Miss Cote Bride of Lester Walker

Central Point - An event of Saturday, February 27, was the wedding of Miss Annette Marie Cote, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Cote, 1847 Scenic avenue, to Lester Stephen Walker, 801 Beach street, Ashland. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Charles Walker, route 1, Talent, are the bridegroom's parents.

The Rev. William McLeod officiated at the 12 noon nuptial mass held at Sacred Heart Catholic church. Servers were Paul and Bill Smith. More than 300 relatives and friends attended.

Bouquets of white stock and red carnations and baskets of woodwardia decorated the church. Loops of white satin and bows marked the pew ends. Miss Toni Adams played the organ wedding music.

The bride wore a floor length gown fashioned with Chantilly lace and pleated nylon net. The bodice was lace and the tiered nylon skirt had an overskirt of lace. Her elbow length veil of nylon tulle was held by a lace head-dress trimmed with seed pearls and sequins and she carried fleur d'amour encircling a white orchid on a white Bible.

Carries Rosary

For something old the bride carried a blue rosary, given her by her grandmother, Mrs. Lillian Ehrheart, Central Point, and something borrowed was a crocheted handkerchief belonging to Mrs. Ehrheart. She had a six pence in her shoe.

Mr. Cote escorted his daughter to the altar.

Miss Regina Hull, San Francisco, was maid of honor. She wore a white lace dress over taffeta with white accessories. Her cascade bouquet was of red carnations and white fleur d'amour. Bridesmaids were Miss Carol McGonagle, Miss Jocelyn Cameron, Miss Kathleen McGowan, Medford, and Miss Shirley Walker, Talent, sister of the bridegroom. They wore dresses identical to Miss Hull's except in red and they carried white fleur d'amour and white carnations. Little Christine Thomas, Medford, was flower girl. Her frock was white organza and she carried a nosegay of red and white carnations. James Walker, Talent, served as best man for his brother. Seating the guests were John Wayne Walker, brother of the bridegroom; Dale Walters, Glen Cote and Richard Cote, brothers of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Cote chose a beige knit suit with beige accessories. Her flowers were green cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Walker wore a blue wool suit with white accessories and white cymbidium orchid corsage.

Reception Given

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Mon Desir Dining Inn. Red roses, white stock and red carnations decorated the rooms. The building where the reception was held at one time was operated as a restaurant by the bride's grandmother and mother and was the former home of the bride.

Mrs. James McGowan, godmother of the bride, and Miss Irene McGowan cut and served the wedding cake decorated by Mrs. LaNeve Spires. Miss Kay Askwith and Miss Karen VanDyke presided at the punch bowls and Miss Sharon Walker, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Pat King were in charge of the guest book.

Miss Judy Singleton and Mrs. John Wayne Walker were at the gift table.

Among the guests attending the wedding and reception was the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Ehrheart.

The newlywed couple traveled to Carmel, Calif., on a wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a navy blue suit with white accessories and the white orchid from her wedding bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Crater High school and attended Southern Oregon college. She is a florist at Med-

Catholic Sister Describes AAUW Fellowship Travels

A year's study and travel in England was described in words and pictures by Sister M. Anne, O.S.B., at the annual American Association of University Women fellowship luncheon last Saturday.

As an undergraduate at Cornell university, Sister Anne, then Alice M. Ryan, started a project of mapping English monasteries of the pre-Norman conquest period and their relation to rivers, roads, and other means of communication. While she was there, Cornell's late professor Lane Cooper and other scholars, including Carl Jung and Louise Pound, encouraged her to apply for an AAUW fellowship to pursue her mapping project.

The fellowship was granted in 1937. While a fellow at British Museum, London, Miss Ryan ate in the dining hall of the International Federation of University Women, Crosby hall, which was once the home of Sir Thomas Moore. In order to see the monasteries of her study, Miss Ryan made a pilgrimage by bicycle. Overnight stops were made at youth hostels where young people traveling by non-motorized means are lodged. Interesting hostels included a fourteenth-century house in Canterbury and a mill-hostel combination on the River Ouse which was built on the foundation of a mill which once belonged to a Benedictine monastery.

Shows Slides

While showing slides of English cathedrals, many of which had been built at least in part by Saint Augustine, Sister Anne said that he had frequently used land which had been deserted by the Romans. She then showed how the coastline has moved very close to one church and mentioned that a mapmaker must learn how a coastline has changed.

The Church of Saint Mary at Dover was built within the confines of a Roman fort of the seventh, eighth and ninth centuries. For many years it was used as a coal bin, but now, beautifully restored, it is used by the Church of England. When commenting on pictures of a portion of the Roman wall which once circled the city of York, Sister Anne said "The British love antiquity and do not remove ruins if they remind them of their glorious past."

In going from what she referred to as "the shadow of the past to the substance of the present," Sister Anne showed pictures of Mount Angel college, Mount Angel, Ore., where she has been a teacher of history, language and literature during most of the 11 years since she entered the Benedictine order. According to Sister Anne, 99 per cent of the residents of the town of Mount Angel are Catholic, and the first three grades of Saint Mary's public school there are taught by sisters. Mount Angel convent was founded in 1889, along with a high school and normal school.

Audience Amused

Banter between Sister Anne and her companion, Sister Jean, amused the audience as they described activities at Mount Angel college, including a dart team which challenged the Reed college dart team, and a mosaic picturing Saint Benedict which Sister Anne had made of material such as pebbles and seashells.

Sister Anne's talk, which she titled "The Fruits of an AAUW Fellowship," was interesting to members of the local branch because of her charm and command of the English language, and because Medford branch AAUW annually gives at least one $500 fellowship. The state AAUW fellowships chairman is Medford branch past president, Mrs. A. J. Johannson.

Tables at Ping's Garden, where the luncheon took place, were decorated with bouquets of daffodils, pussy willows and myrtle. Mrs. Vernon Gebhard, chairman for the luncheon, was assisted by Mrs. George Johns, Mrs. Edwin W. Gebhard, Mrs. Jack W. Love, Mrs. Robert A. Boyer, and Mrs. C. G. VanValzah. The next regular AAUW meeting will be Wednesday, March 2, at Mrs. Johannson's home, 2133 Dellwood avenue, at 8 p.m.

Lenten Meditations To Be Guild Topic

The Rev. Eric Robathan will speak on "Lenten Meditation" at the Friday meeting of St. Elizabeth's Guild of St. Mark's Episcopal church. Luncheon will be served in the parish house at noon and will follow a service of holy communion at 11 a.m. in the church.

The talk by Mr. Robathan will be the first in a series of two talks on the subject. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Program Slated In Central Point

Central Point - Mrs. Robert Schmidt has announced a program for the public to be held Monday, March 7 at 2 p.m. at the Central Point library. The program, to be given by the Central Point Garden club, will be a demonstration on seed flat planting given by Mrs. John Holmer. Prizes of garden gifts are planned.

Interested persons are welcome to attend, Mrs. Schmidt said.

which girl has glasses?

BOTH — one wears CONTACTS!

Actually, both pictures are of Dr. Noles' 13-year-old daughter who has worn contact lenses 16 hours a day for the past two years. And . . . she wears dark green tinted contact lenses for swimming and skiing. A dramatic illustration of the cosmetic and psychological benefits to be derived from wearing contact lenses.
