

Siskiyou Deputies Arrest 4

Yreka—Two men were arrested by sheriff's deputies early this week on charges of driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages. They were John C. Dobbs, 46, of Tulelake, and William McFayden, 53, of Mt. Shasta, authorities reported. Fifty-year-old Frank J. Schantz of Montague also was arrested this week, the sheriff's office reported, on a charge of arson. He allegedly was burning a vehicle by piling tires around it and setting the mafire. Deputies said the offense occurred on Oberlin rd. at the south city limits of Yreka.

Wanted Dunsuir Man Arrested in Oklahoma

Yreka—Hershell L. Fields, sought on a Dunsuir justice court warrant charging him with failure to provide, has been arrested in LeFlore county, Okla., and is being extradited to Siskiyou county for prosecution, the sheriff's office here has reported. Fields' bail is set at $1,000.

Drew Resident Hurt In Tractor Mishap

Drew—Roger Stauch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Stauch of Drew, was injured Sunday when the Stauch tractor rolled over an embankment with him. Roger suffered a broken leg, loss of a tooth, a gash below his lower lip that required five stitches to close, and numerous scratches and bruises. He was taken immediately to Forest Glen clinic in Canyonville.

Ranger to Attend Meeting in Seattle

Applegate Valley—Robert Snoch, in charge of timber management for the Applegate ranger district, will attend a forest pest control school at the University of Washington in Seattle, March 23-25, according to a news report from Star Ranger station. The purpose of the school is to set up control measures for the various pests, including beetles, which infest pine and Douglas fir.

Ag Instructors to Attend Meetings

Eagle Point—Ed Griggs and Bill MacFarlane of Crater High school FFA, Jack Dube of Phoenix, and Nat Etzel of Eagle Point, local instructors of vocational agriculture, are attending the spring meetings of the Oregon Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association in Pendleton this week.

Table Rock—Of interest to local people was the recent sale of the Jim Glenn home and acreage to Norman Matteson, who has leased it to the Paul Read family of Biddle Lane. They will be moving in this week end. Read is employed by the Electronic Service Co. of Medford. There are three young children in the family. This home, built about 50 years ago, has been well-kept, and is in a setting that furnishes an unsurpassed view of the two Table Rocks, woods along the river, and Mt. McLoughlin. The house and yard are one of the beauty spots of the community.

The Lydiard house is the name this place is known as by old residents in this area, as the Lydiard family owned it and resided there for many years.

A meeting to discuss the much talked of 23rd amendment will be held Saturday night, March 26, at the Sams Valley Grange, Verne Shangle of Medford will speak for the amendment, and some one selected by the Grange lecturer will be the negative speaker. The meeting will be open to the public, and anyone interested in hearing both sides of the issue discussed is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Nelson were among the 16 candidates who were given degrees at Sams Valley Grange at the Saturday night meeting, where some 70 members of valley Granges were in attendance.

After reading and listening as long as we have to the Dr. Finch trial, the Caryl Chessman affair, and the death penalty fess in California, we thought this story of bygone days in California might be appropriate, and add a little weight to one side or the other.

It is recorded that in one California community a mob hanged a man for horse stealing, but later discovered that he was innocent.

The mob's messenger broke the news to the victim's widow in this manner:

"We hanged Jim for stealing a horse, but come to find out he didn't do it, so I guess the joke's on us."

The following supposedly happened during World War II, and is an encounter our local merchant had with a prospective customer.

A pompous little man in shorts, carrying a knapsack, came into what Ray at that time called his PX, and announced that he was a psychiatrist with the Army at Camp White.

"Do you know what a psychiatrist is?" he inquired condescendingly. "Why, let me see," Ray replied, looking at him with wide-eyed innocence. "Why, that there is an escaped lunatic, ain't it mister?"

Then the psychiatrist asked Ray why a can of peaches cost 10 cents more at his PX than in town 40 miles away. Ray with one word answered "freight." When it was pointed out that the freight was only a few cents on a case of canned goods, he said blandly, "I've thought a lot about that too, but the only way I can explain it is freight. If you can do any better, go ahead."

Our good neighbor lady gave us a pair of bantams, which we named John and Hassel. John does a lot of crowing, beginning at 4 o'clock in the morning. Hassel is more timid and quiet, but anyway it makes us feel like we are farming again to be awakened so early in the morning.

We feel sorry for our bearded friend who lives on Gregory road, near the Charley Hoover place, who has been losing his fryers. If it is a four-legged thief, he should call Chis Hagler, the dog-catcher, who will tell him how to handle the situation.

Don Ryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ryan and member of the Crater High FFA, is taking his prize-winning project record book to Pendleton this week, where it will be entered in competition at the state convention. If Don keeps on accumulating knowledge relative to farming, in a few more years he will be qualified to enter the real estate business and sell farms like daddy Ray.

Dan Matteson, another FFA member, is attending the convention too.

A new-comer to the Agate district was Samuel Douglas Glass, (weight 7 pounds, 4 ounces, dark hair and eyes of blue), born to Mr. and Mrs. Sam Glass, March 10 at Rogue Valley hospital. Daddy Sam, ex-marine and hatless hired man, has spent most of his life, except his service with Uncle Sam, farming in this community.

Mrs. Bert Pierce was honored Monday with a belated birthday party at her home, attended by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pierce and three sons, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reisinger and daughter, Rosalyn, all of Medford.

We got our first check from the M.T. the other day and Bessie said right off, "Now we can get a new ribbon for Eric the typewriter."

This paragraph in the minutes of a previous meeting being read by the secretary at the last meeting of the S.V. Grange caused a ripple of laughter: "We can expect an increase in at-

School Superintendent Backs Plans for Recreation Program

By MARY KELL
Mail Tribune Correspondent
Gold Hill—Charles A. Meyer, superintendent of school District 6C, guest speaker at a meeting of the Gold Hill PTA last Thursday evening in the Hanby school gymnasium, praised people of the Gold Hill area for their response to a proposed summer recreation program that is being promoted here among local organizations.

He said an activity that would keep children occupied during summer months would be an asset to the community, and he hoped that by another year the district and city here could share the development of a first-rate program for Gold Hill children. Gilbert A. Mack, principal of the Hanby and Patrick schools of District 6C, also expressed his appreciation to residents of this community for their interest and effort to promote a recreation program this year, which at this time is in the introductory stages. He named several civic groups besides the PTA which will participate in the movement in various ways, depending on the ability of each individual group.

These include the Gold Hill city council, Amethyst Rebekah lodge 97, Gold Hill Lions club and Gold Hill Grange. Other groups have been invited to assist with furthering the project.

Mack said Leon Myers, Hanby teacher and coach, has agreed to be available three hours, five days a week for six weeks. He has had considerable experience in this type of activity.

The district superintendent complimented the PTA for appointing a safety committee to investigate complaints of hazards that could endanger the lives of school children in the community. He stated that he is also concerned about the danger which exists at railroad crossings, when box cars are parked so that the view of the school bus driver is blocked by possible on-coming trains.

He added that a similar problem exists for school bus drivers at the railroad crossing in Central Point, adding that the school administrators are constantly concerned with the prevention of accidents to youngsters. He appreciates the efforts of persons who are concerned enough to sendance now, since all the good programs on TV have been stopped."

Mrs. J. S. Richardson left Wednesday for Portland to attend as a delegate a meeting of the retired teachers association. While in Portland, she will attend a meeting of the OEA and visit relatives at the home of her son, Donald.

We have recently had a sprouting up of political candidates in the home town. Norman Matteson would like to be justice of the peace, Gold Hill district, and Ed Taylor would like to sit in a commissioner's seat at the Court House.

News of the death of Richard Neuberger came as a sudden shock to friends here. We had recently received his useful interesting letter, in which he explained that he filed for re-election only after his doctor gave him a clean bill of health.

His virtues are so many that the task of enumerating them would be too great. A tireless worker, always putting principle above politics, with malice toward none, he will be sorely missed in Oregon, the place of his birth, and through the nation. To those who knew him personally, the loss will be more keenly felt.

investigate safety factors, he said. Mrs. Ogden Kellogg, PTA president, informed members that a request for correct information concerning a solution to the dangerous railroad situation and other factors has been presented to the proper authorities for consideration. This includes the study that is being done in regard to blind corners in the vicinity of the school. A more complete report is expected at the April meeting of the PTA.

The superintendent thanked patrons of the school for their support of the recent bond issue, and explained the improvements which will take place at Patrick and Hanby schools as a result. He informed the group that the budget hearing will be April 7 to give those who may have objections an opportunity to express them. The budget election will be held May 2. He stressed the importance of persons being legal registered voters.

During the business session, members of the unit rescinded a motion passed at the February meeting favoring the purchase of a typewriter for students and teachers at Hanby as one of this year's PTA projects. Gilbert A. Mack, on behalf of the teachers, requested that this action be taken by the PTA because the teachers feel more people would benefit if funds for this purpose were made available to help finance the summer recreation program.

The unit favored this suggestion and also voted to donate all net proceeds derived from the refreshments sold during the social hour to the summer recreation program.

(Mrs. Kellogg announced the following day that $63.23 were the net proceeds derived from the gross amount of $70 that was taken in from the sale Thursday evening. There were expenses for such miscellaneous items as paper cups, punch and coffee.)

Mrs. C. Norman Gail announced another fund raising project which will help finance the proposed recreation program. Amethyst Rebekah lodge will donate all proceeds derived from a luncheon and card party which is slated for Wednesday, March 23 beginning at noon at the IOOF hall on Fourth ave. She said the public is invited, and those who wish may make up their own party for the afternoon. Those who want to may telephone UL 5-1124, Mrs. Vera Stewart, noble grand of the organization, to notify in advance. However, this is not necessary, she added.

The following slate of officers presented by the nominating committee and elected: Mrs. Jerry Herrington, president; Mrs. Lester Wakeman, vice president; Mrs. Frank Stanton, secretary; and Walter Doherty, treasurer. Final action will be taken at the April meeting in regard to changing the PTA meeting night from the second Thursday of each month to the second Monday, which apparently was favored by those attending the March meeting. The third Thursday was also suggested.

The change of meeting nights was put before the group for consideration because the second Thursday conflicts with the Gold Hill Lions club meeting night, and several members who have youngsters in school are also members of the Lions club.

Washington Arrest Clears Yreka Crime

Yreka—The arrest in Montevideo, Wash., on Monday of Thomas Beebe, 24-year-old Chicagoan, has cleared the March 6 burglary of the Hi-Way grocery here, Yreka police reported.

After being picked up by Montesano police, Beebe admitted the burglary and had in his possession nearly all the loot, police said.

Authorities here said they have asked Montesano police to hold the man for prosecution in Siskiyou county.

Police here also reported Tuesday that Roger L. Campbell of Helena, Mont., had been arrested in North Dunsuir on a charge of trespassing on a train.
