseball, shot a five-over-par 75 in high winds to beat Dark by one stroke with a 301 total.

Klamath Pels Trim Ashlanders

Klamath Falls — Klamath Union high school widened its grip on second place in Southern Oregon conference basketball Saturday night by downing Ashland here 68 to 40.

Pelican chances for one of two District 6 spots in the state A-1 hoop tourney were bolstered by the combination of the KP triumph and Medford's win by 77 to 53 over Grants Pass. Klamath now has a four-game margin over GP and Crater which tied for third. Each of the three clubs has five remaining conference games.

The Pels on Saturday had quarter advantages of 14 to 4, 37 to 13 and 57 to 29. KP fired at a 413 field goal clip while Ashland went scoreless for five minutes in the fourth quarter. In the last minute of play each team put in five points. The Grizzlies' Bob Hardy was high point man of the game with 16.

Klamath also won the jayvee class 60 to 24. Kent Hunsaker had 13 points for the Pels.

11 Jailed in Portland Incident

Portland — (UPI) — Eleven youths, including three girls and two minors, were taken to jail Saturday afternoon after failing to heed a police order to break up a demonstration in front of the Oregonian building.

Mayor Terry Schunk recently issued an order against public mass demonstrations in connection with the current newspaper strike.

Nine of the 11 jailed but under $250 each while juvenile authorities said they would hold two 17-year-olds until today.

The group, which numbered 25 at one time, paraded in front and around the building singing songs. Police said some complied when asked to leave. Officers said union members picketing the Oregonian building also asked them to leave.

Police said most of the group was college students, predominantly from Reed college.

What Is The Law?

This column is prepared as a public service by the College of Law, Willamette University, Salem, to explain basic legal principles, not to provide legal advice. The reader is cautioned not to apply these cases to his own problems without an attorney's advice, for differing facts may change the outcome.

Is an innkeeper responsible for a bottle thrown from his window?

Back in 1949 the captain of a ship rented a hotel room in Hoboken, N. J., for himself and five sailors. They all arrived early in the evening and apparently started having a party; they called the clerk to inquire about a bottle of rum. It was not supplied to them by the hotel.

At about 10 o'clock another guest of the hotel called the clerk and told him that the sailors were making a disturbance. The clerk cautioned the sailors, and they assured him they would be quiet. A half-hour later, the guest complained again, that the sailors were tossing something about that sounded like a shoe. The clerk then went to the room and told them to be quiet or they would be "ejected from the premises."

Serious Injury Caused

About midnight a couple was walking by the hotel when a soda bottle was thrown from the hotel by one of the sailors. It hit the pavement close to the couple and a fragment of the glass entered the lady's eye causing a serious injury.

The injured lady sued the hotel for the damages she had incurred. The trial judge directed a verdict for the hotel because he felt that the hotel was not expected to control the conduct of its guests. The state supreme court, however, felt that there was a good chance that the hotel could have done more than it did to control these guests; they reversed the trial court and sent the case back for a new trial.

There is a sizeable number of cases of this type and most of them hold that the innkeeper is liable to a stranger if the innkeeper, as a reasonable man, knew or should have known of the need to control the guest and had an opportunity to control him. In the New Jersey case, the hotel clerk had noticed that a rather wild party was in progress in the room and probably should have done something about it.

Outcome Changed

Circumstances, however, changed the outcome of a similar case. On V.J. day, when everyone was celebrating the end of World War II, someone threw a heavy over-stuffed arm chair out of the window of the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco. It hit

Ancient Picture 7250 Mud Slide Blocks Portland Street

Portland — (UPI) — Heavy rains Sunday night caused a slide on Northwest Savier st. in Portland between 34th and Asten sts.

Police said the mud slide was about 15 feet deep in places and 100 feet long. Mud slid across Savier st. and up against three homes in the area.

The Public Works Department sent crews to the area to clean up.

New York (UPI) — Three thugs with accents broke into the town house of the Children's ambassador to the United Nations Saturday night and fled with $200 and a bottle of champagne.
