

House Tackles Proposals To Safeguard Negro Vote Rights

MEDFORD TRIBUNE

Regional Edition Page 2A

Stock List Firms Along Broad Front

New York — (UPI) — The stock market firmed along a broad front in the early trading today.

Many of the leaders met strong support after the opening with steels, autos, chemicals and electronics dominating the play.

Steels featured gains of a point or more in Youngstown, U.S. Steel, Jones & Laughlin, and Lukens. Wheeling Steel Corp. predicted flatly that steel prices eventually would have to be raised because of cost increases growing out of the new steel labor contract.

DOW-JONES AVERAGES
New York — (UPI) — Dow-Jones final stock averages: 30 industrials 606.79, up 0.96; 20 railroads 144.22, up 1.05; 15 utilities 86.84, up 0.56, and 65 stocks 201.73, up 0.75. Sales Monday were about 2,530,000 shares compared with 2,770,000 shares Friday.

Monday's prices on selected stocks:

Allied Chemical	51 1/2
Alcoa	45 1/2
American Can	49 1/2
American Motors	23 1/2
A. T. & T.	38 1/2
Anaconda Copper	31 1/2
Armco Steel	61 1/2
Bendix Aviation	47 1/2
Bethlehem Steel	47 1/2
Boeing Air	27 1/2
Caterpillar Corp.	31 1/2
Chrysler Corp.	31 1/2
Continental Can	43 1/2
Crown Zellerbach	44 1/2
Curtiss Wright	22 1/2
Dow Chemical	27 1/2
Du Pont	22 1/2
Eastman Kodak	98
Firestone	28 1/2
General Electric	87 1/2
General Foods	59 1/2
General Motors	44 1/2
Georgia Pacific	48 1/2
Graham Paige	21 1/2
Grain Processing	20 1/2
Gulf Oil	28 1/2
Homestate Mining	44 1/2
Idaho Power	47 1/2
I. B. M.	419 1/2
Int. Paper	109 1/2
Johns Manville	51
Katy	5
Kennecott Copper	79 1/2
Lockheed Aircraft	27

CARDS ST. PATRICK'S DAY MARCH 17

Swem's 217 E. Main Medford

REVIVAL MEETINGS!

Evangelist
ALLEN L. CRABTREE
TONIGHT—8 P.M.

New Personal Testimonies of Victorious Living
Every Night Except Saturday—8 P.M.
Sunday—11 A.M. and 8 P.M.

Radio Broadcast, KMED 9:05 A.M.
Sunday School 9:30 A.M.
Rev. Crabtree 11:00 A.M.
Water Baptismal Service 3:00 P.M.
Rev. Crabtree 7:50 P.M.

Wednesday Night, Testimonies of Healing
Thursday Night, Visitors Testify
Friday Night, Young People Testify

APOSTOLIC FAITH CHURCH
N. Central at 3rd, Medford—Loyce C. Carver, Pastor
Phone SP 2-2757

Consider first, a cemetery that is affiliated with a well established mortuary (Conger Morris).

HILLCREST Memorial PARK
North Phoenix Road Phone SP 3-6162 or SP 2-7111

Administration Plan Designed To Meet Objections

Washington — (UPI) — The House today tackled a maze of proposals to safeguard Negro voting rights, including a revised administration plan designed to meet Southern objections.

The number of voting proposals — three already in the hopper and more likely to come — raised the prospect that the House would not reach a final vote on its civil rights bill until Friday. Democratic leaders had set Thursday as a target date.

The Senate continued to plod along with its civil rights debate waiting for the House to send it a bill.

Sees Senate Acceptance
Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield (Mont.) concurred in forecasts the Senate would accept without change whatever legislation the House approved. This would avoid the delay of Senate-House compromise efforts.

Mansfield told a reporter the Senate might have to invoke cloture to limit debate when it takes up the House-passed bill. Southern senators have tried to talk civil rights legislation to death.

The Senate leader said he expected the House bill to be largely a voting rights measure embracing the Administration's revised federal election referees formula, backed by Democratic civil rights advocates.

Would Permit Hearing
One change in the GOP voting plan would permit a hearing for state officials at an earlier stage in the procedure leading to appointment of a voting referee. The officials would be heard before a federal judge decided whether a pattern of discrimination existed to justify naming a referee.

Another revision would require that the referee live in the judicial district where he would guard Negro voting rights.

Lack of Progress In Housing Rapped
Washington — (UPI) — Chairman John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) of the Senate Housing Subcommittee says the Eisenhower administration "turned back 30 years" the clock on housing progress.

Sparkman said Monday night he hoped that regardless of which party wins the election next fall, the next administration would improve on the housing record of the past eight years.

In a speech at the closing banquet of the 29th annual National Housing conference, Sparkman said it was "sad" that Eisenhower did not discover the value of low-cost housing until his recent trip to Latin America.

He quoted Eisenhower's report to the nation last week in which the President said he was "impressed" by a low-cost housing project he visited in Chile.

Goldwater Says Policy Leading To Surrender
Phoenix — (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) Monday night criticized the Eisenhower administration, charging he believed its foreign policy was leading to a surrender to Communism.

Goldwater made his remarks from Washington during a telephone interview with a reporter for the Arizona Republic. The Republican leader said his criticism was contained in a speech which he planned to deliver in the Senate as soon as possible.

"Here we are, the world's most powerful nation," said Goldwater. "We are allowing the Communist-controlled Castro regime to ridicule us. Getting Tired"

"As an American I am getting tired of this and similar situations where we get slapped, turn the other cheek, get slapped again and then get kicked in the rear," the paper quoted Goldwater as saying.

"We have to be tough and risk war," Goldwater was reported to have said. "If we don't we lose the battle without firing a shot. We must take the risk of war or face a certain surrender."

Goldwater called for cancellation of the proposed summit meeting, resumption of atomic tests and the abandonment of disarmament talks.

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday, March 16, at the Red Cross auditorium.

Klep's appearance here is sponsored by the Rogue Valley Art association in cooperation with the Friends of the Museum association of the University of Oregon Art museum.

The lecture, at 8 p.m., is open to association members and invited guests.

Klep will speak about his recent around-the-world trip and show colored slides of the art centers of the world. He will also speak about the university's art museum permanent collection.

The artist, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1927, took his degree in architecture and allied arts and has won world-wide recognition for his work as a commercial and scientific artist. Klep, who served in World War II as a lieutenant commander attached to the chief of Naval operations, Washington, D.C., has had work published in Life, Look, Fortune, Colliers and Yachting magazines. He did scientific drawings for the liner, United States, and has in recent years produced illustrations for atomic power plants, space ships and interplanetary travel.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Virginia Haseltine, Eugene, who will explain the purpose and function of the university's art museum and the Friends of the Museum association.

Klep will be accompanied by his wife, and the three visitors will be honored at a no-host reception at Rogue Valley Country club following the lecture.

Safe's Combination Kept in Safe Place
Memphis, Tenn.—The manager of a supermarket here decided to put the combination of the safe in a secure place.

The next day the manager came to work and couldn't remember the combination. He couldn't get at it either. It was locked in the safe.

Eisenhower Openly Endorsed Nixon, London Newspaper Dispatch Asserts

London — (UPI) — The Times of London carried the following dispatch today from its Washington correspondent:

"President Eisenhower has openly endorsed Vice President Nixon as the man to succeed him at the White House — not that any other Republican has been in sight since the withdrawal of Governor Rockefeller.

"He twice spoke of Mr. Nixon as his 'personal choice' at a week end dinner of the Gridiron Club, an exclusive body of American newspaper correspondents in Washington whose functions are largely given to political satire. Ironically they have been barred from using this delectable morsel of political intelligence under their rule that 'reporters are never present' on such occasions.

"With the exception of Senator Humphrey (Minnesota) every conceivable candidate, Democrat or Republican, was present to hear Mr. Eisenhower's warming farewell remarks, the first of many he will be making this year. Speaking of the lonely burden of the presidency, he said his heart would be with his successor whoever he might be.

"Mr. Nixon sat on the other side of the chairman, and the President suggested that the simplest solution was to have him move over to his place. He has never given such an unreserved endorsement as this, and Mr. Nixon and his close associates are said to have looked dumbfounded.

"There have been moments when the true relationship between the two men has looked a little doubtful. Mr. Eisenhower, assuming that he

Hall Lusk Named

Mrs. Neuberger says Gov. Hatfield 'Made Good Choice'

(Continued From Page 1)

Mrs. Neuberger said Hatfield made a "good choice" in selecting Justice Lusk. She said he "has served the state of Oregon with distinction and honor."

She added, "the governor had an obligation to his party to appoint a person who was not a candidate for public office. My husband would have been the first to appreciate this aspect of practical politics."

Lusk was born in Washington, D.C. Sept. 21, 1883, and moved to Oregon in 1909 after receiving a law degree at Georgetown University.

Assistant Attorney
For three years beginning in 1919 he was an assistant U.S. attorney for Oregon and from 1930 to 1937 he was a Multnomah county circuit judge in Portland.

Democratic Gov. Charles H. Martin named Lusk to the State Supreme Court in 1937. He served as chief justice from 1940 to 1951.

Lusk won a fourth six-term to the high court four years ago.

Lusk is a Catholic and a member of the board of trustees of the University of Portland. He also serves on the advisory board of Marylhurst college near Portland.

His wife is the former Sara Catherine Emmons, Portland. They have five daughters and live here.

Lusk will serve until general election day, Nov. 8.

Good Man for Job
Hatfield said Lusk is "the best person I know who could undertake such awesome responsibilities on such short notice without having to be simultaneously making an emotional adjustment." He referred to Sen. Neuberger's bereaved widow.

"Mrs. Neuberger originally let it be known she would accept the interim appointment but could not reach a decision on a campaign. In return I

Sun Satellite Streaking Further Into Outer Space

Washington — (UPI) — America's Pioneer V sun satellite, its radio voice signaling loud and clear, streaked farther into space today charting the way for future interplanetary travelers.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the 94.8-pound "Paddletail" satellite was 644,430 miles away at noon (e.s.t.), heading for a centuries-long orbit around the sun between earth and Venus.

Distance Record Broken
The beachball-sized sphere has long since broken the long distance radio communication record of 407,000 miles set by the first U.S. solar satellite, Pioneer IV.

Pioneer V's tiny five-watt transmitter was performing perfectly, NASA said. An official who heard its voice relayed by long distance telephone from a tracking station said it was a pure high-pitched, sustained tone unmarred by any static sounds.

In addition to providing a tracking signal, the satellite's little transmitter is relaying information periodically on command about radiations, charged particle clouds, magnetic fields, and micrometers in space.

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday, March 16, at the Red Cross auditorium.

Klep's appearance here is sponsored by the Rogue Valley Art association in cooperation with the Friends of the Museum association of the University of Oregon Art museum.

The lecture, at 8 p.m., is open to association members and invited guests.

Klep will speak about his recent around-the-world trip and show colored slides of the art centers of the world. He will also speak about the university's art museum permanent collection.

The artist, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1927, took his degree in architecture and allied arts and has won world-wide recognition for his work as a commercial and scientific artist. Klep, who served in World War II as a lieutenant commander attached to the chief of Naval operations, Washington, D.C., has had work published in Life, Look, Fortune, Colliers and Yachting magazines. He did scientific drawings for the liner, United States, and has in recent years produced illustrations for atomic power plants, space ships and interplanetary travel.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Virginia Haseltine, Eugene, who will explain the purpose and function of the university's art museum and the Friends of the Museum association.

Klep will be accompanied by his wife, and the three visitors will be honored at a no-host reception at Rogue Valley Country club following the lecture.

Safe's Combination Kept in Safe Place
Memphis, Tenn.—The manager of a supermarket here decided to put the combination of the safe in a secure place.

The next day the manager came to work and couldn't remember the combination. He couldn't get at it either. It was locked in the safe.

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday, March 16, at the Red Cross auditorium.

Klep's appearance here is sponsored by the Rogue Valley Art association in cooperation with the Friends of the Museum association of the University of Oregon Art museum.

The lecture, at 8 p.m., is open to association members and invited guests.

Klep will speak about his recent around-the-world trip and show colored slides of the art centers of the world. He will also speak about the university's art museum permanent collection.

The artist, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1927, took his degree in architecture and allied arts and has won world-wide recognition for his work as a commercial and scientific artist. Klep, who served in World War II as a lieutenant commander attached to the chief of Naval operations, Washington, D.C., has had work published in Life, Look, Fortune, Colliers and Yachting magazines. He did scientific drawings for the liner, United States, and has in recent years produced illustrations for atomic power plants, space ships and interplanetary travel.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Virginia Haseltine, Eugene, who will explain the purpose and function of the university's art museum and the Friends of the Museum association.

Klep will be accompanied by his wife, and the three visitors will be honored at a no-host reception at Rogue Valley Country club following the lecture.

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday, March 16, at the Red Cross auditorium.

Klep's appearance here is sponsored by the Rogue Valley Art association in cooperation with the Friends of the Museum association of the University of Oregon Art museum.

The lecture, at 8 p.m., is open to association members and invited guests.

Klep will speak about his recent around-the-world trip and show colored slides of the art centers of the world. He will also speak about the university's art museum permanent collection.

The artist, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1927, took his degree in architecture and allied arts and has won world-wide recognition for his work as a commercial and scientific artist. Klep, who served in World War II as a lieutenant commander attached to the chief of Naval operations, Washington, D.C., has had work published in Life, Look, Fortune, Colliers and Yachting magazines. He did scientific drawings for the liner, United States, and has in recent years produced illustrations for atomic power plants, space ships and interplanetary travel.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Virginia Haseltine, Eugene, who will explain the purpose and function of the university's art museum and the Friends of the Museum association.

Klep will be accompanied by his wife, and the three visitors will be honored at a no-host reception at Rogue Valley Country club following the lecture.

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday, March 16, at the Red Cross auditorium.

Klep's appearance here is sponsored by the Rogue Valley Art association in cooperation with the Friends of the Museum association of the University of Oregon Art museum.

The lecture, at 8 p.m., is open to association members and invited guests.

Klep will speak about his recent around-the-world trip and show colored slides of the art centers of the world. He will also speak about the university's art museum permanent collection.

The artist, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1927, took his degree in architecture and allied arts and has won world-wide recognition for his work as a commercial and scientific artist. Klep, who served in World War II as a lieutenant commander attached to the chief of Naval operations, Washington, D.C., has had work published in Life, Look, Fortune, Colliers and Yachting magazines. He did scientific drawings for the liner, United States, and has in recent years produced illustrations for atomic power plants, space ships and interplanetary travel.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Virginia Haseltine, Eugene, who will explain the purpose and function of the university's art museum and the Friends of the Museum association.

Klep will be accompanied by his wife, and the three visitors will be honored at a no-host reception at Rogue Valley Country club following the lecture.

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday, March 16, at the Red Cross auditorium.

Klep's appearance here is sponsored by the Rogue Valley Art association in cooperation with the Friends of the Museum association of the University of Oregon Art museum.

The lecture, at 8 p.m., is open to association members and invited guests.

Klep will speak about his recent around-the-world trip and show colored slides of the art centers of the world. He will also speak about the university's art museum permanent collection.

The artist, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1927, took his degree in architecture and allied arts and has won world-wide recognition for his work as a commercial and scientific artist. Klep, who served in World War II as a lieutenant commander attached to the chief of Naval operations, Washington, D.C., has had work published in Life, Look, Fortune, Colliers and Yachting magazines. He did scientific drawings for the liner, United States, and has in recent years produced illustrations for atomic power plants, space ships and interplanetary travel.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Virginia Haseltine, Eugene, who will explain the purpose and function of the university's art museum and the Friends of the Museum association.

Klep will be accompanied by his wife, and the three visitors will be honored at a no-host reception at Rogue Valley Country club following the lecture.

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday, March 16, at the Red Cross auditorium.

Klep's appearance here is sponsored by the Rogue Valley Art association in cooperation with the Friends of the Museum association of the University of Oregon Art museum.

The lecture, at 8 p.m., is open to association members and invited guests.

Klep will speak about his recent around-the-world trip and show colored slides of the art centers of the world. He will also speak about the university's art museum permanent collection.

The artist, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1927, took his degree in architecture and allied arts and has won world-wide recognition for his work as a commercial and scientific artist. Klep, who served in World War II as a lieutenant commander attached to the chief of Naval operations, Washington, D.C., has had work published in Life, Look, Fortune, Colliers and Yachting magazines. He did scientific drawings for the liner, United States, and has in recent years produced illustrations for atomic power plants, space ships and interplanetary travel.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Virginia Haseltine, Eugene, who will explain the purpose and function of the university's art museum and the Friends of the Museum association.

Klep will be accompanied by his wife, and the three visitors will be honored at a no-host reception at Rogue Valley Country club following the lecture.

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday, March 16, at the Red Cross auditorium.

Klep's appearance here is sponsored by the Rogue Valley Art association in cooperation with the Friends of the Museum association of the University of Oregon Art museum.

The lecture, at 8 p.m., is open to association members and invited guests.

Klep will speak about his recent around-the-world trip and show colored slides of the art centers of the world. He will also speak about the university's art museum permanent collection.

The artist, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1927, took his degree in architecture and allied arts and has won world-wide recognition for his work as a commercial and scientific artist. Klep, who served in World War II as a lieutenant commander attached to the chief of Naval operations, Washington, D.C., has had work published in Life, Look, Fortune, Colliers and Yachting magazines. He did scientific drawings for the liner, United States, and has in recent years produced illustrations for atomic power plants, space ships and interplanetary travel.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Virginia Haseltine, Eugene, who will explain the purpose and function of the university's art museum and the Friends of the Museum association.

Klep will be accompanied by his wife, and the three visitors will be honored at a no-host reception at Rogue Valley Country club following the lecture.

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday, March 16, at the Red Cross auditorium.

Klep's appearance here is sponsored by the Rogue Valley Art association in cooperation with the Friends of the Museum association of the University of Oregon Art museum.

The lecture, at 8 p.m., is open to association members and invited guests.

Klep will speak about his recent around-the-world trip and show colored slides of the art centers of the world. He will also speak about the university's art museum permanent collection.

The artist, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1927, took his degree in architecture and allied arts and has won world-wide recognition for his work as a commercial and scientific artist. Klep, who served in World War II as a lieutenant commander attached to the chief of Naval operations, Washington, D.C., has had work published in Life, Look, Fortune, Colliers and Yachting magazines. He did scientific drawings for the liner, United States, and has in recent years produced illustrations for atomic power plants, space ships and interplanetary travel.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Virginia Haseltine, Eugene, who will explain the purpose and function of the university's art museum and the Friends of the Museum association.

Klep will be accompanied by his wife, and the three visitors will be honored at a no-host reception at Rogue Valley Country club following the lecture.

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday, March 16, at the Red Cross auditorium.

Klep's appearance here is sponsored by the Rogue Valley Art association in cooperation with the Friends of the Museum association of the University of Oregon Art museum.

The lecture, at 8 p.m., is open to association members and invited guests.

Klep will speak about his recent around-the-world trip and show colored slides of the art centers of the world. He will also speak about the university's art museum permanent collection.

The artist, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1927, took his degree in architecture and allied arts and has won world-wide recognition for his work as a commercial and scientific artist. Klep, who served in World War II as a lieutenant commander attached to the chief of Naval operations, Washington, D.C., has had work published in Life, Look, Fortune, Colliers and Yachting magazines. He did scientific drawings for the liner, United States, and has in recent years produced illustrations for atomic power plants, space ships and interplanetary travel.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Virginia Haseltine, Eugene, who will explain the purpose and function of the university's art museum and the Friends of the Museum association.

Klep will be accompanied by his wife, and the three visitors will be honored at a no-host reception at Rogue Valley Country club following the lecture.

Hall Lusk Named

Mrs. Neuberger says Gov. Hatfield 'Made Good Choice'

(Continued From Page 1)

Mrs. Neuberger said Hatfield made a "good choice" in selecting Justice Lusk. She said he "has served the state of Oregon with distinction and honor."

She added, "the governor had an obligation to his party to appoint a person who was not a candidate for public office. My husband would have been the first to appreciate this aspect of practical politics."

Lusk was born in Washington, D.C. Sept. 21, 1883, and moved to Oregon in 1909 after receiving a law degree at Georgetown University.

Assistant Attorney
For three years beginning in 1919 he was an assistant U.S. attorney for Oregon and from 1930 to 1937 he was a Multnomah county circuit judge in Portland.

Democratic Gov. Charles H. Martin named Lusk to the State Supreme Court in 1937. He served as chief justice from 1940 to 1951.

Lusk won a fourth six-term to the high court four years ago.

Lusk is a Catholic and a member of the board of trustees of the University of Portland. He also serves on the advisory board of Marylhurst college near Portland.

His wife is the former Sara Catherine Emmons, Portland. They have five daughters and live here.

Lusk will serve until general election day, Nov. 8.

Good Man for Job
Hatfield said Lusk is "the best person I know who could undertake such awesome responsibilities on such short notice without having to be simultaneously making an emotional adjustment." He referred to Sen. Neuberger's bereaved widow.

"Mrs. Neuberger originally let it be known she would accept the interim appointment but could not reach a decision on a campaign. In return I

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday, March 16, at the Red Cross auditorium.

Klep's appearance here is sponsored by the Rogue Valley Art association in cooperation with the Friends of the Museum association of the University of Oregon Art museum.

The lecture, at 8 p.m., is open to association members and invited guests.

Klep will speak about his recent around-the-world trip and show colored slides of the art centers of the world. He will also speak about the university's art museum permanent collection.

The artist, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1927, took his degree in architecture and allied arts and has won world-wide recognition for his work as a commercial and scientific artist. Klep, who served in World War II as a lieutenant commander attached to the chief of Naval operations, Washington, D.C., has had work published in Life, Look, Fortune, Colliers and Yachting magazines. He did scientific drawings for the liner, United States, and has in recent years produced illustrations for atomic power plants, space ships and interplanetary travel.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Virginia Haseltine, Eugene, who will explain the purpose and function of the university's art museum and the Friends of the Museum association.

Klep will be accompanied by his wife, and the three visitors will be honored at a no-host reception at Rogue Valley Country club following the lecture.

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday, March 16, at the Red Cross auditorium.

Klep's appearance here is sponsored by the Rogue Valley Art association in cooperation with the Friends of the Museum association of the University of Oregon Art museum.

The lecture, at 8 p.m., is open to association members and invited guests.

Klep will speak about his recent around-the-world trip and show colored slides of the art centers of the world. He will also speak about the university's art museum permanent collection.

The artist, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1927, took his degree in architecture and allied arts and has won world-wide recognition for his work as a commercial and scientific artist. Klep, who served in World War II as a lieutenant commander attached to the chief of Naval operations, Washington, D.C., has had work published in Life, Look, Fortune, Colliers and Yachting magazines. He did scientific drawings for the liner, United States, and has in recent years produced illustrations for atomic power plants, space ships and interplanetary travel.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Virginia Haseltine, Eugene, who will explain the purpose and function of the university's art museum and the Friends of the Museum association.

Klep will be accompanied by his wife, and the three visitors will be honored at a no-host reception at Rogue Valley Country club following the lecture.

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday, March 16, at the Red Cross auditorium.

Klep's appearance here is sponsored by the Rogue Valley Art association in cooperation with the Friends of the Museum association of the University of Oregon Art museum.

The lecture, at 8 p.m., is open to association members and invited guests.

Klep will speak about his recent around-the-world trip and show colored slides of the art centers of the world. He will also speak about the university's art museum permanent collection.

The artist, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1927, took his degree in architecture and allied arts and has won world-wide recognition for his work as a commercial and scientific artist. Klep, who served in World War II as a lieutenant commander attached to the chief of Naval operations, Washington, D.C., has had work published in Life, Look, Fortune, Colliers and Yachting magazines. He did scientific drawings for the liner, United States, and has in recent years produced illustrations for atomic power plants, space ships and interplanetary travel.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Virginia Haseltine, Eugene, who will explain the purpose and function of the university's art museum and the Friends of the Museum association.

Klep will be accompanied by his wife, and the three visitors will be honored at a no-host reception at Rogue Valley Country club following the lecture.

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday, March 16, at the Red Cross auditorium.

Klep's appearance here is sponsored by the Rogue Valley Art association in cooperation with the Friends of the Museum association of the University of Oregon Art museum.

The lecture, at 8 p.m., is open to association members and invited guests.

Klep will speak about his recent around-the-world trip and show colored slides of the art centers of the world. He will also speak about the university's art museum permanent collection.

The artist, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1927, took his degree in architecture and allied arts and has won world-wide recognition for his work as a commercial and scientific artist. Klep, who served in World War II as a lieutenant commander attached to the chief of Naval operations, Washington, D.C., has had work published in Life, Look, Fortune, Colliers and Yachting magazines. He did scientific drawings for the liner, United States, and has in recent years produced illustrations for atomic power plants, space ships and interplanetary travel.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Virginia Haseltine, Eugene, who will explain the purpose and function of the university's art museum and the Friends of the Museum association.

Klep will be accompanied by his wife, and the three visitors will be honored at a no-host reception at Rogue Valley Country club following the lecture.

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday, March 16, at the Red Cross auditorium.

Klep's appearance here is sponsored by the Rogue Valley Art association in cooperation with the Friends of the Museum association of the University of Oregon Art museum.

The lecture, at 8 p.m., is open to association members and invited guests.

Klep will speak about his recent around-the-world trip and show colored slides of the art centers of the world. He will also speak about the university's art museum permanent collection.

The artist, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1927, took his degree in architecture and allied arts and has won world-wide recognition for his work as a commercial and scientific artist. Klep, who served in World War II as a lieutenant commander attached to the chief of Naval operations, Washington, D.C., has had work published in Life, Look, Fortune, Colliers and Yachting magazines. He did scientific drawings for the liner, United States, and has in recent years produced illustrations for atomic power plants, space ships and interplanetary travel.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Virginia Haseltine, Eugene, who will explain the purpose and function of the university's art museum and the Friends of the Museum association.

Klep will be accompanied by his wife, and the three visitors will be honored at a no-host reception at Rogue Valley Country club following the lecture.

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday, March 16, at the Red Cross auditorium.

Klep's appearance here is sponsored by the Rogue Valley Art association in cooperation with the Friends of the Museum association of the University of Oregon Art museum.

The lecture, at 8 p.m., is open to association members and invited guests.

Klep will speak about his recent around-the-world trip and show colored slides of the art centers of the world. He will also speak about the university's art museum permanent collection.

The artist, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1927, took his degree in architecture and allied arts and has won world-wide recognition for his work as a commercial and scientific artist. Klep, who served in World War II as a lieutenant commander attached to the chief of Naval operations, Washington, D.C., has had work published in Life, Look, Fortune, Colliers and Yachting magazines. He did scientific drawings for the liner, United States, and has in recent years produced illustrations for atomic power plants, space ships and interplanetary travel.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Virginia Haseltine, Eugene, who will explain the purpose and function of the university's art museum and the Friends of the Museum association.

Klep will be accompanied by his wife, and the three visitors will be honored at a no-host reception at Rogue Valley Country club following the lecture.

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday, March 16, at the Red Cross auditorium.

Klep's appearance here is sponsored by the Rogue Valley Art association in cooperation with the Friends of the Museum association of the University of Oregon Art museum.

The lecture, at 8 p.m., is open to association members and invited guests.

Klep will speak about his recent around-the-world trip and show colored slides of the art centers of the world. He will also speak about the university's art museum permanent collection.

The artist, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1927, took his degree in architecture and allied arts and has won world-wide recognition for his work as a commercial and scientific artist. Klep, who served in World War II as a lieutenant commander attached to the chief of Naval operations, Washington, D.C., has had work published in Life, Look, Fortune, Colliers and Yachting magazines. He did scientific drawings for the liner, United States, and has in recent years produced illustrations for atomic power plants, space ships and interplanetary travel.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Virginia Haseltine, Eugene, who will explain the purpose and function of the university's art museum and the Friends of the Museum association.

Klep will be accompanied by his wife, and the three visitors will be honored at a no-host reception at Rogue Valley Country club following the lecture.

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday, March 16, at the Red Cross auditorium.

Klep's appearance here is sponsored by the Rogue Valley Art association in cooperation with the Friends of the Museum association of the University of Oregon Art museum.

The lecture, at 8 p.m., is open to association members and invited guests.

Klep will speak about his recent around-the-world trip and show colored slides of the art centers of the world. He will also speak about the university's art museum permanent collection.

The artist, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1927, took his degree in architecture and allied arts and has won world-wide recognition for his work as a commercial and scientific artist. Klep, who served in World War II as a lieutenant commander attached to the chief of Naval operations, Washington, D.C., has had work published in Life, Look, Fortune, Colliers and Yachting magazines. He did scientific drawings for the liner, United States, and has in recent years produced illustrations for atomic power plants, space ships and interplanetary travel.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Virginia Haseltine, Eugene, who will explain the purpose and function of the university's art museum and the Friends of the Museum association.

Klep will be accompanied by his wife, and the three visitors will be honored at a no-host reception at Rogue Valley Country club following the lecture.

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday, March 16, at the Red Cross auditorium.

Klep's appearance here is sponsored by the Rogue Valley Art association in cooperation with the Friends of the Museum association of the University of Oregon Art museum.

The lecture, at 8 p.m., is open to association members and invited guests.

Klep will speak about his recent around-the-world trip and show colored slides of the art centers of the world. He will also speak about the university's art museum permanent collection.

The artist, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1927, took his degree in architecture and allied arts and has won world-wide recognition for his work as a commercial and scientific artist. Klep, who served in World War II as a lieutenant commander attached to the chief of Naval operations, Washington, D.C., has had work published in Life, Look, Fortune, Colliers and Yachting magazines. He did scientific drawings for the liner, United States, and has in recent years produced illustrations for atomic power plants, space ships and interplanetary travel.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Virginia Haseltine, Eugene, who will explain the purpose and function of the university's art museum and the Friends of the Museum association.

Klep will be accompanied by his wife, and the three visitors will be honored at a no-host reception at Rogue Valley Country club following the lecture.

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday, March 16, at the Red Cross auditorium.

Klep's appearance here is sponsored by the Rogue Valley Art association in cooperation with the Friends of the Museum association of the University of Oregon Art museum.

The lecture, at 8 p.m., is open to association members and invited guests.

Klep will speak about his recent around-the-world trip and show colored slides of the art centers of the world. He will also speak about the university's art museum permanent collection.

The artist, a graduate of the University of Oregon in 1927, took his degree in architecture and allied arts and has won world-wide recognition for his work as a commercial and scientific artist. Klep, who served in World War II as a lieutenant commander attached to the chief of Naval operations, Washington, D.C., has had work published in Life, Look, Fortune, Colliers and Yachting magazines. He did scientific drawings for the liner, United States, and has in recent years produced illustrations for atomic power plants, space ships and interplanetary travel.

Also on the program will be Mrs. Virginia Haseltine, Eugene, who will explain the purpose and function of the university's art museum and the Friends of the Museum association.

Klep will be accompanied by his wife, and the three visitors will be honored at a no-host reception at Rogue Valley Country club following the lecture.

Artist to Lecture Here Wednesday
Rolf Klep, Gearhart, widely known illustrator and artist, will speak in Medford Wednesday,