

Questionnaires for Cancer Prevention Study Are Returned

All questionnaires for the cancer prevention study made by the Jackson county unit, American Cancer Society, have been returned to the Portland headquarters, according to Mrs. Walter Garner and Mrs. Jack James, co-chairmen for the study.

The Jackson county 1,000-family canvass is a part of a 17-state study throughout the nation which will include questionnaires from one million families. An extensive questionnaire was presented each family contacted.

Data from the confidential study will be used in a six-year study of selected families to help establish possible trends in cancer occurrence. Additional questionnaires will be mailed to participating families as cancer trends become noticeable, the co-chairmen explained.

Head Research Group
 Heading the Medford research group are Mrs. Ray Frisbie, Mrs. Ralph Thompson, Mrs. Joe Beach, Mrs. B. Brandt Bartels, Mrs. Alexander Dumas and Mrs. Irene Grigsby. Mrs. Grigsby was complimented by the Jackson county unit for contacting 50 families on her own. Each research leader was to contact 10 others, who in turn would contact 10 families or more.

County research leaders included Mrs. William Dawkins and Mrs. Sid Ainsworth, both of Ashland, who enrolled 160 families; Mrs. C. O. Long and Mrs. John Baldwin, Talent area; Mrs. D. H. Giles, Griffin Creek; Mrs. Leon Offenbacher and Mrs. Marcel LaPinec, Jacksonville-Applegate; Mrs. Richard Bartuss, Shady Cove; Mrs. C. Norman Gail, Gold Hill; Mrs. Earle Jossy, Eagle Point; Mrs. Leo Hoag, Prospect; Mrs. Hazel Engle, Rogue River; and Mrs. Wilton White, Central Point.

The research leaders are responsible for contacting each family in their area annually to check addresses, employment changes and other data.

The Jackson county unit plans to show a film on cancer called, "The Other City" the evening of March 22, and the morning of March 23 at the Holly theater, Medford, and the morning of March 24 at the Varsity theater in Ashland. This is a free showing for men and women.

Flying Object in Alaska Is Meteor

Anchorage, Alaska (UPI) — The Alaskan Air Command indicated Friday the unidentified flying object sighted over northwestern Alaska last Sunday was an extremely high speed, white-hot meteor.

Dr. Christian T. Elvey, director of the geophysical institute at the University of Alaska, concurred in the Air Force findings.
