

Graham Credits Missionaries For Reception Found in Africa

Editor's note: Evangelist Billy Graham is resting in Southern Rhodesia at the halfway mark of the African "crusade" that has taken him through eight major West African cities and numerous villages. He has addressed crowds of unprecedented size for that part of the world and visited government leaders. Ahead of him are campaigns in five countries of Central and East Africa. At this point he was asked to record some impressions for United Press International.

Victoria Falls, Southern Rhodesia—UPI—All I have read about Africa over the years failed to prepare me adequately for what I have seen and heard and felt during the past five weeks.

I have seen the wonder and grandeur of nature. I have flown over great rain forests, towering mountains and broad rivers. I have shouted with exhilaration at the sight of great herds of elephants, water buffaloes, zebras and giraffes.

I have stood in awe at the splendor of Victoria Falls which are unequalled anywhere in the world. I have floated down the Zambezi river with hippopotami in full view, and skimmed ten feet over its surface in an airplane as crocodiles basked in the sun.

No Hostility
 I have seen baboons in trees, and fed wild monkeys who grabbed food out of my hands.

Once I came within an inch of being dunked in the Zambezi as Africans were carrying me in a rig like the one in which the great missionary explorer David Livingstone travelled.

But my most fascinating experiences of this trip to Africa have been the many encounters with people of many tribes and tongues. I have met them in modern office buildings which rival anything in New York, and I have talked with them in primitive market places and villages where the mode of dress (and undress) and cooking pots are just like those found by the earliest explorers.

Anyone who says West African is hostile to Americans doesn't know what he is talking about.

I did not see a hostile glance or gesture. Never have the members of my team received such cordial, warm hospitality. Most Africans seem not to associate the United States with colonialism and imperialism.

Credits Missionary Work

My most outstanding impression of my West African tour was the tremendous contribution Christian missionaries made to its development. I'm convinced that schools, hospitals and churches brought by missionaries have saved this part of the world from a possible bloodbath.

Everywhere I found people hungry for the Gospel. I have had the privilege of preaching to some of the largest crowds of my ministry. The people were quiet, dignified and reverent. There was no more emotional display than we have seen in America or England.

Our appeal for people to accept Christ was totally different.

In most places we did not ask them to come forward, but rather invited them to stay behind if they wanted to break with their sins and old gods, and trust Christ for the first time.

I urged them not to respond unless they were willing to break with the past, join a church and live a totally new life.

They were urged not to respond if they had ever made a Christian commitment before.

Yet hundreds came, and faithful helpers talked with them in little groups that dotted great race-courses and stadiums for hours after our meetings closed.

I believe they were as sincere as I have ever seen.

Boy Scout Troop Rechartered in CP

Central Point—Boy Scout Troop 40 has been rechartered under the sponsorship of the Presbyterian church of Central Point. The Troop will meet every Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at the church.

There are 24 active Scouts. John Snook is Scoutmaster and Chester Ricks is assistant Scoutmaster. David DeArmond is the institutional representative.

The Scout committee consists of A. D. Van Horn, chairman, and D. C. Mapel, Earl Yoakley, Orville Schwartz, Kenneth Toner, Robert Kincaid, Bert Marshall and George Boyce. The committee meets the first Monday each month.

NOMINATED—Hal Gardner, left and Del Landing are candidates for the Medford Junior Chamber of Commerce Distinguished Service Award. Gardner, who is employed by the California Oregon Power company, and Landing, who works at the First National Bank of Oregon, Medford branch, were both nominated by the United Medford Crusade. The Distinguished Service Award will be presented to one of six candidates at a banquet Thursday, Feb. 25, at the Rogue Valley Country club, at which Thomas Vaughn, director of the Oregon Historical Society, will speak.

Mrs. Ramsay Elected Garden Club President

Applegate Valley—Mrs. Ed Ramsay was elected president of Applegate Valley Garden club at a meeting at the home of Mrs. George Brown Wednesday, Mrs. Wilfred Pearson was elected vice president, with Mrs. George Brown secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Francis Krouse demonstrated terrarium making, which was sold at silent auction for benefit of 4-H club scholarship fund.

INVISIBLE MAN
 Exeter, England—UPI—Maj. John Slim was reported missing and hunted for 36 hours after he took part in an army exercise in escape and evasion. Then he phoned headquarters to report he had "completed crossing undetected."

EP Officials Visit Plant, See Walks

Eagle Point—Ed Putman, Eagle Point mayor, Orin Chastain, city marshal, Bill Huntington, city councilman, and Dave Hannaford, went to Glendale and Grants Pass last week to tour and inspect the sewer disposal plant at Glendale and the black top sidewalks in Grants Pass.

Mayor Putman reported that the engineers were cooperative in explaining and making recommendations and letting them check various types of engineering which would help them get engineering started for the Eagle Point sewer plant.

Work on Pioneer Addition Starts

Central Point—Work began last week on an addition to the Pioneer Cafe in Central Point.

Earl Obenshain is building the addition. John Gallucci, cafe operator, said the dining room will be large enough and facilities available for banquet accommodations and dancing.

He plans to have the new addition ready for use about June 1.

2 Businesses Open in Central Point

Central Point—Two new businesses opened in Central Point recently. One is the Central Point Business agency, 222 Pine st., operated by Mrs. Virgil (Betty) Ladd of Gold Hill. Mrs. Ladd said she would handle income tax reports, bookkeeping and typing service.

The other business is the O'Brien Plumbing company, which opened at 220 Pine st. R. M. O'Brien of Foley lane, Gold Hill, is proprietor, and Mrs. Lillian Lowrey, Medford, is bookkeeper.

ATTENTION, MEN!
 Clifton, England—UPI—Godfrey Gethin, 32, believes he has found a way for husbands who are all thumbs at most jobs to properly handle do-it-yourself repair work. He has organized the Husbands of Clifton to Swap Jobs—each man doing the task at which he is most talented.
