

Pete Newell, Two Other Basketball Coaches Give Notice

Newell To Be Athletic Director

United Press International
Three resignations, all jammed within two hours, left the San Francisco Bay area short today of some of its top-notch basketball coaches.

The biggest jolt was turned in by Pete Newell, towel-chewing strategist for California's top-ranked Golden Bears, who announced Monday that he would quit the post after this season to become the school's athletic director.

Scarcely had Newell given his reasons for "staying as far away from the bench as possible" than the University of San Francisco announced that Phil Woolpert would not return. The Dons' famed strategist took a year's leave of absence on Nov. 28 and now is director of sales and public relations for a local vending machine firm.

Then came news from San Jose State that Walt McPherson was stepping down after 17 years as the Spartans' coach.

Named Athletic Director
Newell, who will guide the Bears through the coming NCAA tournament as they battle to keep the crown they won last year, is scheduled to become athletic director on July 1. He will replace Greg Englehard, who is to be given another post at the school. Its nature will be disclosed later.

Rene Herrerias, his 33-year-old aide, will move into the head coaching job next season. It was Herrerias who helped lead USF to the National Invitational tournament championship in 1949 when Newell coached there.

Fete directed the Dons four years and put in another four at Michigan State before coming to Cal where he has a career record of 113 wins and 43 losses. His lifetime mark stands at 228-121 and like Woolpert, who was his assistant at USF, Newell is acclaimed as one of the game's defensive geniuses.

Played It Cozy
Woolpert had played it cozy on his plans. Recently he told the United Press International "I don't know if I'll return or not," after he knocked off three months ago with an aching back and jangled nerves. Monday he wrote the Dons that he would stay out.

Woolpert succeeded Newell as head coach at USF in 1950 and in nine years turned out some record-smashing teams. These included powerhouses of 1955 and 1956 which sported such stars as Bill Russell and K. C. Jones and breezed to a pair of NCAA titles.

Ross Giudice, a teammate with Herrerias at the 1949 NIT tournament now coaches the Dons but said he didn't know if he would remain there.

McPherson's resignation had been rumored for about the past month. He will remain at San Jose State as coach of the golf team and a professor in the men's physical education department.

He will be replaced by Stu Inman, the freshman coach and a former star for McPherson at San Jose.

PHOENIX GOLF SITE

Dunedin, Fla. (UPI)—Phoenix, Ariz., has been selected as the site of the Professional Golfers' association 44th annual meeting. Details of the Nov. 10-18 session will be worked out by John Reuter Jr., of Phoenix, president of the PGA's southwest section, and the PGA executive committee.

Medford Replaces Marshfield At Top of UPI Prep Hoop Poll

United Press International
Medford today replaced Marshfield as the top-ranked high school basketball team in Oregon. It is the first time this season that the eight coaches making up the United Press International board have failed to pick Marshfield at the top.

Medford, rolling along unbeaten since early in the season, picked up six first place votes and two second place votes for 78 points. Marshfield had two first place votes and Cleveland high of Portland dropped two games last week and fell from third place to fifth. Hermiston, with 20 victories this season, moved into third place and Klamath Falls moved a notch ahead to fourth.

Playoff action opens on Thursday to decide the 5B issue. St. Mary's of Medford and Malin tangle in the first fricas of a two-of-three series at Southern Oregon college gym in Ashland.

Woolpert Through as SF Coach

San Francisco (UPI)—The University of San Francisco announced today that Phil Woolpert will not return as basketball coach.

Woolpert started a leave of absence last November 28, blaming "jangled nerves" along with an injured back. The Dons have been coached this season by Ross Giudice.

Woolpert has gone to work as director of sales and public relations for a San Francisco vending machine firm.

He succeeded Pete Newell as head basketball coach at USF in 1950 and made history there with some of the great teams which he turned out during his nine-year tenure. His Dons won the NCAA championship twice and he was named United Press International coach of the year in 1955 and 1956.

She had a 776 total in the 80-shot contest. This was one better than Archie Haskins, Ashland.

Haskins led until the standing position firing. He lost out there by four points.

The Medford club will be host for National Rifle and Pistol club sectional pistol championships on Saturday and Sunday, March 5 and 6. On March 12 and 13 it will sponsor NRA sectional championship shooting.

Jordan To Defend Crown

Los Angeles (UPI)—Welterweight champion Don Jordan's first defense of his crown since last July appears to be close at hand today.

Matchmaker Teddy Brenner announced in New York Monday night that arrangements were nearing completion for Jordan to meet the winner of a March 18 battle between Federico Thompson, of Argentina, and Benny (Kid) Paret, of Cuba.

Paret and Thompson, who kayoed Jordan last December when the pair met in Buenos Aires, Argentina, will trade punches in Madison Square Garden in a 12-round bout.

Brenner said the winner would challenge Jordan in a Las Vegas, Nev., match, probably June 10.

Part of Coast Title Up for Grabs Tonight

By United Press International
Loyola faces Pepperdine tonight in a do-or-die game that will assure the winner of at least part of the West Coast Athletic conference title.

It's the season closer for both teams and each boasts an 8-3 league mark. The only fly in the ointment for the victor will then be Santa Clara.

The Broncos are 7-3 and face improving USF (5-5) tonight and rugged St. Mary's (7-4) Saturday. Santa Clara must win both games to share the title with the Loyola-Pepperdine victor.

Loyola and Pepperdine present a contest of youngsters vs. veteran. The Lions have ignored frequent predictions that they would fade and built up an 18-7 league mark—best

Recknagel Victor in Ski Jump

Squaw Valley (UPI)—German daredevil Helmut Recknagel headed home with the VIII Winter Olympic gold medal for his ski jump prowess which ended a six-year Finnish supremacy in the event.

The Steinbach-Hallenberg toolmaker lived up to his favored role Sunday by twice sailing off the 80-meter Pease Peak hill in breathtaking fashion. His overall edge over Niilo Halonen of Finland was by the commanding margin of 78 inches.

Recknagel, who will be 26 next month, soared 306.8 feet on his first leap, and 277.2 feet on the second after the jump in-run was shortened. Both jumps were the best in the 45-man field and gave Helmut 227.2 points.

ATTEMPT RARE 'DOUBLE'

New York (UPI)—Dick Engelbrink of Penn State will attempt a rare "double" in the IC4-A indoor track championships at Madison Square Garden Saturday night when he runs in the 1,000-yard and the three-mile events. Ron Delany is the only runner ever to win both events on the same program. He achieved the double twice, in 1957 and 1958.

Winter Olympic Games Hailed as Great Success

By HAL WOOD
Squaw Valley (UPI)—From Sweden to Britain, from Bulgaria to Spain, the 1960 Olympic Games were hailed as an outstanding artistic and athletic success.

As thousands of competitors, officials and spectators from 30 nations headed for home, they left the impression that no Olympic Winter Games ever have compared with the ones staged in Squaw Valley.

"I feel the people of the states of California and Nevada—the entire nation, in fact—should be extremely proud of what has been accomplished at Squaw Valley," said Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic committee.

Brundage, a severe critic of the area and the progress of the plans in the early stages of the over-all construction, said that even the foreign "experts" learned a few things here.

"The facilities were pronounced excellent by the leading technical experts of the world," said Brundage. "The competition was extremely keen. The distribution of medals has been wide. And all seem to have captured the Olympic spirit—which, after all, is the main objective of the games."

There was considerable pre-games protest because the athletes had to live in dormitories, eat at the same restaurant and lacked entertainment facilities. But these all faded as the games got under way.

"This is my 14th Olympic Games since 1912," said Erik Von Frenckell, President of the organizing committee for the 1952 Summer Olympics at Helsinki. "On the basis of my experience I can say that the surroundings here are perfect. Nobody in the world can beat them... the organization and good will in this Olympic community are perfect."

Dr. Ferenc Mezo, the IOC delegate from Hungary, who was hospitalized with a leg ailment for part of the games, went even farther.

"These are the fourth winter games I've seen and this one has been better than the other three put together."

"The Swedes were the strongest critics of the way the games were being handled before competition got under way. But they did an about-face, too."

"These have been the finest games I have ever seen," said Bo Eklund, member of the executive board of the IOC from Sweden. "Everything has been extremely well done."

Idaho State Seeks Shot At Champs

United Press International
Maybe the basketball season is about over as far as the schedule-makers are concerned but things are just warming up down on the floor.

Top-ranked California may have to tackle Idaho State on March 8 in the University of San Francisco gym before assuring itself of a spot in the regional eliminations at Seattle.

The Bears hold the NCAA title and are 21-1 this season, but there is chatter that Idaho State rates a shot at them in an "at large" elimination.

Idaho State, which faces Seattle this evening, holds the Rocky Mountain conference title and has captured 17 straight games for the longest winning streak in the nation.

Nothing is settled yet in the West Coast Athletic conference where the eventual champion earns a berth in the same tourney. But who will make it? Heading into tonight's big showdown are Pepperdine and Loyola, who meet on the Lions court in the final regular game of the year and are tied for first place. Lurking in the wings is Santa Clara, a half-game off the pace, which could force a neutral court playoff by defeating USF on tonight and St. Mary's on Friday.

Skate Title Events Start

Vancouver, B.C. (UPI)—Eighty-three skaters from 13 countries began competing today in the 1960 world figure skating championships, with Canadian, U.S. and French entrants favored to take home the top honors.

Don Jackson, a 19-year-old Oshawa, Ont., skater and Alain Gilette, 21, of Bourgain, France, emerged as the top prospects to succeed Dave Jenkins of Colorado Springs, Colo., as men's champion, while Carol Heiss of Ozone Park, N.Y., was a heavy choice to continue her domination of the women's competition.

Jackson and Gilette got their chance after Karol Divin of Czechoslovakia and Jenkens, the Olympic and world champion, withdrew.

Divan, who won a silver medal in the Winter Olympics at Squaw Valley, Calif., suffered a hip injury last week and has been unable to skate since, while Jenkens decided Saturday that he would pass up this year's world tournament to return to his medical studies at Western Reserve in Cleveland.
